Col. Battell should visit Nantucket for points in shutting out the automobile. They are not permitted on that island.

"When the time comes," Mr. Turner of St. Johnsbury will be candidate for governor, says the Hardwick Gazette. The race is open to all, and the more starters the greater the interest.

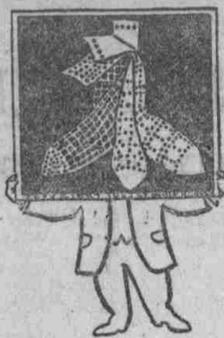

Boston has just discovered that she has been paying $250 for flowers every time the head of a city department has died under Mayor Fitzgerald. Boston must be a nice place to die in.

Winston Churchill, the New Hampshire author, urges earlier and more thorough-going instruction in our public schools in the ethics of citizenship, patriotism and social service. He is right about it.

TARIFF REVISION.

The Springfield Republican speaks of Mr. Taft's candidacy, and the tariff issue more particularly as a part of it, in a very sensible way. It says: "Both parties are afraid of the tariff when they become responsible for the actual revision of it, for within the past generation each has had a terrifying experience in connection with those amazing schedules. The Republicans have inconspicuously shirked their duty in permitting the present altitudinous monstrosities to go so long without lopping off their necks, but perhaps they are to be congratulated upon having worked up heroism enough to declare—that is, some of them—in favor of revision after the next presidential election. Among these, standing conspicuously, are Messrs. Roosevelt and Taft, and more especially perhaps Mr. Taft.

"The war secretary is criticised for not being more pronounced. He should have insisted upon 'immediate' revision, it is said. He should have specified the very schedules he would attack. Of course, under present conditions, Mr. Taft could not wisely have pronounced in favor of revision at the coming session,—wisely, that is to say, from the party point of view. No party will nowadays revise a tariff up or down on the eve of a presidential election. It is hardly worth while to criticize the secretary on this score. Nor is it sensible to attack him for not going into the details of schedules and rates ad valorem. The main thing is that he makes tariff revision one of the reasons for his presidential candidacy. Determine on revision—either way—and the schedules will have their day in court. They will make themselves heard, as the Standard Oil and Wall street and the railroads have not been able to the past few years, with all the unlimited resources of the subsidized press bureaus and the free pass. Even now, Mr. Taft's opponents with sure instinct are endeavoring to frighten the friends of particular schedules by demanding that the secretary designate those that he would reduce. Senator Foraker is on the stump shouting, 'What schedules,' so as to be heard in every tariff-fed and fattened hamlet in Ohio. There is yet to be a contest within the Republican party on this question before tariff revision of the true-blue sort goes into the next national Republican platform. We really ought to be grateful for small favors, and the Taft declaration, coming from the lead-patting candidate, should command our applause even if it does not thrill us by its splendid sonorosity of diction or its spirited defiance of the familiar old troop of robber barons."

CURRENT COMMENT.

The most censorious, the bitterest enemies of the President all admit that the rank and file of the people are with him. Can it be possible that a man guilty of such monstrous misdeeds as they are charging upon him is actually defying all the philosophy of experience and fooling all the people all the time?—St. Albans Messenger.

Sit on The Fellow That Told It.

The commission of inquiry for nature feikirs should sit on the case of the deer in Newfane, Vt., who climbed a tree to steal apples.—Boston Record.

A Suggestion From Vermont.

The blind telephone operator at West Burke, Vt., who handles the switchboard so assiduously by the sense of hearing and of touch suggests the possibility of similar employment for those afflicted with loss of sight. The problem of finding some occupation by which the blind may become self-supporting is one of the most difficult with which philanthropists have to deal.—Boston Globe.

I understand that Esquire Plumley of Northfield has now announced to his friends his final determination to be a candidate for the congressional nomination to succeed Col. Haskins. From now on the lines will be constantly drawn tighter until the fight gets into the open. It will be rather more than a warm one, in which possibly there will be more than two contestants. Time enough, however, to give the subject due attention and discussion months hence.—Hardwick Gazette.

Whether or not Mr. Fletcher is slate-tracked as a candidate for the gubernatorial nomination, it is a possibility nearly approaching a probability that Mr. Turner of St. Johnsbury will be openly and strongly proposed for the place "when the time comes." Indeed, it is likely that those who find fun in an ante-convention campaign will be vastly amused sooner or later. The above is only a fact casually picked up in the ordinary course of business.—Hardwick Gazette.

SEES FATHER KILL MOTHER, MAY GO MAD.

Delaney's Four-Year-Old Daughter Lay Between Her Parents When He Fired.

New York, Aug. 24.—Grave fears are felt for the sanity of Margaret Delaney, four years old, of 230 East Fifty-sixth street, who early yesterday saw her father, Bernard, first sergeant of company H, 10th regiment, shoot and seriously wound his wife and then kill himself.

The little girl lay between the two when Delaney drew his revolver from under the pillow, and the bullet which hit the wife passed so close to the child's head as to singe her hair. Drink, the police say, was the cause of the tragedy.

The police say that Delaney started to drink heavily on Independence day. His wife and his brother besought Delaney to leave liquor alone, the police say further, but he replied: "I know I am doing wrong, but I don't want to stop."

Thursday night Delaney asked his little daughter not to forget to pray for him. Then they all went to bed.

About an hour later Delaney got the revolver and shot his wife and himself in the head.

VISITS HOME FOR SHIRTS AND VESTS.

Pleads With Court to Modify Injunction; Wife Is Suing Him.

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 24.—With the aid of a court order modifying an injunction previously issued against him, Elbert P. Jaycox secured entrance Thursday afternoon to his home and succeeded in obtaining possession of fourteen fancy shirts and ten speckled vests. His attorney has assured the court that he could not even get a clean shirt from his residence.

Mrs. Ida Ward Jaycox, who is suing Jaycox for separate maintenance and had secured the injunction restraining him from entering the house, was seated in the library with her daughter when the rattle of a latchkey in the lock of the front door startled her.

"It's him," whispered the daughter. "Don't let on that you see him, ma."

CALLS PROBE OF BANKS WORTHLESS.

New Yorker Says Politics Are Bad Factor in Present Examinations.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 24.—Another attack on the present methods of bank examinations was made yesterday at the convention of the Associated Chapters of the American Institute of Banking, Milton L. Weeks of New York declaring that they are worthless because partisan politics enter into the selection of the men who do the work.

Mr. Weeks was reading a paper on "The value of bank examination by a committee of its clerks." He strongly recommended this method of examining.

FATAL GUN PLAY AT COUNTY FAIR

Two Dead and One Dying as Result of Free for All Fight.

London, Ky., Aug. 24.—In a free-for-all gun fight near the Knox county fair grounds at Barbourville, Constable L. R. Campbell, who sought to quell the disturbance, was shot dead, Edward Smith has died of his wounds and John Warren may die. Ralph Tuggle, a policeman, is in a serious condition.

Warren's mother, with a babe at her breast, was shot through one arm, and the member was amputated.

The only arrest is that of John Bailey, who is charged with having fired the bullet that killed Campbell. Nearly all of the fighters who escaped unharmed have fled into the country.

RAISULI DEFEATS THE SULTAN'S TROOPS.

Moorish City of Alcazar Reported to Be in Grave Danger.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 24.—Information has reached the state department by cable that the bandit Raisuli has completely defeated the large force sent against him by the Sultan of Morocco in the effort to secure the release of Ould McLean. According to the report the Moorish city of Alcazar, which is distant only two days by the caravan route from the City of Tangier, is in great danger.

Paris, Aug. 24.—Several captive halloons are being forwarded to Casablanca, Morocco, from the army's aerostatic park for use in locating the enemy.

An official note issued yesterday afternoon denied the reports that there are discussions between the cabinets of Paris and of Madrid, and stamps as false the statement that France has proposed to Spain that their forces take part in an expedition into the interior of Morocco. Continuing the note says: "The French government has never altered its resolution not to undertake such an expedition."

MORMON RAPS BOSTON.

Says People Are in Darkness—Asks Better Treatment.

Bttn, Aug. 24.—"Polygamy is dead. We do not teach nor encourage it," declared Elder N. M. Jones, as he stood on the desk of the White Star liner Republic amid a group of Mormon converts, while Elders Alvin F. and Hector C. Smith, sons of the prophet Joseph Smith, stood looking on with silent approval to his words.

"Boston is in darkness. Your people are in ignorance," he continued. "Boston needs light that will lead her people to the true understanding of the Latter Day Saints. It is Boston that assaults our faith without knowing what it is."

There were fifty-one converts, half of them young women, on the Republic as she docked. There were whole families in the little group and others who had, doubtless, torn themselves away from their families in England.

TWO MINERS SLAIN BY THE "BLACK HAND."

Waylaid and Stabbed After Working All Night at Coalade.

Coaldale, Pa., Aug. 24.—While Frank Pekolas and Samuel Ambrose were walking together along Ridge street yesterday, they were attacked by several men and stabbed to death. Pekolas' throat was cut almost from ear to ear, and a knife pierced Ambrose's heart.

The crime is charged to the "black hand" band. Pekolas and Ambrose worked in the mines all night, and before starting for their homes, two hours before their bodies were found, they had spoken of their fear of being waylaid. There is no clue to the murderers.

NO RATE WAR, BUT RATES CUT.

Situation on Transatlantic Travel Seems to Be Peculiar.

Berlin, Aug. 24.—The discussion of the transatlantic steamer rat's situation continues in the newspapers here. The North German Lloyd company telegraphed to the Tagblatt denying that it has made an agreement with the Hamburg-American line to reduce rates, and adding that the Hamburg-American's reduction of the price of a cabin passage to $167.50 as a minimum would necessarily be followed by a similar reduction on the part of the North German Lloyd.
