CRESCENTS DEFEATED.

Woodstock Took Two Games from Them.

The Crescents were defeated by the Woodstock team yesterday at Woodstock in two games. The Woodstock team, which claims the amateur championship of the state, is made up of professional ball players, chief among whom is Tom Ulnac, former manager of the Barre-Montpelier team of the Northern league, while Davis, who figured in this year's league ball, held down first base. The first game was much more interesting than the score indicates. The second game was good for three innings, when it began to rain, and the rest of the game was played in a continual downpour. But though the game was one-sided, it was by no means featureless. In the sixth inning, Reid in left field started after a long foul fly, and in his eagerness to catch the ball, did not notice the river which he was rapidly approaching, so that as much to his surprise as to the amusement of every one else, he stepped off the bank into space and found himself in the midst of the stream. After wading downstream to pick up his glove, he crawled up the bank, not much wetter than anyone else.

The score—first game:

DASHES INTO POND.

Runaway Horse at Brattleboro Has Lively Experience.

Brattleboro, Sept. 3.—A valuable horse owned by E. E. Perry ran away yesterday on Brook street and dashed down the steep embankment into the upper pond of the Crystal Spring Ice company.

The animal started when a woman shook a large spread directly above where the horse was standing. Mr. Perry had just stepped from the carriage and in attempting to stop the horse was able to grab but one rein. After being dragged for a short distance he released his hold. The horse, freeing itself from the vehicle, did not stop until it had gone half way across the pond. Mr. Perry was not severely injured, and the horse escaped with a few bruises.

LANES DEFEAT THE K. OF C'S.

While the Capitals Won From the Pirates

IN INTER-CITY LEAGUE.

Both Games Played at the Intercity Park on Saturday Afternoon—Reports of Other Local Games.

In the Intercity league games played at the Intercity grounds Saturday afternoon, the Lanes defeated the K. of C's, 7 to 5, and the Capitals won from the Pirates by a score of 9 to 4. This places the Lanes and Capitals at a tie for the second position in the league standing, and the K. of C's drop down next to the Pirates, who have not yet won a game. On account of the rainy afternoon, many of the regular players of the three Montpelier teams did not put in an appearance at the grounds; so the teams were filled out with players from the nines that were not playing.

The Knights had their game 3 to 0, in the third inning, but in the last half of this inning the Lanes bunched four singles off Haddigan, and scored five runs. The Lanes scored again in the fifth on a wild pitch by Imah, who succeeded Haddigan in the box in this inning, and in the sixth they scored again on a wild pitch. The Knights got in two more in the sixth and seventh innings.

The Capitals had a walk-over in their game with the unlucky Pirates, clinching the game in the first two innings, when they scored five runs. The Pirates missed everything that came their way in the field in the first inning, for a total of five errors, but after that calmed down and played good ball. Hull was in the box for the Capitals and allowed only four scattered hits. Williams also pitched a good game for the Pirates, but was given poor support. The K. of C's and the Hibernians and the Capitals and the Hibbards will play next Saturday. There will be no game on Wednesday afternoon.

Score by innings:

Fighting Drunk, He Had Set His Cell on Fire.

Montpelier, Sept. 3.—Sheriff Tracy was called to West Berlin Sunday afternoon to arrest a resident of that village named Parsons, who was dead to the world in his own front door yard. By the time the intoxicated man had reached the jail, he was in a fighting mood. After being landed in a cell he smashed his cot, throwing the fragments into the corridor, and then set fire to the mattress. A lively blaze was in progress when it was discovered, and the sheriff turned the hose on the cell, quickly extinguishing the fire and sobering the prisoner.

LABOR DAY AND JULY 4TH

Should Rank Together, According to William Randolph Hearst.

Norfolk, Va., Sept. 3.—William R. Hearst, speaking at the Labor day exercises at the Jamestown exposition, yesterday, said: "Labor day should rank with the Fourth of July. The Fourth commemorates the means by which we won our independence as a nation, and Labor day commemorates the means by which we are made a nation, the most powerful, progressive and prosperous in the world. I have no patience with prejudices which exist between alleged classes, when each themselves do not exist. Wages are but distribution of profits. There should be no prejudice entertained by labor towards capitalist, nor capitalist toward labor. Great financial promoters should have wealth so long as it is honestly acquired. Riches which they amass and call their own are put back to promote new industries and give more employment to men."

CADETS AT STATE FAIR.

Will Live in Camp for Three Days and Give Exhibitions.

White River Junction, Sept. 2.—All the people of Vermont know that Norwich university is located at Northfield, but all the people have not seen the cadets of this college in military maneuvers. To show a good many people of the state the cleverness of the cadets in military tactics, they will appear at the first annual state fair at White River Junction, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, October 1, 2, and 3.

The cadets will live in camp, under tents, and regular army regulations will govern. Each day of the fair they will give exhibition drills in the oval in front of the new grandstand. Every visitor at the fair will have an opportunity of seeing what the soldiers' life really is while in camp, and the exhibitions will show the discipline under which the cadets live and their cleverness in the most difficult feats of drilling.

TREACHEROUS RIVER BEDS.

A Homesteader's Outfit When Caught in the Quick sands.

The "mover's" wagon, canvas covered and travel wren, is always picturesque. The traveling home for a family and all their worldly goods, from furniture to poultry, is still a familiar sight on western roads. The spirit of dissatisfaction and longing for newer fields that lurks under that broad brimmed hat is a spark of the same fire that has been the theme of our history. By some stream under the cottonwoods of an evening you may sometimes see this half gypsy, and the fire with its accompanying smell of bacon and beans or the song and accordion, will suggest as you drive by why the roving has always its fascinations.

There are, however, the long dusty days of travel and sore backed horses, the occasional swollen fords, and always present, though seldom encountered, are the quicksands of the dry bottom streams. They are indistinguishable and silent. The shallow rivers of water flow over them as over all the rest of the river bed, but once fairly in their grasp there is a remorseless, certain settling, which a struggle only hastens and which ends in an everlasting disappearance. Cattle and horses are caught in it oftentimes, and, if seen in time, can be pulled out with a rope and horse, but into its hungry maw have gone horses, wagons and men, and even a locomotive, going through a bridge, has been known to disappear in this bottomless mystery.—Alena True in Outing.

THE VALUABLE MOOSE

It Is the Staff of Life in the Northern Wilderness.

What the buffalo was to the plain white tail deer to the southern woods and the caribou to the barrens the moose is to the great northern belt of swamp and timber land of British America.

It is the creature that enables the natives to live at all. Assisted in warm weather by various fish, it bears practically the burden of their support. Its delicious steaks are their staple food, but its nose or muzzle is a delicacy. Its hide furnishes the best clothing and moccasins leather or provides snowshoes that enable the hunter to kill more moose. Its back sinew is the sewing thread of the country, its horns and bones make tools, its hoofs can be converted into rattles, and its coarse, bristly mane, six inches long and white except the tips, furnishes raw material for embroidery. When dyed with native dyes and skillfully worked into leather and birch bark, these bristles are as effective as porcupine quills and are, indeed, often mistaken for them by the unskilled.—Ernest Thompson Seton in Scribner's.

FINCHES AT STATE FAIR.

Special Service at Church of the Assumption, Middlebury.

Middlebury, Sept. 3.—The completion of the new St. Mary's Roman Catholic church, or the Church of the Assumption, as it is now known, was celebrated Sunday with a special high mass of dedication. The church has a seating capacity of about 800 and in the forenoon it was packed with members of the parish not only from Middlebury, but as well from adjoining towns. The services were unusually impressive and the pastor, the Rev. J. D. Shannon, preached a most eloquent sermon and detailed something of the history of the building. The new church is a stately pile of white marble, located at the head of Academy street and almost directly opposite the Warner Science hall on the college park.

Attempt to Hold Up Shoemaker, Who Used Revolver.

Blairsville, Pa., Sept. 3.—Giuseppe Giussiffo, an alleged blackmailer, was shot dead, one companion was arrested, and a third escaped following their attempt to blackmail Frank Ciooppo, who was probably fatally stabbed by one of the Italians. Ciooppo is a shoemaker. Late Saturday night as he was about to close his shop the three men appeared and demanded money. Ciooppo refused to give the money and immediately opened fire from a revolver. As he fired, Giussiffo fell dead, and one of his companions stabbed Ciooppo in the breast.

PREMIER'S MURDER.

Tehran, Persia, Sept. 3.—The man who is alleged to have murdered Amines-Sultan, premier and minister of the interior, on Saturday, as he was leaving the assembly chamber, is a money-lender named Abbas Ali. He is from Baku, and letters found on him tend to show that he acted under orders from a revolutionary committee in that city.

Why Do Country Boys Flock to Big Cities?

Most small towns are short of young men. As a rule there are plenty of agreeable girls who would not object to matrimony; there are plenty of old people and enough babies to go around. But the boy—oh, where is he?

The boy, the young man, has gone to the city, where he imagines there are opportunities. To him the old home town is dull and stupid. He sees no future for himself there. Both for social and financial considerations he rushes off to the great city. Very frequently he finds that he is lonelier there than at home—nearly always so; and even more frequently he finds that riches do not grow on tenitory walls.

BUT STILL HE GOES TO THE CITY.

In going there the boy simply follows his daddy's dollars. For years his daddy and his mother and his big sister and his Aunt Mary Ann have been mailing their money to the big city for Mail Order bargains.

Result: Home merchants don't thrive, grass grows in the streets, no jobs are to be had, no opening for a new business, and the young man goes to the city because it is a place where people have traded at home and built up their own community and provided opportunities for outsiders as well as for themselves.

IF YOU WANT TO KEEP YOUR BOY AT HOME BUILD UP YOUR TOWN SO THAT HE CAN BUILD UP HIS CAREER AMONG HIS HOME FOLKS.

Base Ball at East Brookfield. East Brookfield, Sept. 3.—The closest game of base ball played in town this year was played at Farr's meadow, Friday, between the E. Brookfield or "Kid" team, and the S. B's of Randolph, managed by Guy Martin of East Braintree. The S. B's won with the score 13 to 11. Bass and Comolli were at S. B's battery, while Pierce and Murphy did the work for the home team. Our boys didn't expect to see first, but held their fast opponents down, so that at the beginning of the ninth the score was 9 to 9. The features of the game were the running catches by Pitts and Jackson of the home team. It was the happiest defeat our boys have met.

Base Ball Notes.

The manager of the St. Johnsbury ball team notes that Woodstock claims the championship of Vermont by defeating the Barton team. He calls attention to the fact that St. Johnsbury has won 19 games out of 27 played, and no series for championship of Vermont has been played between Barton and St. Johnsbury teams. St. Johnsbury, therefore, contests Woodstock's claim, unless the latter is willing to meet St. Johnsbury in a series for the state championship.

Jim Wherry, the former Barre-Montpelier pitcher, won two games for Lowell in the New England league against New Bedford, Saturday. The first game was 6 to 2, and the second, seven innings, 2 to 1. He allowed but three hits in the last game and got a hit himself in each game.

Jack Fraser, who was also one of the box artists with Barre-Montpelier this summer, won his game for Portland Saturday, in the Maine state league, against Pine Tree. He struck out seven men, and rapped out a two-bagger.
