

TOOK TWO OF STRINGS

Barre Defeated Montpelier at Bowling.

AFTER A GOOD CONTEST

High Man of Last Evening Was Trenoweth, Who Made Single String of 223 and Total of 596 for Three Strings.

Montpelier sent her best big-pin men up to the local bowling alleys last evening to try conclusions with a Barre aggregation. The locals walked away with the first string and broke into a canter in the second, and then got nosed out in the third string. The scoring was good in spots. Had Nute held up in the second string, the Barre men would have made a remarkably good team total for that string. Trenoweth was the powerful man of the evening, with a three-string total of 596, and the best single of 223. The results were as follows:

Often The Kidneys Are Weakened by Over-Work.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood. It used to be considered that only urinary and bladder troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all diseases have their beginning in the disorder of these most important organs.

The kidneys filter and purify the blood—that is their work. Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, because as soon as your kidneys are well they will help all the other organs to health. A trial will convince anyone.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases, and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by mail free, also a pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

FIREMAN SWINGS THREE IN AIR, SAVES LIVES.

Capt. Spence of New York Cheered by His Men in Daring Rescue—Eight Taken From Blaze.

New York, Nov. 22.—Fireman of engine company 24, under their captain, John Spence, demonstrated that they were all brave and true early yesterday when they rescued eight persons from a frame building at 19 Commerce street. The rescues were all of a daring character.

At 19 Commerce street is an old three-story and attic house. The building next door is of the same type. No. 19 is a French rooming house, kept by Joseph Offwell and his wife, and No. 21 is unoccupied.

Shortly after 3 a. m. Julian Jules, on the second floor of No. 19, was aroused by smoke. He saw a two-story extension on fire. He jumped out of the window and fell into the yard below, an alarm was then turned in.

When engine 24 arrived the first task was to rescue Mrs. Annie Clark at No. 19, who was standing at a second story window, holding her two-year-old girl. Ladders were run up and they were saved.

On the third floor lived Henry Collin, Stephano Fiorentino and Mrs. Mary Roberts. Their escape was cut off by the flames and Capt. Spence had to climb up a ladder to rescue them. The ladder reached only to the second floor, but he climbed up to the eaves of No. 19 and then to the roof of No. 21, where remaining over the edge he grasped the hand, first of Mrs. Roberts. The woman courageously sprang far out. Capt. Spence gave a hard pull and drew her up to the roof. His men below gave a loud cheer. Collin and Fiorentino were saved in the same manner.

A second blaze, at almost the same time, nearly destroyed a six-story business block on Canal street, east of Broadway, causing a loss of $75,000 and throwing 250 girls out of employment.

300 MEN CALLED FOR THE POWERS TRIAL.

Judge Declares He Will Give Fair Trial on Goebel Murder in Hope to Get Jury.

Georgetown, Ky., Nov. 22.—Under the watchful eye of a representative of the defense, Sheriff Warring of Scott county circuit court, began yesterday at Wilkesboro, Grant county, to summon 300 men as a special venire from which a jury is to be selected to try Caleb Powers for the murder of William Goebel.

The Harrison county venire met here all returned, having been discharged. Judge Morris says he will give the now celebrated political prisoner a fair trial and he thinks in this way an impartial jury can be selected.

PRESIDENT NOT OPOSED TO ASSET CURRENCY PLAN.

But Said to Be Against The Law Tax of 3 Per Cent.

Washington, Nov. 22.—Members of Congress and others who have talked currency legislation with the President lately say his position, which has been represented as against credit or asset currency, is not against the principle of asset currency itself, but rather against the low tax of 3 per cent. proposed by the Fowler bill on emergency credit currency. If there is to be credit or asset currency the President is said to want it taxed sufficiently to drive it out of circulation when there is no crisis.

Representative Frank O. Lowden of Illinois, the Pullman Car company magnate, talked currency with Mr. Roosevelt yesterday, and strongly objected to the low tax on credit currency proposed by the Fowler bill, which was favorably reported last session by the House banking and currency committee.

PENILESS, BLIND, OLD AND HER HUSBAND GONE

Pitiful Condition of Mary Black, a Descendant of an Old and Honored New England Family.

New York, Nov. 22.—Blind and peniless and soon to be ejected to make way for negroes, Mrs. Mary Black, 60 years old, descendant of an old and honored New England family, is concerned more than all else by the disappearance of her husband, He, Sherman T. Black, of the same age, left her Monday, looking for the work which his age and crippled hand made it almost impossible for him to find. She has not seen him since.

Some children whom he taught in Sunday school, visiting her in her tiny flat, learned her trouble and told the police. Mrs. Black's father was of the Sauborn family, well known in New England, and was lieutenant governor of New Hampshire. She was first married to J. H. Batcheller, a former owner of a Boston newspaper. After his death she was employed in the department of agriculture and the pension bureau in Washington. Twelve years ago she married Mr. Black.

For several years Mr. Black was a clerk at the hotel Ansonia. About a year ago he suffered a cut on his right hand, from which blood poisoning developed. The arm was saved, stiff and crippled. At the same time his health failed.

The couple made a brave struggle against the adversities which increased about them. Mrs. Black became blind through paralysis of the optic nerve. Black tried to get jobs of all sorts, and did find desultory employment as a watchman. Monday he went on another search of work. His wife gave him 40 cents for carfare, and he started down town. He did not return.

THE DISEASE IS CURABLE

(Livermore, California, Herald.)

The disease which tanks second to consumption in fatalities and which has been deemed equally fatal is Bright's disease. That it is now positively curable is known to comparatively few people. Unfortunately, the new treatment for Bright's disease, comes under the head of proprietary preparations, and medical ethics forbid a recognition of its merits. This paper is not peculiarly interested, and this statement is made solely with a view of aiding such people as may be afflicted with Bright's disease and have despaired of recovery. Should any such receive benefit we will feel amply repaid for diverging from the beaten journalistic path.—Livermore (Cal.) Herald.

Articles like the above are constantly appearing and so interested us that we set for this treatment in the interest of patients here.

We will be pleased to give full information to those interested. Rickett & Wells, Barre, Vt.

WAITING TILL TAFT GETS BACK

President Keeping Public in Dark Till Then.

OPPONENTS ARE INSISTENT

Washington Believes President Will Not Make Any Statement as to Third Term Until Taft Returns from His Globe Trot.

Washington, Nov. 22.—There is no longer any doubt in the minds of political observers in Washington that the President is bent on keeping the public, and especially those political leaders who may be opposed to him and his policies, in the dark as long as possible regarding his intentions toward the Republican "Presidential" nomination in 1908.

That Mr. Roosevelt will continue to keep the public guessing until after the return of Secretary Taft from his globe-trotting tour seems absolutely certain, but it is admitted to be a possibility that Mr. Taft is hastening his return to Washington because the President is finding it difficult to hold the cat in the bag.

There is tremendous pressure from many directions to know what the President is going to do. The most persistent question, of course, is this: Will Mr. Roosevelt be a candidate for another term in the White House? The most interesting theory, and the theory which seems most credible at this time, is based on the assumption that the President will adhere absolutely to his decision of election night in 1904, when he declared that he would not again be a candidate. Many persons, proceeding on the belief, or rather in some cases, making the belief their theory, maintain that Mr. Roosevelt's plan is to keep his political opponents in doubt as long as possible regarding his plans in order that they may not be in a position to organize a candidate against him or against the candidate whom he may have chosen to be his successor.

The President, no doubt, believes that if he should come out at once with a statement to head off the third term movement, his political opponents, represented by the reactionaries, the conservatives, and the whole malefactor element in business and politics, would immediately reap an advantage. They would know that Mr. Roosevelt was out of the race for good and all, and be able to lay their plans for the defeat of the man whom Mr. Roosevelt might choose for his successor. In short, the contest would be narrowed, and the mist of uncertainty that envelops every Republican political camp in the country would probably disappear.

How long the President will be able to hold his political antagonists in check that is, keep them in doubt, is a question, but there is no doubt that he will endeavor to maintain the present status as long as possible. There may be some change in the situation after he has had a conference with Secretary Taft, but if the game is being played in Mr. Taft's interest, and the Taft leaders like the game, there is no reason to believe that the President's policy will be abandoned until it is absolutely necessary on account of the public press.

FORAKER ONLY PLAYING.

He Has Said Nothing About the Ohio Indorsement.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 22.—Senator Foraker declined yesterday to discuss the action of the Republican League of Clubs of Ohio in indorsing him for the presidency. His reply to the challenge of Mr. Vorys, the manager of the Taft campaign in Ohio, was: "I am glad to see that Mr. Vorys has adopted my suggestion that the question of indorsement of Ohio's presidential candidate by holding primaries. Senator Foraker refers of course to the challenge he issued for a primary while Secretary Taft was out of the country last spring on an inspection trip to Panama. When that challenge was promptly accepted by the Taft managers in Ohio, Senator Foraker then asked what he meant was that primaries should be held 'at the proper time.' The belief expressed here in official circles is that the final fight between the Roosevelt-Taft and the Foraker forces will come in the state convention next spring and that after that convention Senator Foraker will be found lined up under the Taft banner and running for re-election to the Senate. Some of his closest friends point out that the senator is very fond of 'dramatic' politics and confess they will not be surprised to see the senior senator offering to nominate Mr. Taft in the convention.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

Charles Klein's American play, "The Lion and the Mouse," which Henry B. Harris will produce here on Monday evening, Nov. 25, has won from audiences in all the largest cities the most cordial demonstrations of approval and it has certainly taken rank as the notable success of the new century. Deservedly is this so, for it is a finely effective dramatic presentation of a subject that is at present of paramount interest with the American people—the corruption of the civil government—the corruption of concentrated wealth. The seat sale for this production, the announcement of which is creating widespread interest among local theatregoers, is announced for Saturday evening at Kendrick's drug store.
