

THE PRESIDENT URGES EXTENSION FEDERAL ACTIVITY

To Include Control of Railroad and Business Corporations Doing an Interstate Business --- Perseverance in War Against Dishonesty.

COMBINATIONS NOT ONLY NECESSARY, INEVITABLE

Greater Elasticity in Our Currency Needed---President Calls Attention to Abuse of Injunction and Urges 8-Hour Day in Message.

SOME POINTS IN THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

When the misdeeds of successfully dishonest men are discovered, suffering comes not only upon them, but upon the innocent men whom they have misled.

There may be honest differences of opinion as to many governmental policies, but surely there can be no such differences as to the need of unflinching perseverance in the war against successful dishonesty.

Centralization in business has already come and cannot be avoided or undone, and the public at large can only protect itself from certain evil effects of this business centralization by providing better methods for the control through the authority already centralized in the national government by the constitution itself.

Until the national government assumes proper control of interstate commerce, in the exercise of the authority it already possesses, it will be impossible either to give to or get from the railroads full justice.

Combination is not only necessary but inevitable.

Corporation and labor union alike have come to stay. Each if properly managed is a source of good and not evil.

Power of supervision over big business concerns engaged in interstate commerce would benefit them as it has benefited the national banks. In the recent business crisis it is noteworthy that the institutions which failed were institutions which were not under the supervision and control of the national government.

We need a greater elasticity in our currency.

No legislation can by any possibility guarantee the business community against the results of speculative folly.

When an individual mortgages his house to buy an automobile, he invites disaster.

There is an evident and constantly growing feeling among our people that the time is rapidly approaching when our system of revenue legislation must be revised.

The two great evils in the execution of our criminal laws today are, sentimentality and technicality.

Both of these evils must be removed or public discontent with the criminal law will continue.

I earnestly commend to the attention of Congress this matter, so that some way may be devised which will limit the abuse of injunctions.

The general introduction of the eight-hour day should be the goal toward which we should steadily tend, and the government should set the example in this respect.

Nothing is more needed than the best type of industrial school, the school for the mechanical industries in the city, the school for practically teaching agriculture in the country.

We cannot afford to lose that pre-eminently typical American, the farmer who owns his own medium-sized farm.

The country is unquestionably on the verge of a timber famine.

WANTED TO SUE PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT

Man in Brattleboro Would Ask Damages of $25,000,000 Because His Wife and Four Children Had Been Killed.

Brattleboro, Dec. 2.—A man apparently about 50 years old, dressed in workman's clothes and leather coat, walked into State Attorney Robert C. Bacon's office yesterday forenoon and said he wanted Mr. Bacon to bring suit against President Theodore Roosevelt and the United States government for $25,000,000 damages.

He said he once had a wife and four daughters, but all had been killed by a gang living in Boston and other cities, who used an invention of Marconi, by means of which electrical currents would slatter the hardest oak and even granite.

Mr. Bacon directed the stranger to the office of Judge E. W. Gibson of the municipal court, where he told the same story. The judge, in order to get rid of the man, promised him the case might possibly come before him and he would rather not give advice.

Mr. Bacon directed the stranger to the office of Judge E. W. Gibson of the municipal court, where he told the same story.

HAIL VERDICT WITH MUCH JOY

Court Crowd Cheers Mrs. Bradley, Not Guilty.

WHO HURRIED TO A FRIEND

Jury in Famous Case of Woman Charged With Murdering Former Senator Arthur Brown of Utah Returned a Verdict To-day.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 3.—Mrs. Annie Bradley was today found not guilty of murdering former United States Senator Arthur Brown of Utah at a trial in this city. The case has been on trial for three weeks and has been sensational in the extreme. Judge Stafford delivered the charge to the jury yesterday afternoon, beginning at 3:25 and ending at 4:17, when the jury took the case. At 10 o'clock last night the jury reported no prospect of an agreement at that time and were locked up for the night.

The verdict was returned at 10:07 today. The jury took two ballots only. On the first vote it was 11 to 1 for acquittal. The second, taken about midnight, was unanimous for acquittal. Not the slightest hint that an agreement had been reached came from the court room before the usual hour arrived for the opening of the court. When the verdict was announced, there was a moment's silence; then a great cheer went up in the court room, which the bailiffs had difficulty in subduing. The women spectators were particularly enthusiastic, jumping to their feet, applauding and waving their handkerchiefs.

Mrs. Bradley hurried from the courtroom to an automobile belonging to S. J. Masters, which was waiting just outside, and was taken quickly to the home of Mrs. Hayes, one of her friends. The crowd which had surged out of the courtroom after her, again cheered as the auto started on its way.

EXCHANGE OF CERTIFICATES

Pharmacy Boards Will Try to Have an Agreement.

Roston, Dec. 3.—The exchange of certificates in all the New England states was the topic discussed last evening by the pharmacy boards of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont and Massachusetts at an informal meeting in Young's hotel.

The Massachusetts board is entertaining the other boards and yesterday four boards visited the navy yard, by state prison and watch the examination of the candidates for certificates in this state, which will be held at the State House.

Last evening's meeting was presided over by Frederick A. Hubbard of New-ton, who extended a welcome to the visiting members of the state boards. The entire evening was spent in the discussion of an exchange of certificates. At present Massachusetts, Maine and Vermont are accustomed to exchanging, but the several boards want an exchange for all New England states, and a committee of four was appointed to look into the matter and to get in touch with the national association for the purpose of organizing a New England division. This committee comprises Frederick A. Hubbard of Newton, E. H. Wilson of Maine, Dr. B. H. Curtis of New Hampshire, and W. F. Root of Vermont.

Supposed Fiance of Katherine Ryan of Lowell on Trial at Dover, N. H.

Dover, N. H., Dec. 3.—Elmer E. Ryan of Lowell, Mass., at the opening of his trial at the Strafford county court, house yesterday, pleaded not guilty on the indictment charging him with having been an accessory before the fact in the death of his supposed fiancee, Katherine Ryan, also of Lowell, who was found dead in a room in the home of Dr. Harry H. Stackpole in this city, Aug. 23.

Ryan, who obtained his $5,000 bail early in the day, appeared at court clad in a natty blue suit. He was cool and collected and frequently smiled when addressed in low tones by his counsel.

Among the state's witnesses present was Miss Loretta Rabbitt of Lowell, confidential friend of the dead girl, on whom the state relies for much of its evidence.

The drawing of the jury occupied the afternoon. Fifty-one talleman were examined before the 12th juror was procured. Following it a list of the jurors: Frank Q. Young, Rochester; John R. Page, Durham; Frank Hurd, Stafford; Gaspard Selinas, Rochester; Frederick Davis, Dover; Willard M. Marsh, Rochester; Washington Anderson, Dover; George H. Webster, Rochester; Joseph D. WOMAN WAS PLUCKY

She Clung to Reins or Runaway Horse—An Exciting Episode.

Randolph, Dec. 3.—A lively runaway occurred yesterday afternoon, when Dr. Scudder's horse started from his home, corner Summer and School streets, coming out on the Main street, by the Bethany church, where it met the hearse and team behind, narrowly escaping collision with them. Then the horse came in contact with a team containing Mrs. Allard and friends from the other part of the town. Mrs. Allard's horse became frightened and the two passed up Main street at a rapid pace, till they reached the division of streets where the doctor's horse took South Pleasant street and on over the railroad track up the hill, where it was caught, but not before the driver was thoroughly demolished. Mrs. Allard pluckily held the reins and was not thrown out, her horse having been brought to a halt opposite Teakbury's store with no serious damage than a broken sleigh and harness.

GRANITE MEN ASK RAISE

New Hampshire Granite Workers Want New Wage Scale.

Greenfield, N. H., Dec. 3.—The granite workers of the "Granite Belt," which extends from Troy to Milford, have in preparation a scale of wages which they will try to have put in effect next March. It has not as yet been presented.

The cutters, polishers, lumpers, boxers and derrickmen are concerned. By the terms of the agreement under which they are now working, any change in the scale of wages must be filed with the manufacturers three months prior to going into effect.

It is understood that the cutters will ask 40 cents per hour, with a Saturday half-holiday the year round and weekly payments. The eight-hour day will also continue in force, making 45 hours per week.

The lumpers, boxers and derrickmen will ask 3 1/2 cents per hour instead of 2 1/2 cents.

The polishers will ask for the same scale of wages as the cutters.

GRANITE CUTTER A SUICIDE

Matt Peterson of Rockland, Maine, Hanged Himself in Shop.

Rockland, Me., Dec. 3.—Matt Peterson, a Finn stone cutter, committed suicide at High Island yesterday by hanging himself in the boiler room at the granite works. He was a heavy drinker at times, and often threatened his life. Peterson was 40 and is survived by a sister who is said to reside in Massachusetts. The body is at the local undertaking rooms until she can be communicated with. Coroner Jenkins decided that an inquest was not necessary.

BLOOD FLOWED IN A STREAM

Peter Hendrickson Injured This Forenoon

AT STEPHENS & GERRARD'S

Leg Caught Between Shunted Car and Block of Granite, and Crushed—Workmen Bound Up to Death to Stop Bleeding to Death.

Peter Hendrickson of Cherry street was injured first forenoon while at work in the granite plant of Stephens & Gerrard, Blackwell street, by getting pinched between a car and a block of granite. Hendrickson was inside the building, near the end of the spur track of the Central Vermont railroad and just back of a standing car. A central Vermont shifting engine in charge of engineer McMahon shunted other cars onto the siding, and these in turn bumped into the standing car. A projection on the latter struck Hendrickson and caught his leg against the granite.

When he was lifted out of his position it was found that the leg was quite badly torn. The blood spurted out in a stream and threatened to cause him to bleed to death before physicians could arrive. So they bound up the leg in a crude fashion with ropes, thus stopping the flow. Drs. Reid, Chandler and Li-gouri responded to the call and attended the wounded man after he had been taken by ambulance to his home in the south end of the city.

The physicians report this afternoon that the leg below the knee was crushed, but that no bones were broken, so that no lasting injuries are expected to result. Hendrickson is a lumper by trade.

A RUM-DESTROYER

Was This Horse, Which Made Lively Times in Montpelier To-day.

A horse started a Carrie Nation down-with-rum crusade in the streets of Montpelier this forenoon and before stopping had spilled considerable "liquid joy." The horse was attached to a wagon of the Middlesex wine store and started from the rear of Seguin's store on Main street. His career was fairly jolting, more as if she had an idea it was dinner time; but her speed gathered momentum as she progressed. Jesse Reid, driving a Kollogg & Jerome delivery team, saw the cavalcade coming and saved himself and vehicle by driving into the church yard. The Carrie Nation horse continued her reckless career by turning into the Welch stable alley and running full-speed into the stable and there stopping. She left a trail which kept the ex-members of the woodshed brigade sniffing the air eagerly.

TO GIVE BETTER AIR

State Board of Health and Sanitary Engineer Inspect the State House.

Dr. H. D. Holton of Brattleboro and Dr. F. T. Kidder of Woodstock, members of the state board of health, went over the State House at Montpelier to-day with Sergeant-at-arms Ferrin and sanitary engineer Bromley, with a view to devising some better arrangement for ventilating the house of representatives and the senate chambers, as authorized by a resolution passed by the Legislature of 1906. The engineer inspected the building thoroughly but would make no statement as to what he should recommend. He will make his report later.

DEER SLAYING IN NEW HAMPSHIRE

Twelve Days' Open Season Started Yesterday—The First Reports.

Concord, N. H., Dec. 3.—The open season for deer in the southern counties of the state opened yesterday, and will run 12 days. Hunters report fair luck.

Five deer were brought to buy in Epsum. A party consisting of C. C. Wells, William Savage and C. L. Pierce got three, and William Towle and Marshall Locke got one each.

Over in Dunbarton, Moses Perkins and N. M. Hunt followed a trail for 10 miles and finally got a deer. One of the pursued animals ran through the village and Harry Clough bagged him while standing on a grocery team in the town square and right in front of the village store.

Benjamin Foote of Bow got a deer yesterday. Two were shot in Belmont and three in Antrim. Louis Case of Pembroke brought home a beautiful specimen, and it is reported that parties in Webster also scored.

EVENING TO BE REMEMBERED

Was That Given in Honor of Pres. Alexander I. Cruickshank.

To show their appreciation for worthy services rendered and to "fill marks" in a suitable way, his return from the recent convention of the American Federation of Labor at Norfolk, Va., thirty of his colleagues in the labor movement, with their lady friends, met in the Quilten building Saturday evening and presented Alexander I. Cruickshank a handsome memento—a pipe and tobacco pouch. Street Supt. Fred Bruce, in making the presentation, referred to the active and good work accomplished by Mr. Cruickshank, not only in Barre, but throughout the state, and hoped he would long be spared to continue the fight for the general uplift of the wage workers of Vermont.

Mr. Cruickshank, who is president of the granite cutters, as well as the State Federation, briefly thanked the company for their handsome gifts and feelingly assured them that he would endeavor to work always for the men and women in the labor movement, of which he was proud to be a member, and for the general welfare of his home city.

Secretary-treasurer F. F. McCarthy of the Quarry Workers' union, in the course of a very humorous speech, "roasted" Supt. Bruce for accusing him (McCarthy) and Bro. Cruickshank of jumping from place to place to evade the Canadian duties, the speaker claiming that in all his wanderings, the only place he was obliged to jump about in was the city of Barre, asserting that if a person wanted to avoid pneumonia it was absolutely necessary to be provided with a "fishing smack" as one could nearly always find Barre streets impregnated with its waters. Mr. McCarthy was greeted with rounds of applause, the company feeling that he had "gone one" on Supt. Bruce.

Secretary Alex. Smith gave a long talk on the raising of poultry, horses and collie dogs. After the speech-makers had exhausted themselves and everybody else, a splendid program of songs and dances was entered into by the company. Especial mention is necessary of Mrs. Siora's "Flow Gently, Sweet Afton," Mr. and Mrs. Cruickshank's violin and vocal duet, James Cruickshank's "In the Lowlands Low," Adam Craig's "Caks Walk," Edward Thompson's "In from the New," general selections by the Iron Cox Quartette, splendid Highland dancing by James Smart, Fred Bruce's "The Scotchman's Prayer."

A vote of thanks was extended to the ladies for assistance rendered, a special vote of thanks to "Bill" Quinn for use of the hall, and the party was brought to a close by the singing of "Auld Lang Syne."

HE WENT TO JAIL ON FURNISHING CHARGE

Jesse Frussetti Thought It Better to Serve at Once Rather Than Hang Around in Jail to Await Trial in County Court.

Jesse Frussetti, who was bound over to the March term of Washington county court by the city court yesterday on the charge of furnishing liquor to Irving St. John, a fifteen-year-old boy, came into court again last evening, and asked to be allowed to plead guilty to the charge. He was allowed to plead and Judge Scott gave him a sentence of not less than three months nor more than four in the house of correction at Rutland. When arraigned in court yesterday morning, Frussetti pleaded not guilty and was given a hearing in binding-over proceedings. Frussetti conducted his side of the case in the hearing and went onto the witness stand in his own defense. The hearing resulted in his being bound over to the March term of county court under bonds of $500.

Harvey Hersey Wants Driveways Replaced—L. J. Bolster Says Boys Destroying Property at Trotting Park—Another Grievance Against the Boys.

The regular meeting of the city council was held last evening with all the members present and the following business was disposed of. The building inspector reported that 25 permits had been granted in November and he also recommended that a permit be granted to G. P. Winter to move the barn on the Martin lot at the corner of Prospect and South Main streets to the rear of the lot next to C. H. Campbell's house on Elm street. On motion of Alderman Cutler it was voted to refer the permit for moving the barn to the street committee and the building inspector to investigate and report.

The street committee and the city engineer reported the numbers to be placed on the houses on Webster avenue.

The report of the overseer of the poor for the month of November was as follows: cash on hand Nov. 1, $31.40; received from city treasurer, $20; paid out, $312; balance, $13.40. A request signed by a number of the residents on Beckley and School streets was read asking that a street light be placed near the intersection of Beckley and School streets. The request was referred to the lighting committee to investigate and report. The Fidelity and Casualty company reported that their inspector had made an inspection of six of the city's boilers and found them in good shape.

A communication from Joseph Oseola was read stating, in substance, that in view of the fact that drowning accidents are recorded nearly every winter in this city from children skating on the rivers and ponds and to assist in eliminating these accidents, he would give the city, free of charge, the use of his vacant lot at the corner of North Main and North Seminary streets on which to construct a skating rink, if the city would foot it at its own expense. On motion of Alderman Thurston the matter was referred to the water committee to investigate and report.

In regard to the rental of the telephone at the central fire station, the Vermont Telephone company reported that they had not sent in any bills for rent during the past year, but that they would attend to settling the matter up at once and would, if the city wished, place the telephone on the free list for municipal use only. Chief Faulkner asked if the council would designate the streets to be posted open for alighting this winter and the council voted to open the following streets, which are the same as last winter: East, Pleasant, Bachelor, Long, Granite and Brooklyn streets.

Harvey Hersey presented a four-page type-written complaint, in which he called attention to two failures on the part of the city to live up to its promises and in which he assailed Street Superintendent Bruce, the Pleasant, Bachelor, Long, Granite and Brooklyn streets.
