Your Christmas shopping; what about it?

Good luck and no fight for the most powerful fleet afloat!

With her new Sunday "lid," Montpelier is quite in fashion anyway.

Superstition takes a fresh hold since the loss of the Thomas W. Lawson in a Friday-the-thirteenth storm.

Judging from the undisturbed city family relations in Burlington, Mayor William J. Bigelow must have been just the man for the place.

That wide-awake paper, the Vermont Union Signal, was unusually so last Saturday in dating its issue a week ahead, December 21. Editor Halvosa always did believe in being on time.

That all newspaper men are not suffering from "wanderlust" is shown by the career of George S. Rowell, who has for forty years been connected with the Portland Daily Advertiser.

CITIES REALIZING THEIR RESPONSIBILITIES.

There doubtless was a time when the country was the recruiting ground for the brain and brawn of the cities, and considerable valuable material continues to come from that source. The cities are still more exhaustive, but at the same time they are more constructive than the country. They keep more closely up to the rising line of scientific progress in matters of health and the art of proper living. It is no longer necessary to be born in a log cabin and drink from the old oaken bucket to attain manly stature and a good equipment of body and mind. This is reassuring since the cities are more and more absorbing the best life of the nation.—Boston Transcript.

It is very interesting to learn that cities are coming to a realization of their joint responsibility with the country in working for the good of the nation as a whole. If the cities are now capable of repopulating themselves with a satisfactory stock without drawing upon the resources of the other part of the country, then there will be so much less drain on the country. Again, if the cities are "more constructive" than the country districts, it is because they have been forced by the necessities of the situation to be so. The nearer to nature one gets, the less need for artificial restoratives to health, energy, ambition and all the agencies that go to make satisfactory living.

The infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Murphy of Merchant street died Saturday afternoon and the funeral was held today with interment in the Catholic cemetery.

Among arrivals at the Northern hotel yesterday and today were Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Stearns, Portland, Me.; E. A. Duffie, Jericho; J. Gallagher, Cabot; J. J. Keeney, Fairfax; Emil Lake and Anny Maerinta, Bolton.

The six-year-old son of E. Peverelli of Elliston street fell on the ice Saturday and struck so that a piece of ice badly lacerated the ball of his right eye. Drs. Sprague and Reid were called and had to perform an operation, in which they cut out a piece of the eyeball. It is not thought that the boy will lose the sight of the eye.

The scenery hill school closed a fifteen week term Friday. The pupils were treated to candy and popcorn, and the afternoon was spent in playing games. The teacher, Kathryn Farnonfer, was presented a handsome water set by the pupils. Those having no marks for the term; Mary Mortimer, Mary Jameson, John Sowles, Henry Goolley and Edgar Morris. Several others had excellent attendance.

"Uncle Josh Perkins," the great comedy success, is down for an engagement of one night at the opera house on Tuesday evening. The play is built on original lines and is said to be presented by a brilliant company, who make the most possible out of every type of character enacted. While built largely for laughing purposes, there is enough pathos, human interest and thrilling situations unfolded to suit all classes of men, women and children, too.

A SAFE DEPOSIT BOX

Considering the low cost and the perfect security of a box in a modern safe deposit vault, it is unwise to keep securities, insurance policies, savings bank books, deeds and other valuables in a house or office safe. The safe deposit vault does what no amount of insurance can do—it actually prevents valuables from being burned or stolen.

Boxes from $3 to $10

CURRENT COMMENT.

The Albany (N. Y.) Herald indulges in some reminiscences concerning parties and calls attention to the fact that Ulysses S. Grant had been president four years and a half when the panic of 1873 came. Grover Cleveland had been president but two or three months when the panic of 1893-94 came, after being carefully provided for by Republican legislation. Theodore Roosevelt had been president six years when the panic of 1907 struck the country, in addition to which the Republican party has been in absolute ascendancy for upwards of ten years. As the Herald remarks: "It takes some nerve for a Republican to talk about the connection between Democracy and hard times, but he has plenty of it."—The Commoner.
