

WAS RAISED AS FARMER BOY

Senator Latimer of South Carolina Who Died To-day

CRITICALLY ILL LONG TIME

He Was Serving His First Term in the Senate, But Had Been in the National House Several Terms.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 20.—Senator Asbury Churchwell Latimer, of South Carolina, died at the Providence hospital this morning, following an operation for intestinal trouble. He had been in a critical condition for some days and little hope had been entertained for his recovery since a sinking spell on Tuesday morning. At that time, his relatives were hastily summoned to his bedside, and the end was expected then. He rallied, however, and fought a strong battle for life.

Senator Latimer took a seat in the Senate five years ago, after serving five terms in the House of Representatives. Prior to that he had been prominent in Democratic party matters in his state, his residence being at Belton. He was 55 years old, having been born July 31, 1853, near Lowndesville, Abbeville county, South Carolina. He was brought up as a farmer's boy and much of his early life was spent in agricultural pursuits. He removed to Belton in 1880 and entered politics.

GLADSOME WELCOME FROM PERUVIANS

Given the American Fleet Which Arrived Off Callao To-day—Saturday a National Holiday There.

Callao, Peru, Feb. 20.—Thousands gathered at every vantage point to-day to await the arrival of the American battleship fleet, which was sighted off the port at 7:40 a. m. The ships were moving slowly, having purposely slowed down so as to arrive here by daylight. The city is lavishly decorated and the stars and stripes are conspicuously displayed. The government has decreed Washington's birthday a holiday in honor of the visiting Americans. All the banks and commercial houses were closed to-day.

Who Will Succeed Evans.

Washington, Feb. 20.—Beyond the statement that Rear Admiral Rollie D. Evans probably will be precluded from commanding the Atlantic battleship fleet on its return voyage from the Pacific by reason of his retirement on account of age, Aug. 15 next, the navy department officials decline to make any predictions as to who will be in command then.

With the exception of Rear Admiral Sperry, who is not in robust health, none of the fleet admirals with Rear Admiral Evans, has much more than a year of active service in prospect, a fact which probably will operate to prevent their assignment to the supreme command.

HARRIMAN WINS FAMOUS CONTROVERSY

With Stuyvesant Fish as to Voting of 286,283 Shares of Illinois Central Stock at Annual Meeting.

Chicago, Feb. 20.—Judge Ball, in superior court today, decided the Illinois Central case in favor of E. H. Harriman. This is the famous controversy between Harriman and Stuyvesant Fish, involving the control of a railroad. The decision dismisses the injunction obtained by Fish to restrain 286,283 shares of stock from being voted at the annual meeting, on the ground that they were controlled by Harriman and would injure the interests of the other stockholders.

New York, Feb. 20.—Harriman refused to discuss the action of the Illinois court until he had seen the full text of the decision. He expressed the hope, however, that it was sweeping enough to remove any possibility of similar suits being brought. Ask an opinion on the president's letter directing the interstate commerce commission to investigate the proposed reduction of railroads he said: "Anything that continues to stir up strife and animosity is certain to be harmful. What we want to do now is to get the men back to work. We can't accomplish anything until we get a chance to do some permanent financing."

Enosburg Town Reports.

The poor department cost $1,150. The health officer reported that there were four cases of typhoid fever and 41 of German measles last year. There were 29 burials.

JAPAN IS OUR FRIEND SAID WHITELAW REID

Rejects Talk of War With the Orient as Only Fit For Lunatics to Consider—Spoke in New York Last Night.

New York, Feb. 20.—Whitelaw Reid, ambassador of the United States to Great Britain, in a speech last night at the dinner of the Pilgrims of the United States at Delmonico's, declared that talk of the obligations of Great Britain to sustain Japan in war against the United States, was nonsense. The ambassador was accorded an ovation when he arose to speak by the 400 members of the Pilgrims of the United States and their guests. Joseph H. Choates, former ambassador to Great Britain, was toastmaster.

He said in part: "In this dwelling on our peaceful and cordial relations I am not forgetting the nonsense you can read in the sensational press about the obligations of Great Britain to sustain Japan in war against the United States. Japan is our friend as we are theirs and you have to think them entirely without common sense before you can imagine them capable of seeking war with a powerful and friendly nation half way around the globe absolutely without any grievance or a motive. And secondly, the treaty between Great Britain and Japan simply provides that in case of aggression of Japan's recognized territorial rights in the east Great Britain would sustain her. Now what grown man outside of a lunatic asylum dreams that we have such a hunger for more land that we are going to cross the Pacific and try to rob one of our oldest and truest friends in the Far East—the very land we introduced to the western world, and to which we certainly tried to be useful in helping to bring the late lamentable struggle to a close."

"You are right, no doubt, to blame the sensational press for its unpatriotic eagerness to make dirty half pennies by inventing and spreading this mischiefous lie. But I beg of you, be just, and blame still more that section of American people, innumerable in influence, and I must think not considerable in numbers, who appear still so provincial, so credulous and so careless as to gulp down such stuff, open mouthed, like half grown backwoods fly-gobblers, and really seem to relish it."

Barber, aged 43, employed as traveling man for a well-known electric company of New York, was found in a room of a hotel here yesterday with a bullet wound in his right temple. He registered at the hotel Tuesday, when it is believed he soon killed himself, as a pistol shot was heard that day by employees of the hotel. Barber has a mother and 3-year-old son living in Williamstown, Vt. The police say he was divorced from his wife last September and attribute his act to despondency.

TWO BLOCKS ONLY LEFT OF BUSINESS SECTION OF NORTH WOODSTOCK, N. H.

AFTER FIVE HOURS FIRE

Flames Started at Two O'clock This Morning and Became So Threatening That Aid Was Summoned from Laconia.

North Woodstock, N. H., Feb. 20.—A grocery store and a church are the only buildings left in the business district of this town, following a fire that started at 2 o'clock this morning and raged for five hours in a driving snow storm. The loss is between $50,000 and $60,000.

The flames were discovered in the open house, they quickly spread to Hotel Fairfield, the telephone exchange, Sanborn's block, E. L. Putnam's drug store and the livery stable of James Constantine. Aid was summoned from Laconia, but before it arrived the fire had been put under control.

Several residents and guests at the hotel were forced to flee in their night clothes out into the zero weather.

HAS NO AMBITION TO BE GOVERNOR

Fred L. Davis Sets at Rest the Rumor That He Might Be a Republican Candidate for the Nomination.

Secretary Fred L. Davis of the state board of agriculture was interviewed in Montpelier to-day while he was on his way from East Montpelier, where he attended the agricultural meeting yesterday, and asked as to his part in the Vermont gubernatorial election. He said that he did not know how the mentioning of his name got started, but added that he had no ambition for the place and never would have. He modestly pleaded his lack of capability to serve in that position, said he hadn't the means and that his "best" did not turn that way.

Mr. Davis replied to questions as to his preference that at present he favored Lieutenant-Governor Prouty, but should Governor Proctor consent to run again he should be for him, as he thought Proctor had made an ideal governor.

ATTACHES CORK LEGS.

Sheriff Serves Writ in Damage Suit on Brattleboro Maker.

Brattleboro, Feb. 20.—All the cork legs and artificial legs manufactured and in the process of manufacture and all mechanical tools used in the manufacture of artificial legs, beside furniture, books, medical implements and an X-ray machine, in the house owned and occupied by Dr. and Mrs. George N. Roberts of Main street were attached by Deputy Sheriff A. W. J. Wilkins yesterday in an action for alleged breach of covenant brought by John B. Manley. The officer's return on the writ filed in the county clerk's office makes interesting reading. "I have attached many different kinds of things in my life," said Mr. Wilkins on filing the writ, "but never anything quite so odd as cork legs."

On Oct. 25, 1907, Dr. and Mrs. Roberts sold a building lot to Mr. Manley, which adjoins their home lot on Main street, and Mr. Manley is building a house thereon. He alleges that Dr. and Mrs. Roberts previously sold a lot to M. J. Moran, including a part of the lot sold to the plaintiff, and that Mr. Moran holds title to that portion included in both deeds. He seeks to recover $600 damages, the damages to the property being placed at $300.

Dr. Roberts recently engaged in the manufacture of artificial limbs, and soon afterward announced that the scientific artificial limb company had been dissolved and that he would pay none of the firm debts. This brought from the scientific artificial limb company of New York an announcement that the company never was a firm in Brattleboro and was a bona fide company doing business in New York.

WHOLESALE THEFT.

An Investigation of Alleged Systematic Crookedness of Providence Gang.

Providence, R. I., Feb. 20.—It became known yesterday afternoon that strenuous efforts are being made to discover the members of an organized gang of thieves, who, it is supposed, are employed on the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, and thus clear up thefts amounting to probably over $50,000, which have been mysteriously perpetrated in this city within the last year. The investigation promises to bring some startling disclosures and the railroad detectives, as well as the local police department, are confident that several arrests will follow. Assistant Chief of Railroad Detectives Thomas Carney of New London, and General Manager Samuel Higgins are in town, and their visit is regarded as significant.

HOMELESS OLD MAN APPLIED FOR SHELTER

Chief of Police Faulkner Took Pity on Him and Gave Him a Place For The Night—Stranger Said He Came From Montpelier.

Patrik Fay of Williston pleaded guilty to a first offense of intoxication in the city court this morning and was fined $5 with costs of $7.75. He was unable to pay and went to the county jail for 10 days. Pat mistook a store on Depot square for a hotel and went in and laid down on the floor. He was very indignant when the proprietor threw him out and Pat attempted to kick the door down. Officer Carlo came along and furnished him with a bed in the basement of the city building for the night. Though he said his name was Patrick, his tongue was more like a native of West Chazy than of Ireland.

A feeble, gray-headed old man applied for lodging at the police station last night. He was accompanied and assisted by Chief Faulkner, who thought that the old man ought to be taken care of in some way and has notified the overseer of the poor and the charity committee of the aldermen. The old man claims he has no home and said he came to Barre from Montpelier yesterday.

CHAMPIONSHIP GAME ENDED IN DISPUTE

Referee Riley Was Struck By Acting Manager Lew Wacher of the Brattleboro Team in Match at St. Johnsbury.

St. Johnsbury, Feb. 20.—The second game in the state championship series here last night was forfeited to Co. D by referee Riley after three minutes of play. The trouble which led up to this decision started by a mixup on the floor between Doyle and Ed. Wacher. The referee ordered both men off the floor and gave them three minutes to comply.

Lew Wacher, acting manager of the visiting team, objected to the decision, and, in a dispute with Riley, struck him, whereupon the referee awarded the game to Co. D by the score of 2 to 0. Lew Wacher claimed that Doyle struck Ed. Wacher; that the latter had offered in no way, and should not have been ordered off the floor.

The visiting players left the hall through a side door, while the local management was discussing the situation. The summary: Gloversville, N. Y., Feb. 20.—L. Wacher, Vaughan, C. E. Wacher, Henshell, H. Handman, Fox, H. Muller. Score, Company 2, 3. Goals from floor, Fox, Muller, Wacher, Riley, Tamer, Murphy. Attendance, 1,150.

ASSAULTED, MAY NOT LIVE

Robert J. Williams an Elderly Fair Haven Man

STRUCK BY SLATE WORKER

Dispute Over Discharge of Carlo Antinelli, in Which Old Man Was Belabored with a Shovel—Anti-nelli Arrested.

Fair Haven, Feb. 20.—Carlo Antinelli, an Italian laborer, was arrested here yesterday on the charge of assaulting Robert J. Williams, one of the officials of the J. H. Williams State company of this town. Mr. Williams, who is 75 years of age, was so badly injured that his recovery is doubtful. Antinelli came from New York several months ago and was employed by the company. Last week he was discharged.

Last Monday night the engine house at the company's quarry was burned by some person, and it appears that Williams suspected Antinelli. He applied for a warrant for the arrest of the Italian, but the justice refused to issue it on the ground that there was no evidence against Antinelli. Yesterday Williams had officer James Tully accompany him to the Italian boarding house, where Antinelli was staying, and took the suspected man to the quarry for the purpose of having his shoes compared with the footprints made in the snow by the person who set fire to the engine house.

Tully left Williams alone with the Italian and a short time after the officer went away it is claimed that Antinelli seized a shovel handle which Williams was carrying and hit the aged man over the head and body, inflicting serious injuries. The authorities also claim that after Williams was unconscious the Italian robbed him of his gold watch and money.

The unconscious quarry owner was found later by John Sweeney and the police were notified. Williams was then tracked through the woods to Bull Head pond, where his pursuers were obliged to give up the chase on account of the heavy snowstorm which set in. Late in the day, Antinelli returned to town and was arrested. He attempted to resist, but surrendered when a revolver was leveled at his head.

In Which Agricultural Interests Were Discussed, Held at East Montpelier.

An address of welcome was given by Harry Daniels, master of the East Montpelier grange, in a felicitous manner, and the response was made by Fred L. Davis, secretary of the state board of agriculture. Then followed addresses on various subjects. Mr. Terrill spoke on "Fruit," Frank L. Russell of Shrewsbury on "Horses," Arthur M. Vaughan of Randolph, state forestry commission, on "Trees" and others took up subjects of interest to the farmers.

Board of Civil Authority Is Making an Effort to Have This Spring's List as Nearly Correct as Possible—Another Meeting.

Forty-five names of new voters were added to the city check list, some were cut out and a great many changes made in ward lists at a regularly called meeting of the board of civil authority in the city court room last evening. An effort is being made to have this year's list as accurate as possible, and to that end a list of those liable to have their names removed was prepared, and written notification will be sent to their last places of residence. Failing to get any response or information regarding them, the board will remove the names.

Another meeting is called for Friday of this week, at which times other names will be added, and it is probable that a third meeting will be held the first of the next week.
