RANDLOPH

Narrow Escape From a Serious Fire Yesterday. A narrow escape from a serious fire occurred in the Cushman house on Central street, the result of a chimney fire.

Mrs. B. E. Davis of Northfield is the guest of her sister, Mrs. J. B. Eldridge, for a few days.

The young son of Rev. and Mrs. Fraser Metzger is quite ill with a stomach trouble.

A son, Richard Lodge Hollis, was born on April 1st to Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Hollis, who live on the Highlands.

Dana Church returned to Goddard seminary on Wednesday after spending the spring vacation with his parents here.

Charles Beedle left here on Wednesday morning, going to Woodstock for a brief stop before going to his home in Keene, N. H.

Miss Essie Smith and Ruby Miller were invited to a sugar party in East Granville on Wednesday and left here on the early morning train.

Miss Gail Lamson has returned from Washington, D. C., after spending several weeks with her sister, Mrs. Theron Brooks, who lives in that city.

Lyman Rix has been appointed to take the place of Jerry Adams as local agent for the McCormick company, dealers in farming implements.

Dr. Rummel attended Dr. and Mrs. Beckman to Boston Tuesday night and while there Dr. Beckman will consult a specialist, hoping to get relief from his present illness.

George Mann was in town on Tuesday visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Mann, and left his little daughter, who came with him to remain two weeks with the grandparents.

Miss Lucinda Dupris arrived on the afternoon train from Dickinson, North Dakota, where she has been for the last two years and will remain for some months with her parents in town.

There was a select dance in Grange hall on Wednesday evening, April 1st with Richard Grant for pianist. Many of the college boys who were home for the spring vacation attended, it being planned for their pleasure.

The immense washout near the Frank Griswold place is said to be constantly increasing in size and it is thought will continue to do so, until the front is out of the ground. Meanwhile the selectmen are trying to decide the best way to bridge the chasm.

The sugar party, given by the Rochester club on Tuesday night in Grange hall was largely attended and a general good time prevailed. Richard Grant was the pianist and the evening was delightfully passed with music, dancing and waltz playing.

The D. F. Ricker house has been closed as a boarding house and it is understood that John F. Du Bois, who has purchased it will soon take possession, when he will thoroughly repair and remodel it after his own taste, before occupying the same himself.

L. B. Johnson entertained the Monday evening club at Randolph inn on Monday night. It is not being possible for all members to be present, guests were invited so as to make the company number 15 in all. A course dinner was served at 8 o'clock, after which the usual meeting was enjoyed by those present.

CHELSEA

Stanley C. Wilson left Tuesday evening for Montpelier, where he was engaged Wednesday in the trial of a case in Washington county court.

T. G. Dearborn has vacated W. P. Townsend's tenement house on Main street, moving his family to South Royalton, and David G. Adams is moving into the tenement vacated by Mr. Dearborn.

Norman W. Hunt has rented of John L. Bacon the old bank building on Main street, which he will use for a bookshop, vacating the shop in the basement of the A. B. Hood & Son block. His new quarters will give him good light and plenty of room.

Mrs. W. P. Townsend left Tuesday morning for New York, where she will be the guest of friends for two weeks, after which she will proceed to Washington, D. C. to visit her daughter, Miss M. Bianche Townsend, who is a teacher of elocution in the National Park seminary.

State's Attorney M. M. Wilson was in town Monday on his way to Weymouth, where he caused Miss Bessie Sears to be brought before Justice Geo. C. Hastings on a charge of larceny, to which charge she pleaded guilty and was sentenced to the reform school at Vergennes during the remainder of her minority, which will be three years. Dep. Sheriff R. H. Adams, Jr., accompanied the state's attorney to the reform school and Tuesday escorted the young lady to Vergennes to commence her term.

Will C. Holmes was in town over Sunday to say good bye to his many friends, leaving Monday for Los Angeles, Cal. Mr. Holmes has been a resident of this town for about ten years, having been in trade during the past eight years, during which time he has by his clean business methods and pleasing personality made a host of friends, who sincerely regret his departure and wish for him a future of prosperity, happiness and a return of health. Out of his ill health for nearly a year made a change of climate and possibly a change of business necessary.

There has been something doing in the line of transfers of real estate in Chelsea and vicinity in the past few days as shown by the records of the town clerk, some of the most important changes being: 430 acres in Washington sold by Charles B. and Fred Fletcher to John L. Bacon. Phil Clough has sold and deeded his farm on the East hill, on the old Stratford turnpike near the height of land, to Charles B. Thatcher of Washington. This farm is a good little farm of 62 acres and sold for $350.

Mr. Clough bought the same about a year ago of George W. Hersey for $262. John L. Bacon has also taken deeds of the old bank block, the new bank block, the Dana house and the block occupied by Ordway, Holmes & Co. on Church street. Mr. Bacon has also deeded his interest in the John-B. Bacon place near the Congregational church to Mrs. S. Ada (Hall) Bacon.

Miss Ethel Colby is ill with measles. Benjamin Martin is reported as being in poor health.

William Mears of Barre was at N. D. Page's Monday.

Moses Lambertson of Marshfield was in town Saturday.

Alfred Braze of St. Johnsbury was at Silas Willis' Saturday.

Carl Foss and Miss Pauline of Medford, Mass., are spending a few days with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Foss.

Out of Work Benefits Expended. Some idea of what it costs to provide for the unemployed against what may be gained by reference to the amounts expended by Typographical union No. 6, New York city, during the years 1906 and 1907. In the former year the benefit board dispensed $53,651.75; in the latter year the total was $34,840.27.

The Muskellunge. So voracious is the muskellunge that it will devour any living thing that comes within its vision. Full grown bullfrogs, good sized ducklings, small aquatic birds, as well as many water mammals, become an easy prey to its yawning gullet for a mouth.

His Present. "What do you think? My wife's father told me before we got married that he would give me a handsome present on our wedding day." "And didn't he?" "Well, I waited over a week, and as he didn't mention the subject I asked him for it, and he said was, "Why, didn't I give you my daughter?"

Ready For Anything. "She used to say she would never marry until the ideal man proposed." "Yes?" "Yes. But she's dropped the 'ideal' now."—Philadelphia Press.

Appetite for Crabs

The codfish has an enormous appetite for shell-fish, crabs and lobsters. He eats them alive and he eats them raw. He eats them all without indigestion and grows fat. He has a powerful liver.

A CHINESE DROUGHT.

Tragic Scenes That Come With a Long Spell of Dry Weather.

In many districts of China water becomes very scarce during the summer months. Some of the fearful results of the drought are described thus by the Rev. John MacGowan: "The great sun blazes down on an unclouded sky and drinks up the water that is clinging to the roots of the rice. The soil now cracks with the fervent heat, and every blade of rice seems to be making an appeal to the heaven for rain. The farmer who has sown his seed and who is now at the end of his crop, for that purpose is the only thing now that lies between him and poverty and despair. A failure of a crop means very likely that he will have to sell his daughter or his son perhaps or even barter away his wife if he would keep the homestead from slipping from his grasp. Some of the most piteous scenes in the many tragic ones that cast their shadows over the home in the experience of the Chinese husbandmen can be witnessed during the summer months when there has been a shortage in the fall of rain.

"The wells have become dry, and the little ponds have been drained of every drop of water they contained. The rice in the field has lost the dark green color that with its rich sheen tells of health and vitality and is turning into a sickly yellow that means decay and death. Water must be got now and at any price, for two or three days more of this will see the grain blasted in the fields. They accordingly dig the ponds deeper to catch the tiniest rills that may flow into them, and as the work in the blazing sun might at once dry these up the work is carried on during the midnight hours, so that not a drop of the precious fluid may be absorbed by the great thirsty dragon in the sky.

"Often these most pathetic endeavors to save their crops end in tragedy and death. Men are making a supreme effort to avert disaster from their homes, and in the mad endeavor to gain the water for themselves the wildest passions of the heart are aroused, and neighbors will struggle with each other for the slowly trickling drops of water. The solemn air of night is broken with the sounds of conflict, and the stars looking down from the midnight sky see murder committed by men whose sole and controlling motive is the preservation of their homes."—Chicago News.

The Ring Finger. To the question often asked why the marriage ring should be placed on the left hand many answers are given. Some say because the left hand is much less used than the right, and therefore the ring is less liable to get broken. In the British Apology of 1788 it is stated that for the same reason the fourth finger was chosen, which is not only less used than either of the rest, but is more capable of preserving a ring from bruises, having this one quality peculiar to itself—that it cannot be extended but in company with some other finger, whereas the rest may be singly stretched out to their full length and straightness.

Golf and Brains. The radical type of golf enthusiast is exemplified in the retort of a St. Andrew's caddy to the university professor. "O'nobody can teach a wheen loons Latin and Greek, but gowf, ye see, gowf requires a heid."

A Wise Student. Professor (examining medical student)—If you are called out to a patient, what is the first question you would ask? Medical Student—Where he lives!—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Death Was On His Heels. Jesse P. Morris of Skippers, Va., had a close call in the spring of 1906. He says: "An attack of pneumonia left me so weak and with such a fearful cough that my friends declared consumption had me, and death was on my heels. Then I was persuaded to try Dr. King's New Discovery. It helped me immediately, and after taking two and a half bottles I was a well man again. I found out that New Discovery is the best remedy for coughs and lung disease in all the world." Sold under guarantee at Red Cross Pharmacy, 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

A CARD. We, the undersigned, do hereby agree to refund the money on a 50-cent bottle of Green's Warranted Syrup of Tar if it fails to cure your cough or cold. We also guarantee a 25-cent bottle to prove satisfactory or money refunded. Red Cross Pharmacy, E. A. Drown, C. H. Kendrick & Co., D. F. Davis, George L. Edson, J. A. McArthur, W. H. A TRICK OF THE TRADE.

Bear This in Mind When You Purchase Art Treasures Abroad. A warning to picture buyers that was published in Paris by the versatile and fiery Frenchman, M. Rochefort, may well be laid to heart by wealthy Americans and others who are disposed to purchase works of art on their face value and without challenging the credentials that are lavishly paraded. It is of course the picture dealers in Paris who need to be specially watched, and M. Rochefort tells a good story in illustration of the care that should be used. A customer had bought an authentic picture by an old master in an excellent state of preservation and expressed his intention of taking it with him. The dealer, on the other hand, insisted strongly on sending it home by one of his employees.

"If you are afraid that you will change the picture, you have only got to write your name on the back," said the shopman.

But the customer had his way. When he reached home, he unrolled his purchase and discovered that a copy of the original canvas had been nailed behind the genuine picture, so that if the customer had placed his signature on the back of the picture he would have written it on the copy. The dealer would have maintained that that was the picture he had bought, and the original would have remained in the possession of the dealer.—Argonaut.

TOO STRONG A BLUFF.

The Boy Meant Well, but Carried His Instructions Too Far. The proprietor of one of New York's fashionable hotels was talking about the crush that restaurants experience on New Year's eve, Washington's birthday and other holidays. "But I must not boast," said he. "It is bad luck. A grocer in my boyhood told me that. The grocer said that he had once engaged a new boy and had exhorted this boy always to give customers the impression that they were very busy. "Whether we are actually busy or not, say we are busy," the grocer said. "Tell people we are, for they like to deal with brisk, go-ahead firms that do a large trade. "Well, an hour or so later a brought-an-drove up, and the rich judge's wife entered. She did not stay long. The boy looked after her. And on her departure the grocer said to the boy: "Did Mrs. Judge Brown leave a very large order, James? "She was going to," said the boy. "She had a list as long as yer arm. But I looked mad and told her we was so busy I hardly need how I could stop to tend to her, so she said, 'bein' as she was in a hurry, she'd just go next door.'"—Exchange.

The Art of Saint Gaudens.

His angels and caryatids are not classical goddesses, but modern women, lovely, but with a personal and particular loveliness, not insisted upon, but delicately suggested. And it is not the personality of the model who chanced to pose for them, but an invented personality, the expression of the nobility, the sweetness and the pure mindfulness of their creator. And in such a figure as that of the Adams memorial in Rock Creek cemetery in Washington his imaginative power reaches to a degree of impressiveness almost unequalled in modern art. One knows of nothing since the tombs of the Medici that fills one with the same hushed awe as this rugged, hooded, deeply brooding figure, shrouded with contemplation, still with an eternal stillness, her soul rapt from her body on some distant quest. Is she Nirvana? Is she the peace of God? She has been given many names. Her maker would give her none. Her meaning is mystery. She is the everlasting enigma.—Kenyon Cox in Atlantic.

The Heiress Abroad. "On your trip abroad, did you see any wonderful old ruins?" he asked. "Yes," she replied archly, "and guess what?" "Well?" "One of them wanted to marry me."—Harper's Weekly.

Put This Stove in Your Kitchen

It is wonderfully convenient to do kitchen work on a stove that's ready at the instant wanted, and out of the way the moment you're done. Such a stove is the New Wick Blue Flame Oil Cook-Stove. By using it you avoid the continuous overpowering heat of a coal fire and cook with comfort, even in dog-days. The

is so constructed that it cannot add perceptibly to the heat of a room; the flame being directed up a retaining chimney to the stove top where it is needed for cooking. You can see that a stove sending out heat in but one direction would be preferable on a hot day to a stove radiating heat in all directions. The "New Perfection" keeps a kitchen uniformly comfortable. Three sizes, fully warranted. If not with your dealer, write our nearest agency.

LONDON'S SAFETY VALVE.

Trafalgar Square, Where Agitators "Blow Off Steam." There is perhaps no other great city where the measure of free speech which is accorded to agitators of all kinds is larger than it is in London. It is the practice there to give anybody and everybody a chance to spout away to his heart's content in certain well recognized places of rendezvous, such as the spacious Trafalgar square, and especially the far more spacious expanse of Hyde park where the "reformers' tree" stands and where there is room not only for thousands and tens of thousands, but even hundreds of thousands.

Ordinarily in favorable weather on any fine afternoon or in the early part of the evening little meetings are going on there, each having a piece of ground allotted to it by the police, but on a Sunday, from early in the morning until well into the night, these assemblages are very numerous and in full blast. Twenty, thirty, forty, even more, I have seen in operation at the same time, the speakers, men and women, haranguing to groups or to big crowds on every theme imaginable—religion, spiritualism, politics, the tariff, woman's rights, astrology, penology, the faith cure, bad literature, theosophy, socialism, anarchy, government abuses, the abolition of the house of lords, home rule, local reforms and the vices of the aristocracy, while the red flag was as likely to be as conspicuous as any other emblem on the poles that are stuck in the ground or on the folding platforms which are rolled in on wheels. The whole practice has long been regarded by many Englishmen as an excellent means of letting the people "blow off their steam."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

The Word "Engine." "Engine" is a noteworthy instance of specialization and also of verbal development. "Ingen" originally in Latin meant only something "born in" a man, but the derivative words from that have diverged so widely that "ingenious" and "ingenious," one of which can so easily be misprinted for the other, now rank almost as contradictories. And from the "ingenious" man to the "engine," which is contracted, is a great step. Moreover, the man who calls it an "ingen" is right!

Wrong Interpretation. "I declare," remarked Rev. Mr. Goodley, "I never really knew what profanity was until I met Mr. Tuff."
