The great national game is officially on.

Massachusetts' recent Republican convention might be referred to as "the winning of the Crane."

The Barre firemen "remembered Chelsea" last night and were highly pleased that the northwest gale had subsided.

The Western Sun beams with pleasure over the settlement of the granite troubles in Rhode Island's granite center.

The expression "Dead as Chelsea" takes on a new significance, but all hope that the Massachusetts city will recover from the terrible shock of Sunday's great conflagration.

Rutland proposes to have a balloon ascension in place of a base ball team. One would suppose that Rutland's ball team made a balloon ascension sufficient to satisfy the longings of the Rutlanders.

Barre's pleasure in anticipation of a complete resumption of work in a short time is equalled in part by Burlington's pleasure at the prospect of eighty per cent. of her mill hands getting back to work.

It will take 401 to nominate a candidate for president in the coming national Republican convention. The leading candidate is still 202 votes shy of the required number. Several things may happen before the party concentrates its choice.

A native of the town of Woodbury—Frank George Wheatley—is a candidate for election as alumni trustee of Dartmouth college. He is now a medical practitioner at North Abington, Mass. Dartmouth follows the plan now in vogue in several other colleges, of nominating several persons—five in this case—and allowing the graduates of the college to have the electorate.

WELCOME TO THE METHODISTS!

For the third time in a dozen years Barre is to have the pleasure of entertaining the Vermont Methodist, or rather the Methodists of the Vermont conference. Although they have come here frequently, we would like them to understand that they have not worn out their welcome; rather would we have them believe that Barre is very pleased to have them come into the community. The program as arranged is a strong one and should prove of interest to all, while there are many features which will appeal to townspeople who are not members of the Methodist faith. Holding church's edifice, the headquarters of the conference, is of itself an attractive building and furnishes a very acceptable place for the major part of the gatherings. We bid the visitors to make themselves at home and be prepared to enjoy their brief stay in Barre.

TUBERCULOSIS IN BUTTER.

The advance of scientific investigation puts humanity more and more on the defensive. Hitherto unknown reasons for worry about one's state of health are constantly cropping out. The latest is the disquieting opinion that butter is a vehicle for the conveyance of tuberculous germs. This opinion is brought forward in a recent circular of the national department of agriculture, bureau of animal industry. In a prefatory note the authors make this explicit statement:

"Our present knowledge points unmistakably to the fact that a very large amount of butter infected with tuberculous bacilli is daily consumed by our people. Furthermore, the experiments described in this work prove that butter is an ideal environment for the preservation of tuberculous bacilli. It is shown that these micro-organisms when embedded in ordinary salted butter remain alive and virulent a long time; that after ninety-nine days they show only a doubtful reduction of pathogenic virulence."

These investigators state that butter is a much better conductor of tuberculous germs than milk because its texture presents obstructions to the cleansing action of the sunlight. The bacilli in the butter come, of course, from the milk.

If we are to place full reliance on the opinions of the makers of this circular, by far the greater part of the bacilli in the milk are transmitted to the butter, leaving infected milk practically clear of the tuberculous substance. For they tell us that the germs either rise with the cream or drop with the sediment. As the cream goes into the making of butter, it stands to reason, these government investigators argue, that the bacilli germs are transmitted to the butter. In fact, they have found a considerable quantity of the bacilli in butter.

In the light of these investigations, the movement to wipe out diseased cattle will take on fresh impetus, for it is now claimed that tuberculous can come

CURRENT COMMENT.

Burlington's Pleasure.

All residents of this city and vicinity will rejoice to learn that the American Woolen Mills at Winooski are now being run to eighty per cent of their manufacturing capacity, according to manager George E. Whitney. These mills add materially to the prosperity of Burlington as well as of Winooski. —Burlington Free Press.

Young "Professor" Collins.

A young "professor" of the university of Vermont by the name of Collins impressed himself upon fair Harvard in a mathematical discourse on Saturday, in which the significant figures were as nine to five. The spectators were much impressed. —Rutland Herald.

A Doggerel Detelict.

The following unnamed and un-fathered detelict has been traveling the surreptitious editorial ways and is reproduced as a striking example of the philosophy of tramp-dictation. "Man is a little cute, and hasn't long to stay. He lies around and makes a fuss and then he hikes away. Some men think that they are great and try to turn up jack, but each one meets the same old fate, and trots the same old track. Great Caesar's dead and turned to clay, and so is Cleopatra. Alexander's gone the way the rest of us must go. The sages, poets, heroes, and men of noble birth, into an open grave must fall and crumble back to earth. Then let's not join the mad array, and struggle like the deuce, and agonize our lives away, for really what's the use? Let's live and love and sing the while and work some now and then, and give to every one a smile that cheers the hearts of men. And whether we are crowned with flowers or chilled with winter snows, with happiness let's fill the hours as we turn up our toes." —Rutland Herald.

The Helping Hand.

The promptness of the response in lines apart from mere fire fighting, and the effectiveness of the agencies thus set at work for the mitigation of Chelsea's calamity, merit commendation. The conduct of the militia was especially praiseworthy. The systematic work of its men, under cool headed and efficient officers, notably General Brigham and Colonel Nutter, materially relieved the situation. Still earlier in the day the action of Rear Admiral Snow; the commandant of the Charlestown Navy yard, in ordering out the Coast Artillery and the Marines, proved "a stitch in time." The forces not only helped the fire fighters by maintaining the lines from which the public were excluded, but they assisted in the removal of property and in saving it from looters, who probably never get less from a big fire than they did this time. Experts say that our own fire department, in pre-

ODD FELLOWS PROGRAM.

Grand Bodies to Meet in Rutland May 19 to 22.

Rutland, April 14.—The program was completed today for the 62nd annual session of the grand lodge of Odd Fellows in Vermont which will be held in this city May 19 to 22 inclusive. The session will open Tuesday morning at nine o'clock with a session of the Patriarch's Militant grand council, Col. E. A. Sear, of Woodstock presiding. Two hundred uniformed chevaliers are expected for this meeting. The legislative session of this body will be held in the afternoon followed by the annual parade, headed by the Rutland city band. At 7:30 o'clock Tuesday evening the ceremony of the decoration of charity will be held, many chevaliers as well as ladies from various cantons receiving the honor. This service will be open to the public. The Patriarch's Militant will terminate their day with a concert and ball.

Conscientious.

The customs of military service require officers to visit the kitchens during cooking hours to see that the soldiers' food is properly prepared. One old colonel, who let it be pretty generally known that his orders must be obeyed without question or explanation, once stopped two soldiers who were carrying a soup-kettle out of a kitchen. "Here, you," he growled, "give me a taste of that." One of the soldiers ran and fetched a ladle and gave the colonel the desired taste. The colonel spat and spluttered. "Good heavens, man! You don't call that stuff soup, do you?" "No, sir," replied the soldier meekly, "it's dish-water we was empty'n', sir." —Everybody's Magazine.

The state court, in conjunction with the different courts at Burlington, Winooski, Essex Junction and Shelburne, have mapped out the following program for the day's celebration: Parade at 9:00 a. m., solemn high mass at 10:30 a. m., outdoor entertainment in the afternoon, band concert in the evening, banquet at St. Mary's hall.

It is the ardent desire of the state court officers to make this celebration one that the Catholic Order of Foresters, and all members of the Catholic faith may look back upon with feelings of joy at having been present. Shorman's band and the St. Michael's college band have been engaged for the occasion and arrangements have been made to provide for all bands that may accompany visiting courts.

The Catholic Order of Foresters was organized in Chicago, Ill., on May 24, 1883, and consequently on the 25th day of May the order will observe its 25th anniversary, or silver jubilee. As the anniversary falls on Sunday, the Vermont jurisdiction will observe the event on May 27. There were 45 courts in Vermont, with a membership of over 3,000. The state officers and committees will meet again on May 26.

Never Bankrupt.

"Have you ever been bankrupt?" asked the counsel. "I have not." "Now be careful," admonished the lawyer. "Did you ever stop payment?" "Yes."

"Ah, I thought we should get at the truth," observed counsel, with an unpleasant smile. "When did this suspension of payment occur?" "When I had paid all I owed."—London Outlook.
