

EASY MATCH FOR GODDARD

Spaulding High Not in It During Opening Game

FISHER WAS BATTED HARD

Seminary Boys Played a Good Game, While Spaulding Showed Up Weak at the Bat—Score Was 21 to 2.

The initial school base ball of the season was played on the Goddard campus Saturday afternoon between the teams representing Goddard seminary and Spaulding high school, with the result a decisive victory for Goddard, the score at the end of the sixth and last inning of play being 21 to 2 in favor of the "hill bunch." The game was started in a drizzling rain which increased as the contest progressed, but despite this a good number of fans held out until the end.

Spaulding does not seem to be quite up to usual form and Fisher has not got his arm into the condition that he showed last season. "Scotty" McDonald, who plays behind the bat for the Spaulding team, is a former seminary man, and Wishart, who played last year on the Spaulding team, played in the outfield for Goddard.

Heidel, Goddard's new back stop, looks good in his position and is also strong with the stick, hitting the leather for two singles and a three-bagger in four times at bat. Berry was at his usual tricks and lined the official sphere over the brow of the hill for a home run.

An amusing incident of the game was when David Siddle, jr., got his umbrella in range of a foul that came sailing down toward third and that rain stick ended its usefulness upon the spot. George Tayntor also had an umbrella reduced to a cane by a drive which was good for a two-bagger, but was misplaced and came down just outside the score.

The score:

PRISONERS SWEAR JAIL IS HAUNTED

A Gritting Goblin Swings To and Fro Nightly Along The Grating of The Cells.

Asheville, N. C., April 20.—A petition signed by all the prisoners, white and black, in the county jail, has been sent to the jailer and the sheriff appealing for protection from "evil spirits," which the prisoners declare, haunt the jail.

Yesterday morning when Jailer Mitchell unlocked the jail doors he was met by a wild-eyed bunch of prisoners begging to be removed. They declare that evil spirits pay nightly visits to the jail.

Both Sheriff Hunter and Jailer Mitchell admit that the prisoners had grounds for their appeal, as they, too, had heard noises which they were unable to account for.

Saturday night the prisoners say was the most harrowing. An evil spirit appeared and swung to and fro along the iron grating of the cages from midnight until 2 or 3 o'clock in the morning. Bob Boone and Will Miller, two of the prisoners, fainted. The others hid under the bed clothes.

The "Rev." W. C. Whitaker, charged with forgoing, says it was a "demon" and it grinned at them through the iron bars. It moved its lips, but could not speak. It poked a hand through the iron grating and every time it swung to the cage it would grin in a most diabolical manner, while the negroes moaned and prayed.

The prisoners say that every night they hear the trap fall, meaning by this the trap of the fallows on which a negro was recently hanged. Sheriff Hunter promised the prisoners that they would be moved to the new jail building as soon as it is completed.

Italy Near War With Turkey. 12 Battleships to Bring the Sultan's Terms. ALL READY TO SAIL. Powers Notified of Intention to Present Ultimatum—Abruzzi's Ship Going—Enforcement of Treaty Rights Is the Object.

Rome, April 20.—The government issued two important official communiques Saturday. The first denies the report that Germany has raised obstacles to Italy's peaceful penetration of Tripoli. The second announces that three naval divisions are about to sail for the Levant to assist in the inauguration of Italian post offices.

It is added that when they arrive Italy will address a note to the Powers, which will be followed by an ultimatum to Turkey based on the recent murder at Derna of an Italian priest, for which Turkey has hitherto refused to give satisfaction.

It will be recalled that the existence of foreign post offices has for a long time been a sore point with the Turks, who hold that they are now perfectly able to conduct their own postal administration independently. The Porte recently refused Italy's proposal to open new offices at Constantinople, Smyrna, Jerusalem and Salonica, but agreed to tolerate those existing prior to 1904.

The Roman newspapers unanimously approve the government's action. The Tribune says there is no question of permanent occupation of Turkish territory. Any occupation that may be necessary will take the form of landing a force on one of the islands of Asia Minor.

Italian Statesmen in interviews agree that the action of the government will furnish an efficient means of solving the difficulty with Turkey. Some evening papers printed reports insinuating that Germany was acting in a manner likely to prejudice Italian interests in Tripoli. These reports are semi-officially denied. Italy and Germany, it is stated, are in a complete agreement regarding Tripoli as they are in regard to the Balkan railways. This understanding, it is added, existed before Chancellor von Bülow's recent visit to Rome and was confirmed at conferences between the German Chancellor and Signor Tittoni, the Italian foreign minister.

The trouble is regarded as the culmination of numerous irritations, including the situation in the Balkans. Italy has the entire sympathy of Great Britain in the matter.
