WORK WEAKENS THE KIDNEYS.

Doan's Kidney Pills Have Done Great Service for People Who Work in Barre.

Most Barre people work every day in some strained, unnatural position—bending constantly over a desk—riding on jolting wagons or cars—doing laborious housework; lifting, reaching, or pulling or trying the back in a hundred and one other ways. All these strains tend to wear, weaken and injure the kidneys until they fall behind in their work of filtering the poisons from the blood.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys, put new strength in back laces. Barre cures prove it. Isaac Oatway of 23 Branch street, Barre, Vt., says: "I have been bothered more or less for years with an aching back and sharp pains through my loins when stooping. My work requires a good deal of heavy lifting and as a rule in a damp place, which, of course, aggravates my trouble. I learned of people here in Barre who had been cured by Doan's Kidney Pills, so I went to E. A. Brown's drug store and got a box. They did me a lot of good, and since I have used them there has been no pain in my back and I rest well at night. I am glad to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills as an excellent remedy for backache."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McBarn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

F. G. BAILEY IS ARRESTED.

The Man Who Sailed to Honduras on the Goldsboro.

Washington, June 9.—F. G. Bailey, who was president of the now defunct Export Shipping company of New York, has been arrested by the Honduran government. The authorities have also seized the $125,000 cargo of unpaid-for goods which Bailey carried away from New York on the steamer Goldsboro.

According to the last advices reaching the state department here, the steamer was at Tela, Honduras, where she was unloading. There is at present no extradition treaty with Honduras, though there is one now in the course of negotiation, so the extradition of Bailey will be an act of courtesy on the part of the Honduran government. It was undertaken at the request of Secretary of State Root, who desired that Bailey be returned to New York for trial for larceny.

EDUCATING THE BOYS

Chicago Unions Favor School For Apprentices.

MECHANIC OF THE FUTURE.

Must Be Something Above a Mere Machine is the View of Thinking Trades Unionists—System Adopted by Carpenters and Bricklayers.

The mechanic of the future must be an educated man. He must not only be familiar with every branch in his own trade, but he must know a little something about the trades and occupations which people in other parts of the world engage in, writes H. F. Carr in the Chicago Tribune.

He must study the machine, must be able to analyze the plans of the engineer and architect. Above all, he must cease to be an unthinking machine himself.

This is the view of at least two trades unions in Chicago, the Carpenters' union and the Bricklayers'. These views of the two organizations are carried into practice by the school for apprentices which has been founded in connection with the McKinley high school.

About 150 apprentices from the carpenter and bricklaying trades are by mutual agreement of the unions and the contractors sent to this school three months in the year, where they can finish and in some cases broaden their education.

The months during which these apprentices attend school are January, February and March. The hours are from half past 8 in the morning till 3 in the afternoon. The branches of instruction are the common branches of the public school plus drawing.

"This school for apprentices is still a founding," said O. M. Becker, instructor in drawing at the school. "It is still an experiment and, though successful, needs changing and improving. What we are trying to do here is to round out the education of the future mechanic. Many of the boys here have had one or two years' work in a high school. The great majority of them, however, have not had it. Some perhaps have not finished even their grades. The education of these necessarily is deficient. They will be much more useful as mechanics and as citizens when given a chance to fill out their deficiencies."

The course in the apprentice school runs through three years, which is the period of apprenticeship of these young men in the carpenter and bricklaying trades. The cost of maintaining this school for apprentices is paid by the board of education. There are in all five teachers. The ages of the pupils range from sixteen to twenty-one. All nationalities are represented.

"Our aim is to make these courses as practicable as possible," Mr. Becker continued. "With that object in view we give much attention to drawing, which is bound to be of decided value to these young men in their work. They get a notion here how to read drawings and plans. With the advance which we have made in all building activities, ability to understand a lit-
