Hog Notes.
The hog with large bones is rapidly growing in favor. Very frequently the feeding amounts to more than the pedigree. Dipping hogs is no longer a tedious job. The modern tank simplifies it. An average litter of seven or eight pigs will be pretty nearly sure profit. A good way to save high priced corn is to provide good alfalfa pasture. The man who never has dipped his hogs is the man who objects to it most. A good horn will do a great deal to put the hog end of your farming upon solid footing.—Kimball's Dairy Farmer.

Slilage For Beef.
Everywhere the feeding of silage to dairy cattle and beef cattle, horses and dogs is attracting each year more and more attention. The Ohio experiment station has recently completed a test in which it was established that corn silage under the conditions of the experiment had a value of $4.63 per ton in feeding for beef. In view of this, let any one not feeding silage consider what he is losing when an acre of corn makes ten to fifteen tons of silage.

THEIR MONEY IN OLD BOOTS.

How Russian Farmers in Kansas Hid Their Wealth.

"Ellis county has more money hidden in tin cans and old boots than is deposited in the banks," said Val E. Gross, a banker and broker of Hays City, Kan. "Old boots are the proper things," continued the Kansas banker, "because the people who hide their money in our county, as a rule, have no old socks to use for that purpose. They do not wear socks. They are Russians, who have no working knowledge of our banking system, and who show no disposition to learn much about it. They do their own banking. Their strong box consists of a tin can or an old boot, and their safety deposit vault is a hole under the barn or in the cellar. When they want to lay something they pay cash for it. When they sell something they demand the cash and hide it. It is a conservative estimate to say that more than half of the actual cash of Ellis county is hidden. Our deposits come chiefly from the Americans. Comparatively few of the Russians do any banking business. We have conducted a campaign among them for years, and some of the younger element are beginning to patronize us. But the old timers are still holding on, and probably will continue to do so for the rest of their lives. "Perhaps 70 per cent. of the people of Ellis county are Russians. More strictly speaking, they are German-Russians. Originally they went from Germany to Russia, and later came to this country. They are a sturdy, honest people, industrious, very religious, and great money savers. As debt payers they are celebrated. They never hide behind the statute of limitation. If a Russian buys a horse or a farm, he is just as sure to pay for it as he lives. Mortgages are only used as protection in case of death."—Washington Post.

QUEER WEDDING EFFIGY.
Mock Attention Paid By Bride's Party to Bridgroom's Relatives.

There is a curious custom still prevalent in the Bellary district of India in connection with the wedding ceremonies among certain Brahmin families.

Just prior to the close of the feasting, a hideous effigy of a male figure, fantastically robed in rage, supposed to represent the bridegroom's father, is carried along the streets in procession, under the shade of a sieve adorned with tassels of onions and margosa leaves.

Every few yards during the procession the feet of the effigy have to be reverently washed and its forehead decorated with a caste mark by its living spouse, the bridegroom's mother. The bridegroom's other female relatives have several mock attentions paid to them by the women of the bride's party.—London Standard.

Death of Rev. H. T. Fuller.
The Rev. Dr. Homer Taylor Fuller died at Saranac Lake this morning and the funeral will be held at his old home in Fredonia, N. Y. He was born in Lemper, N. H., November 15, 1828, and was graduated from Dartmouth college in the class of '64. After graduating from Union Theological seminary in 1850 he was elected principal of St. Johnsbury academy, holding this position with a slight intermission until 1882, when he was succeeded by Charles E. Putney, now of Burlington. During this period the academy continually prospered and Dr. Fuller became one of the leading educators in the state. From St. Johnsbury he went to Worcester, Mass., to accept the presidency of the institute of Technology, holding this position 12 years. In 1894 he was elected president of Drury college in Springfield, Mo., where he remained until ill health compelled his resignation a few years ago. He leaves a wife and three children, Mary B. Fuller, teacher in the history department at Smith college, Northampton, Mass., Henry J. Fuller, the head of the Canadian-Fairbanks company at Montreal and Mrs. Anna Miller of Springfield, Mo.

ABOUT THE STATE

R. W. Bishop, patent attorney of Washington, D. C., reports the issue of a patent on a hen's nest to S. H. Mitchell of Sheffield.

Paras aggregating $3,500 are offered for the races to be held at the twenty-third annual Valley fair at Brattleboro September 29 to October 1. The Rutland railroad has reduced the wages of the section men ten percent. to take effect at once, says The Troy Times. The men have been getting $1.40 a day.

After obtaining opinions on four pieces of property in Chittenden a site has definitely been decided upon there for the auxiliary fish hatchery to be established by the national government.

Andrew J. Whiting, a Fayston farmer, is owner of a three legged rooster. The third leg is situated between the other two and probably from disease is a little shorter than the others.

The ninth annual conference of the Vermont Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will be held in Montpelier in the middle of October. A committee of information consisting of Miss Dora Hodgson and Miss Mattie Watson of Montpelier has been appointed.

W. D. Chandler has been nominated as the Republican candidate for city representative and Charles D. Watson as the Democratic candidate, at caucuses held in St. Albans. No other candidates were mentioned at either caucus and both meetings were over in short order.

The reports of the Vermont soldiers' home, Bennington, for the first ten days of August show the following data: Average number present, 60; average present and absent, 89. During the period there were three discharged and one admitted. Sixty-two answered the roll call the morning of August 10.

Collector of Customs C. H. Darling announces that the customs collected in the district of Vermont during the month of July were $62,851.01 while the value of the merchandise exported during the same period was $372,483. During the month of July, 1907, the duties collected amounted to $70,490.44.

A herd of eighty grade Jersey cows has been shipped from White River Junction by Mr. Durgin to go to Ohio. Mr. Durgin has heretofore made large shipments from White River valley for the same destination. The prevailing price is about $40 and it is understood that they sell for $73 upon their arrival.

During a heavy shower Tuesday afternoon lightning struck the steeple of the Congregational church at Newport, ripping up the shingles, tearing the roof and splitting some of the rafters. The damage is estimated at $200. Mrs. E. D. Badger, who was seated on the veranda at her home next the church, was stunned for a few moments.

The check of $2,000 sent architect G. G. Adams of Lawrence, Mass., for his services in full to date on plans and specifications for a new city hall in Montpelier, has been accepted by Mr. Adams, who has sent the city clerk a receipt in full. If building operations should begin next spring it is probable the services of Mr. Adams will be again required. He did excellent work and the only friction was over the size of his bill.

ENEMIES OF ARIZONA CHICKENS.

Bullsnakes and Big Frogs Get into the Poultry Houses.

About four days ago L. T. Clifford, who owns a fine lot of poultry, was out in the yard engaged in doing the chores when he heard an unusual commotion in his hen house. On opening the door and lighting up the building, he was astounded to see a large bullsnake lying in the middle of the floor with its body coiled around two chickens, which were yet alive.

Mr. Clifford struck at the reptile, landing a blow on its head, when it immediately tightened its coils and crushed the chickens. The snake measured between 3 1/2 feet and 4 feet in length.

On Saturday evening the owner was again disturbed by a noise among his fowls and this time the cause for alarm in the hen house was made by a large frog who had just finished making an evening meal of one of the broilers. Mr. Clifford killed the frog.—Arizona Republican.

The Modern Shepherd.
At the head of a deep wooded canon, a branch of Upper McKay Creek, I came upon a sheep herder's tent yesterday, and at sight of the camp there in the woods I moralized upon the fate of the sheep herder, and my heart went out in sympathy for him in his alleged "loneliness."

But upon visiting his camp that evening I "took back" what I had said in sympathy for him and almost evaded the entertaining versatility of his conversation.

In one corner of the tent was a good plough and nearer it several choice records. For my delight he referred two or three selections by Patti, Caruso, Schumann-Heink and other singers, a speech by Bryan, a vaudeville selection and an act from Shakespeare's "Julius Caesar."

Under the head of his bed were half a dozen of the best magazines (some of which I had not found time to read), and at the foot of the bed lay well-thumbed copies of the latest novels.

I looked at this bronzed son of the hills in genuine awe. Here he may read, write, think, commune with nature for he carried to the great repositories of the artists, while the driven slaves of the city bend over a desk day and night to meet the terrible competition of this soulless commercial age.—East Oregonian.

Cheese in The Middle Ages.
Cheese must have been a rather dear or scarce article of food in 1502, for it is recorded in the "Black Books" of the Honourable Society of Lincoln's Inn that at Easter Term, 1502, it was "agreed by the governors and benchers" of that society that if any one of the society shall hereafter eat cheese immediately at the time of dinner or supper, or shall give cheese to any servant or to any other, or shall carry it away from the table at any time, he shall pay a penny for each offense. The butlers of the society shall present such defaulters weekly, under pain of expulsion from office.—Law Times.

HEALTHY PLANTS

Require the Most Careful Attention as Well as Good Soil.

Did you ever see a rosebush which despite the most beneficent environment of soil-of sunshine-and of atmosphere,—seemed never to achieve a healthy growth? A ton of manure will not help a plant that has a canker eating out its heart. You must destroy the cause before you can remove the effect.

You cannot cure Dandruff and Baldness by rubbing on hair lotions, and rubbing in vasoline, etc. You must look to the cause of the trouble—it's a germ at the roots of your hair which causes it to fall out. Newbro's Herpicide destroys the germ, and healthy hair is the sure result.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Portland, Me.
