

100 Pairs Muslin Curtains 49c a Pair

SATURDAY ONLY

Here is a very unusual offering in Muslin Curtains—an offering so good we bought one hundred pairs, about twice as many as we should have bought had we not bought them as a very rare bargain. Two and one-half yards long, having five rows of tucking, saw tooth edge and insertion. We never saw a Curtain more sightly for less than 75c a pair. By Saturday night at six o'clock we don't believe there'll be a pair left. So hustle.

The touchdown for the picked team was made by "Scotty" McDonald in the first half and Lester Carswell kicked the goal. When the game ended, the picked team was within a few feet of another touchdown. Moore had his shoulder injured and it was thought that his collar bone had been fractured.

"Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" comes to the opera house on Monday, October 31st. As a dramatic offering, it is proof if further evidence were wanting, that "there are as good fish in the sea of humanity as ever were caught." The dramatization of the book that was written concerning the heroine of the Cabbage Patch has a distinct and unmistakable touch of originality. It makes vivid the book's conception of the Cabbage Patch people; brings one nearer the sources of smiles and tears, and gives an insight into the tenderness, the sacrifices, the delights and pains in the lives of the humble.
