TO-DAY'S WAR NEWS

There Appears Now to Be No Way to Stop War Between Austria and Serbia.

England gave her first tangible evidence of supporting Turkey today in ordering the Battleships Glory and Prince of Wales and the cruisers Diana and Lancaster to proceed at once from Malta to the island of Lemnos in the Grecian Archipelago, belonging to Turkey. England has given up her hope of averting war and the comment of hostilities between Serbia and Austria is momentarily expected. The Stock Market is taking a serious view of the war outlook. Today's population was the heaviest for a long time.

The Turkish forts at Constantinople have been fired on a vessel in the Bosphorus flying a new Bulgarian flag. All the Serbian army reservists today were ordered to join colors on Sunday. A declaration of war against Austria will probably be made soon. The mobilization of troops is carried on amidst scenes of greatest enthusiasm. Serbia is retaliating for Austria's occupation of the frontier by seizing the roads and bridges of the Bosnian border, where Austria is yet unprepared to offer resistance.

Movement in London Markets. London, Oct. 9.—Lloyds today is clearing 20 per cent. for a month's insurance against an Austro-Serbian war. The admiralty admits that British warships have sailed to the Aegean sea to "watch events."

Fisher and William G. Fisher, was reopened yesterday by George W. McAuslin, who claims to be the owner. In the afternoon Sheriff Allen closed the Boston store on a writ of attachment for $30,000 in favor of A. W. & W. G. Fisher, who claim that they have made an agreement and are entitled to the store. Mr. McAuslin has attached the store of Mr. Fisher in Newburyport, Mass., also claiming damages for failure to carry out the trade.

But one game will be played at Detroit before the scene shifts to Chicago while the Tuesday and Wednesday games are to be played at Detroit and the sixth game, if one is necessary will then be transferred to Chicago. There have been some additional rules adopted governing such contests although in most respects the rules will be as for such similar games. The national base ball commission will be in charge, but the immediate control of the games is given to two umpires from each league. For the National league, Emory O'Day and Klem were designated by President Pullman, while President Johnson of the American league named Sheridan and Connolly to represent his organization. One of the rules as announced by the commission says: "Neither one of the contesting clubs shall be permitted to pay a bonus or prize to any or all of its players who may take part in the series either before or after the same has been completed and the commission will retain the certified check which each club is required to deposit under rule six, until such time as they may be satisfied that there has been no violation of the rule, and in case there is a violation of this rule, then said certified check shall be cashed and credited to the funds of the National commission.

REFUSED DIVORCE TO VIRGINIA HARNED

Judge Stated That it was an Unusual Proceeding For Petitioner Not to Appear in Court. Reno, Nev., Oct. 9.—Judge Pike yesterday refused to grant Virginia Harned Sothorn a divorce from her actor husband, Edward H. Sothorn. "This I think is a unique proceeding for a party to attempt to secure a divorce without appearing in court. I think I will deny the decree. If the interested parties do not deem it of enough importance to grace the court with their presence, I don't see why their family disturbances should be aired here."

CARS COLLIDE IN HOLLOW

One Man Dead and Another is Fatally Hurt

NEAR HAVERHILL, MASS.

Four Other Persons Were Seriously Injured on the Boston and Northern Trolley Line This Morning.

Haverhill, Mass., Oct. 9.—One man was killed, another was fatally hurt, four were seriously injured and more than a score others were slightly injured this morning when a work car collided head-on with a passenger car on Georgetown on the Boston and Northern trolley line. The dead: Emory Jones. The fatally hurt: Benjamin Dresser. The seriously injured: Mary Sheehan, Leo Ryan, Frank Gallagher, George Duffy. The accident happened in a hollow and both cars were running down hill, meeting at the bottom. It was due to a misunderstanding of signals and to a dense fog. Emory Jones of Groveland was the motorman of the passenger car, and Dresser was riding in the front vestibule of the same car. Jones died in a few minutes and Dresser, the doctors declare, cannot live long. Forty-five Italian workmen were in the open car. Many jumped and the rest scattered on all sides. They escaped with slight injuries. Mary Sheehan and Leo Ryan resided in Groveland, while Frank Gallagher and George Duffy live in Georgetown. The injuries sustained by the others are not considered severe.

DRUGGISTS WILL NOT ASK FOR CHANCES

Although They Are Not Satisfied with the License Law as Regards Fifth Class Liquor Licenses. Vergennes, Oct. 9.—A committee from the Vermont Pharmaceutical association met here yesterday for discussion on subjects pertaining to the betterment of their vocation. It was decided that Vermont druggists will not ask for any changes regarding the fifth class license for the sale of wines and liquors from the present legislature. The druggists believe that their efforts along that line in the past have been misconstrued and misunderstood by the public and while the law at present is very unsatisfactory from the druggists' standpoint, that any move for a change in the law should come from the public. They would like to see some modification as regarding labeling in the new "Pure Food and Drug" law and believe that the poison law should be changed, or at least that the present law be better enforced. It is said that there is a letter in the matter of the sale of morphine, etc. which ought to be remedied. The druggists think that those who sell the poisons should be held to stricter account.

COMMENT ON RAILROADS ENTERING BARRE

All of Them Have a Chance for Improvement, According to the Belief of the State Railroad Commissioners.

The biennial report of the state board of railroad commissioners has the following to say of the Barre and Montpelier Power and Traction company's line between Barre and Montpelier: "This road needs care of larger capacity than the present cars, double-trucked and operated with air brakes, all of which would accommodate the traffic better and more safely. General speaking, the track and road-bed of this line is in good condition and the bridges substantial and well kept. The commission's report on the condition of the Barre railroad includes the following statement: "The road generally is in good condition. The requirements as to crossing, signs, block switches, frogs and guard rails are well complied with. This road was exempted from abolishing a grade crossing both in 1907 and 1908, though in 1908 a hearing was had in which the question of abolishing three dangerous crossings located in the city of Barre was thoroughly gone into. But the expense entailed was so large and the amount the state could contribute after taking care of the larger roads so small that the work was postponed. Without referring specifically to the Barre branch of the Central Vermont railroad the board says: "The branch lines of this company are not in so good condition as the business and the income derived therefrom should fairly demand. This is especially true of the Burlington and Lamolle and the Richford branches, which are equipped with old and badly battered 56-pound rail, and whose road bed is not properly ballasted nor sufficiently well tamped. We intend to require that these branches shall receive more attention now that the main line is in excellent condition."

Concerning the Montpelier & Wells River railroad the board finds little fault. It says: "This road with the exception of its bridges is in excellent condition and well maintained. Most of the bridge structures are of wood and have been in service since the road was built in 1873 and are not adapted to the want of modern traffic. Though work is now being done toward strengthening several of these bridges, they should be, at an early date, replaced by modern steel structures."

MOTHER AND CHILD BADLY BURNED

Etta Kirby of Winooski May Not Recover from Burns Sustained at Her Home Last Evening.

Winooski, Oct. 9.—Etta, the seven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kirby, was frightfully burned with scalds and scorchings on Monday evening and is not expected to survive her injuries. The little girl had gone to the bath room and lighted a match when her clothing caught fire. She ran from the room and into the street, her clothing a mass of flames. Her mother, hearing her cries, followed her and after a short chase caught her in her arms in an effort to smother the flames. In doing so she was also badly burned about the arms and hands. The child was carried to the house and Drs. Hill, Theriault and Burdick summoned. They found her a mass of burns, about the body, arms and head, and grave doubts are expressed for her recovery.

MISSING LIST GROWS AT RICHFORD TODAY

Books Show That 19 Employees Are Missing, Which With Two Women Killed on Track, May Make Deaths in Elevator Fire 21. Richford, Oct. 9.—The discovery of the time-keeper's book indicates that 19 employees in the Canadian Pacific grain elevator, which burned Wednesday night, are still missing, and it is believed that their bodies are in the ruins of the elevator. The bodies are still hanging today and it is, therefore, impossible to begin the search for the bodies. Up to this time only a few bones have been found on the edges of the ruins, and a watch which cannot be identified. The remains of Mrs. Jerry Jellefour, the woman who was walking on the track near the time of the explosion, have not been found. On Sunday afternoon a citizens' memorial meeting will be held in Ayer opera house. By that time it may have become possible to search the ruins.

LAST ISSUE TOMORROW.

The Vermont Union Signal Will Be Discontinued. Rutland, Oct. 9.—The Vermont Union Signal, the official organ of the American Federation of Labor in this state, will make its last appearance Saturday. The question of continuing the publication of the paper came up at a meeting of the Central Trades and Labor council Wednesday evening and, after considerable discussion, it was voted to instruct the trustees to dispose of the property. The Signal has been in existence since 1903. Many of the local labor leaders viewed with regret the prospect of discontinuing the publication of the paper, but in view of the fact that it was not getting proper support from the union working men, and because of the difficulty of finding a suitable managing editor to take Mr. Halvosa's place, it was thought best to wind up the affairs of the sheet. Mr. Halvosa was given a visiting vote of thanks for his services in connection with the paper during the last three years. Remember the New England Fruit company has a big supply of preserving peaches and pears. Better buy now, for this will probably be the last good one of the season. Big shipment of all kinds of grapes for Saturday at almost your own price.

DIED VERY SUDDENLY.

Oren A. Burbank Was Stricken While Seated at Supper Table. Oren A. Burbank died last night at the home of his daughter, Mrs. F. R. Northrop, very suddenly. He was seated at the supper table late in the day when he was stricken with acute indigestion. Dr. M. L. Chandler was hastily summoned, and everything possible was done, but the end came at nine o'clock, within three hours of the time that he was stricken. He had been in somewhat poor health for a few years. Mr. Burbank was born in Norwich on May 14, 1833, and was, therefore, 75 years of age. He spent his early life in Norwich and then went to Royalton, where he remained practically all the remainder of his life. Since four years ago, when his wife died, he had spent much of the time with his daughter in Barre. His wife was Miss Mary Bewsey of South Royalton; they were married in 1857 and had lived in Royalton for 39 years when she was taken away in 1904. Four children survive, they being Charles D. Burbank of Providence, R. I., Mrs. Lisle B. McIntosh of South Royalton, Mrs. Frank R. Northrop of Barre, and Miss Helen L. Burbank, who is a teacher in the Brook street school building. Mr. Burbank was a lifelong member of the Congregational church and was a deacon of the church of that denomination in Royalton. There will be a prayer service at the home of Mrs. Northrop tomorrow forenoon at 10 o'clock and the body will be taken to South Royalton, where the funeral service will be held Sunday afternoon at the home of Mrs. McIntosh. Interment will be in the cemetery in that village.

RUSH FOR HOME EMPTYS LEGISLATURE

There Were Not Solons Enough Present To-day to Do Business Properly—An Early Adjournment to Next Monday.

State House, Oct. 9. An array of empty benches met Speaker Cheney when he called the House to order this morning for the third day of the legislative session, and there was likewise quite a lack of members in the Senate. The fact is that the members had largely succumbed to the "home fever," and they left this morning to spend Sunday at their own residences. This was a poor response to the labors of Speaker Cheney, who had toiled late into the night to get his committees ready to announce to-day. Since there was such a slim attendance, he postponed the announcement to next Tuesday. Both branches soon adjourned this forenoon to meet again Monday afternoon, and the State House was almost deserted but little done to-day. In the House DeLoer of Montpelier introduced a resolution granting the use of Representatives Hall on October 28 to the Officers' Reunion company; passed. Otis of Sutton had the honor of making the motion that "when this House adjourns it be until next Monday afternoon." The few that were present made haste to pass the motion. In the Senate, Finn of Windsor was the chief actor to-day, making the motion that the Senate adjourn to Monday afternoon and also offering a joint resolution providing for a stenographer for the secretary of the Senate and the clerk of the House. This resolution had previously been introduced in the House. Secretary of State Bailey has announced the appointment of Miss Mary Bates of Essex Junction to be engraving clerk. She is employed by the Burlington Trust company, but has been granted a leave of absence. Loving Cup for Ex-Governor Proctor. At the Pavilion hotel last night, ex-Governor Proctor gave a farewell banquet to the members of his staff, their wives and a few other guests. During the course of the evening E. S. Kinsley, in behalf of the staff, presented their former chief with a handsome loving cup, to which presentation ex-Governor Proctor made fitting response.

OPENS WITH 500 PEOPLE.

Ladies of Clan Gordon Score a Success at Stat of Fair. Few local fairs have ever got a better start than that which the Ladies of Clan Gordon had last evening when their fifth annual open-air at Hale's pavilion. There were fully 500 people in the hall, and all thoroughly enjoyed the program of the evening. The fair was usually opened by a brief address by John Stewart, chief of Clan Gordon. Mr. Gordon spoke of the growth of the Ladies clan and the success which had attended their fairs. The entertainment of the evening consisted of a drill by 16 of the young ladies of the order under drill master Arthur Graydon. This drill was one of the most finished productions of its kind ever seen in the city and the manner in which the complicated evolutions were gone through showed the thorough manner in which they had been trained. The young ladies were attired in blue uniforms which were secured especially for the occasion. The uniforms were trimmed with silver braid and with them were worn regulation military caps. The members of the drill team are Misses Bella Dunham, Ina Patterson, Barbara McDonald, Elsie McDonald, Mary Walker, Margaret Beattie, Jennie Leitch, Helen Johnston, Margaret Johnston, Christine Rae, Annie Sowers, Jennie Carr, Lena Petrie, Lena Sowers, Eva McMillan and Mrs. R. SENTENCE SUSPENDED.

Ernest Rayno Will Be Put Out on a Farm. Ernest Rayno, the 15 year old boy who was arrested yesterday by Officer Hamel on a warrant charging him with theft, was brought before Judge Scott yesterday afternoon and pleaded guilty. The judge suspended the sentence for one week to give the boy's father a chance to get him a place on a farm away from the city. If he is successful in finding the boy a place he will probably be allowed to go on probation and if not will be sentenced to the reform school. The thefts with which the boy was charged were the larceny of a watch from Auguste Chatotte and hiring a gun from A. Giachino, which he afterwards sold. The boy's father was accepted as bail in the sum of $100 until the case is decided. Fined For Intoxication. Deputy Sheriff George Morris went to the home of W. A. Martin in Barre-Town yesterday and there arrested a man named Joseph Lapoint for intoxication. Lapoint was brought before Judge Scott yesterday afternoon and pleaded guilty. He was fined $25 with costs of $8.50, with an alternative sentence of 29 days in jail. Lapoint paid his fine and was discharged. May Join Their Forces. An effort is being made to consolidate the Montpelier board of trade and the Merchants' association. This question has been informally discussed for some time, and at a meeting of the Merchants' association held Wednesday evening the proposition was favored, and it is believed the consolidation will be soon brought about. TALK OF THE TOWN. The Ladies of the Universalist Union voted at the meeting held Thursday afternoon to hold a fair the 12th and 13th of November. Further notice will be given later. The man who was taken into custody by Chief of Police Faulkner Wednesday night and was pronounced insane by City Physician Dr. P. F. BODY CUT IN PIECES

Grewsome Find on the Railroad Track

IN MONTPELIER TO-DAY

Body Supposedly That of Domenica Cartelli—It Was Horribly Mangled—Much Money in the Pockets.

A grewsome sight met the gaze of several Montpelier & Wells River railroad employes when they went to work in the railroad yards at Montpelier this morning. It was the horribly mangled body of a man. The trunk was severed, the head was almost cut off, one arm was jammed off, and the body was terribly bruised. The face was covered with blood and bruises, thus making identification difficult. The body was lying on the Central Vermont railroad track near the shop of the Montpelier grocery company. The man may have been lying in the path of a train, or he may have tried in vain to board a moving train as it passed through. If the death was due to the latter cause, he probably was killed by the early morning passenger train to this city from Montpelier Junction. The crew of the early morning freight, which passed ahead, report that they saw no man or signs of a body when they passed the spot, although it is admitted they might not have seen it on account of the darkness. On orders of Mayor Dawley and Health Officer Lindsay, the body was removed to Johnson & Hall's undertaking rooms. The body was clothed in checked trousers, a dark coat, a soft shirt and black shoes. A few feet away was a cap hanging in a visor. The features were regular. The hair was dark and curly, while a short mustache was of light color. A wallet in the coat contained $28 in bills and in the trousers' pockets was found $5.70 in change. There were several blank envelopes, a blank book and some blank papers also in the pockets of the coat. On the first page of the blank book was the name Cartelli Domenica. There was no other writing, but several columns of figures, indicating that they had been made by a workman figuring up his time. A large number of people visited the undertaking rooms to view the remains, among whom were many Italians, as it was thought that the victim was an Italian granite cutter who had been employed either in Barre or in Montpelier.
