Farm and Garden THE HOME GREENHOUSE.

Easy to Have Fresh Vegetables in Winter.

"The old idea that only the extremely rich can afford to have fresh vegetables during the winter months is a mistake," declared a woman who has supplied her family with fresh vegetables for the last four winters and has sold enough besides to pay all the expenses of heating and working her greenhouse. "With only an ordinary greenhouse and the same amount of care that is given geraniums, palms and other house plants an abundant supply of fresh vegetables can be had all the winter long. "I have a three-quarter span greenhouse eighteen feet long. It is divided in the middle of a glass partition for the sake of controlling the temperature.

"In one compartment I raise tomatoes and string beans along with roses and other flowers requiring a warm house. The second compartment is almost exclusively devoted to vegetables, though I usually try to have a few carnations on hand for the sake of their blossoms and perfume.

"Almost every variety of vegetable that grows in our gardens may be successfully raised in the hot-house excepting green corn, peppers, eggplant and such subtropical plants. When it comes to money returns, tomatoes and lettuce are in greatest demand during the cold months and fetch almost any price that you choose to ask.

"Last winter I sold a dozen tomatoes for a dozen dollars. They were nice, smooth fellows, of a beautiful color, but not large. They were bought by a family whose country home is near mine and who were giving a luncheon, and fresh tomatoes were about the nicest and most expensive salad to be had.

"That was during the first week in December, and those tomato plants had already been bearing a month. Properly managed tomato plants can safely be depended on to bear from November to June.

"The plants should be put on the benches in the greenhouse in rather poor soil, as blossoms set much sooner in it than in rich earth. When the first crop is well on, manure should be added and the application continued all the winter and spring to induce new growth with fresh blossoms and fruit.

"During the first two months it is necessary to fertilize the blossoms by applying the pollen with a camel's hair brush. When the plants get older it is only necessary to jar the vines every day or so, and the pollen will spread sufficiently.

"When the vines grow too freely I prune them thoroughly. In some instances I prefer the one stem system of pruning, tying to an upright wire. The temperature of my tomato house is between 60 and 75 degrees.

"Unless a person has tasted the string beans grown under glass he really does not know how delicious a common vegetable can be. I have found the Early Warwick the most desirable variety for growing in the greenhouse. It is extremely easy to grow, does not require a very rich soil, and occupies the space a short time, usually from six to eight weeks.

"In the colder half of my greenhouse the temperature ranges from 50 to 65 degrees. Lettuce, cauliflower and radishes are the three vegetables which are to be had there every day throughout the winter."

AFRAID TO EAT MEAT?

Give Your Stomach a Good Eat Without Fear

STOPS FOOD FERMENTING

Let Diapsin Digest Your Meals Until Your Stomach Gets Strong—Eat Your Favorite Foods Without Feeling Miserable.

As there is often some one in your family who suffers an attack of indigestion or some form of stomach trouble, why don't you keep a case of Diapsin in the house handy?

This harmless blessing will digest anything you can eat without the slightest discomfort, and regulate a sour stomach five minutes after.

Tell your pharmacist to let you read the formula plainly printed on these 50-cent cases of Diapsin. Then you will readily see why they cure indigestion, sour stomach, heartburn and prevent at once such miseries as belching of gas, eructations of sour undigested food, nausea, headaches, dizziness, constipation and other stomach disorders.

Some folks have tried so long to find relief from indigestion with the common every-day cures advertised that they have almost made up their minds that they have something else wrong, or believe theirs is a case of nervousness, gastritis, catarrh of the stomach or cancer.

This is a serious mistake. Your real trouble is, what you eat does not digest; instead, it ferments and sours, turns into acid, gas and stomach poison, which will putrefy in the entire digestive tract and intestines, and, besides, poison the breath with nauseous odors.

A hearty appetite, with thorough digestion, and without the slightest discomfort or misery of the stomach, is waiting for you as soon as you decide to try Diapsin.

One candy-like Triangule, taken after eating, will promptly digest all your food, the same as a strong, healthy stomach would do it.

LESSON TO B. T. WASHINGTON.

The Lynchers Leave the Bodies for Him to See.

Jackson, Miss., Oct. 14.—In order that Booker T. Washington might see them when the Illinois Central train bearing him from Helena, Ark., to Memphis, passed the bodies of James and Frank Davis, negroes, who were lynched at Lulu, near here, were left hanging from the limb of a tree directly on the line of the railroad until a train had gone by. This was done because the trouble which led to the lynching occurred while the negroes were returning from Helena, where they heard Mr. Washington deliver an address, and the lynchers wished him to see the bodies of the victims.

Significance is attached to the incident here because of the fact that in The Issue, a Jackson publication, of which James K. Vardaman is editor, there appeared only last Saturday a lengthy attack on Booker T. Washington, ending with this paragraph: "If Booker T. Washington makes a half-dozen more speeches in the state of Mississippi, mark the prediction: It will be the cause of a few innocent negroes being hung and a source of infinite worry to the housekeeper, who is daily confronted with the servant problem. For all of which we will be indebted to a few pale-faced neophytes who are endeavoring to do good."

The two negroes were causing a disturbance on an Illinois Central train on their way from Helena, when John O. Kendall, the conductor, attempted to quiet them. They shot and killed him. A committee of white men who were passengers were formed immediately, and the negroes were lynched at the next stop.

Would Mortgage the Farm.

A farmer on rural route 2, Empire, Ga., W. A. Floyd by name, says: "Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured the two worst sores I ever saw; one on my hand and one on my leg. It is worth more than its weight in gold. I would not be without it if I had to mortgage the farm to get it." Only 25c. at Red Cross Pharmacy, Rickett & Wells' drug store.

ABOUT THE STATE

Plimington Daggett, aged 79 years, who died recently at his home in Rutland, three times in his youth journeyed to California in search for gold, and once found a nugget which he sold for about $2,900.

A. M. Tiebout of Hardwick, who has read recently about champion wood-choppers writes as follows: "I used to think I was a wood chopper. At one time I cut in 23 hours 13 cords of four cut wood, birch and maple, and split and piled it."

The Rev. D. L. Sanford, who assumed the position of pastor of the Episcopal church of Vermont last spring for a period of six months, to test the necessity of such work, is to continue it, and arrangements have been made by the Rt. Rev. Arthur C. A. Hall, bishop of the diocese, looking to its permanency.

About 2 o'clock Sunday morning an extra freight was partially derailed near the Middlebury station. The trouble started with a hot box but a broken axle figured most prominently. Two box cars and a car of coal were derailed and were plowing straight for the station when stopped. A wrecking train from Rutland cleared the tracks in a few hours, the northbound sleeper from New York being the principal train delayed.

Dr. Thomas Mound of Rutland, is confined to his home as result of a peculiar accident. While eating cereal he took into his mouth a piece of glass which in some way had gotten into the breakfast. His throat was badly cut, and although he is able to eat about the house, he cannot take nourishment with out suffering great pain. The physicians believe that there is not now any glass in the throat but whether it was swallowed or expelled from the mouth during a vomiting spell following the accident has not been determined.

Woodbury Granite Company's Trade Mark.

It will be noted on page 1 on this issue the advertisement of the Woodbury Granite company and the trade-mark which this company has adopted. They state they have found it necessary to adopt this course through the exceedingly bitter and unfair methods which have been used against their granite during the past twelve months, and also because they wish to impress upon the trade that in Basha granite they have a stone that will hold its own for the class of work for which it is intended. This is the first trade-mark to be adopted by any granite manufacturing concern in this country. Personally, we have always believed in something of this kind, to be used in connection with granite work, and wherever used it should be an indication of not only the good quality of the granite, but also the good craftsmanship; and we have no doubt that the Woodbury Granite company will see that wherever their trade-mark is used that it is upon work which is the best of its kind—"Granite, Marble and Bronze."

GOT HIS HAIR BACK.

Was Perfectly Bald When He Started to Use Newbro's Herpicide.

Frederick Mansell, Maryland block, Butte, Montana, bought a bottle of Newbro's Herpicide, April 6, '08, and began to use it for entire baldness. The hair follicles in his scalp were not dead and in 20 days he had hair all over his head. On July 2 he wrote, "and today my hair is as thick and luxuriant as any one could wish." Newbro's Herpicide works on an old principle and with a new discovery—destroys the cause and you remove the effect. Herpicide destroys the germ that causes dandruff, falling hair, and finally baldness, so that with the cause gone the effect cannot remain. Stops falling hair at once and a new growth starts. Sold by leading druggists. Send 5c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.
