These women are only a few of thousands of living witnesses of the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to cure female diseases. Not one of these women ever received compensation in any form for the use of their names in the advertisement—but are willing that we should refer to them because of the good they may do other suffering women to prove that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a reliable and honest medicine, and that the statements made in our advertisements regarding its merit are the truth and nothing but the truth.

MAGAZINE REVIEW.
A New Chance For The Birds.
High above the marshy wastes which border the Klamath Lakes in Southern Oregon a lone white heron winged his desolate flight a month ago, his beady telescopic eyes turned now right, now left, while from his needle pointed beak dismal and discordant cries sounded a requiem for the departed members of his kind, for he was alone in the world—the sole survivor of a once proud family.

On broad pinions the snowy survivor of a former legion floated to the East, and then to the West; the far-seeing eyes scanning vainly each stretch of lake, land or soddy waste for a familiar patch of white which would betoken the presence of father, mother, mate, chick or friend, but he saw none for President Roosevelt had been too late in setting aside the Klamath district as a national bird reserve and the delay had sealed the fate of the white heron family.

But one is left, according to the officials of the United States Land Office and of the National association of Audubon societies; just one white sample remaining of myriad thousands of one of the most beautiful of all native birds the crane. Desires of fashion having brought about so savage a butchery and so persistent a hunt for white plumage that biological historians will, in future works, record the melancholy fact that in the year A. D. 1908 the white heron followed the great auk over the dismal trail that stretches backwards to the Ages that are gone.

If President Roosevelt had only signed that executive order one year ago—or even six months—the heron would have been saved, but he signed it in September and that was a bit too late.—From "To Give the Birds a Refuge," in Technical World Magazine for April.

KILLS RICH LUMBERMAN.
Master Mechanic Day Shoots Duncan at Clio Ark.
Pine Bluff, Ark., March 24.—Dr. Henry Duncan, vice-president of the Bluff Lumber company, and one of the wealthiest men of this state, was shot and killed at Clio by John Day, master mechanic of the Clio mill. Day surrendered and asserts he acted in self-defense. Day had been asked by the president of the lumber company, John F. Rutherford, to tender his resignation. This request, Mr. Rutherford stated, was because of Day's failure to respond to a letter written him some weeks ago.

Duncan went to Clio to inspect the plant, and it is stated, was greeted cordially by Day. The two went to the latter's apartments. Occupants heard pistol shots and met Day emerging from the room with a revolver, and Duncan had fallen with five bullet wounds.

An Unusual Real Estate Issue.
On Saturday, April 3, the Boston Evening Transcript will contain a vast amount of matter of special interest to persons looking for summer homes to purchase or to rent; and of more than usual interest to people desiring to buy or hire city, suburban or country properties of various classes. The real estate agents are being called upon earlier this year than has been the custom in the past, for estates in desirable centers, and the demand seems to more than equal the supply. The opportunity for giving publicity to properties of all descriptions through the medium of a newspaper like the Boston Transcript in the issue of April 3 will surely not pass unheeded. Builders of new houses, property owners who are desirous of selling or exchanging their holdings, agents and others will not permit such a chance to slip by. The "Real Estate" and "Houses for the Summer" advertisements of that date will be of great interest. Each class will be placed under respective headings if received in good season for publication.

His Inventive Genius.

Johnny Bounce and I were schoolmates and best friends. Johnny was younger than I, but stronger. Every boy who could lick me availed himself of the opportunity just for the fun of it. Johnny could lick most of them and, noticing that I needed a friend, began to lick every boy that licked me. This had a wholesome effect, and I was soon left alone. Indeed, I am not sure that I did not impose on some of them, knowing that a dread of John's big fist would deter them from giving me a deserved punishment.

When we left school to go out into the world I was very pretty big boys then I said to John Bounce: "Johnny, I want you to understand that I owe you a whole lot. If I ever get a chance to make a stand off for what you've done for me, I'll do it."

"Oh, you don't owe me anything, Tom," he said. "Besides, I guess we'll both get along pretty well."

I didn't see John after our parting for years. Then one day a man came into my office very forlorn appearance. I put my fingers in my pocket to get out 10 cents when I noticed the fellow looking at me with a quizzical expression.

"You don't know me, Tom?"
"No, I don't."
"I'm Johnny Bounce."

My heart sank, for I knew that the world had been too much for John. However, I gave him a warm grasp, asked him to sit down and tell me what he had been doing. He said he hadn't had much success thus far, but he had "iron in the fire," some of which he thought would pan out very big. I had heard of these "irons" before in connection with men who had lost their grip on the world and knew that instead of irons they were gases.

But I saw that John was sincere, so I did not discourage him.

"You can't run a thing like that, John," I said, referring to one of his schemes, "without being 'grub staked.' I haven't any capital to put in, but I wish you would let me lend you what you need from time to time. I've got $10 here in my—No? Don't need it? Well, whenever you do come right in here and get it."

I knew perfectly well that he needed money, but could not bring himself to take it from me, whose equal he had been in everything except an ability to punch boys' heads, and in this he had been my superior. I was obliged to let him go without affording him relief, but I took his address, resolving to find some indirect way of giving him money. But I was very busy at the time and put the matter off. Besides, I am not an inventive genius and failed to think of any method of lending John Bounce money without appearing to give it.

One morning a woman came into my office and said she had heard John Bounce, who boarded with her, speak of me. She said that Bounce owed her $75.46 for board, and she would like me to tell her if he had any property on which she could levy. I told her that Mr. Bounce was a perfectly honorable man, but was trying to carry through certain schemes without sufficient capital. She left with a check for the amount of her bill. A week later I received a note from John regretting that the woman had thought it necessary to adopt such strenuous measures and assuring me that one of his irons was at white heat and he would soon call and return the amount. I admitted his plan of enabling me to help him indirectly.

John never came to see me. His pride, his sensitiveness, whatever it was, wouldn't let him. One day a long while after the board bill episode I received a note from an undertaker telling me that a man named John Bounce had died in a boarding house. A letter from me had been found in his room, and since there was no money to bury him it was deemed advisable to notify me. The amount required was about $100.

I was sorry now since poor John was gone that I had not been able to do more for him. I inclosed a check for the amount and authorized a call for more. I did the latter as an excuse to my conscience for not attending to the matter personally. I couldn't bring myself to such a melancholy duty.

A few months later I received a note

Dyspepsia Appendicitis Kodol

PREVENTS DYSPEPSIA
A great many persons do not know this—that such diseases as appendicitis, cancer of the stomach, etc., result from chronic dyspepsia—which, in time is almost sure to follow close upon neglected indigestion. But there is little need of considering these facts, when Kodol will give such quick relief from the digestive disorder—and prevent all the serious consequences. Just as quickly as Kodol is taken into the stomach, it at once commences the perfect and natural digestion of all the food in the stomach.

Our Guarantee. Get a dollar bottle of Kodol. If you are not benefited—the druggist will at once return your money. Don't hesitate any druggist will sell you Kodol on these terms. The dollar bottle contains 1/2 times as much as the 50c bottle. Kodol is prepared at the laboratories of E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago.

from one who wrote that he had been an intimate friend of the late Mr. John Bounce, the inventor. It was proposed by several of Mr. Bounce's friends to place a headstone at his grave. There were four men ready to contribute $50 each. The cost of the stone would be $200. Knowing that I had been a schoolmate of Mr. Bounce, he had ventured to write to know if I would make one of five. I at once sent my check for $50.

A year passed. One morning I received a note from a lawyer stating that John Bounce had died a few days before (my hair stood on end with astonishment, that Mr. Bounce had left me his sole heir (I wondered), that Mr. Bounce had patented a mechanical toy, and that a toy manufacturing company stood ready to give $25,000 for the sole right to manufacture (I tramped my desk for support).

This wonder turned out to be a reality. I accepted the offer, and when the check was paid my eyes filled with tears. My poor, dear Johnny Bounce had succeeded after all, but too late. My thoughts were only on that genius for inventing methods by which I could give him money without wounding the feelings of either himself or me.

NOEL WESLEY BATES.

BREAKS A WINDOW TO SAVE THE MONEY

Clerk in Bank and Steamship Office Huris a Paperweight to Scare the Hold-up Men.

New York, March 24.—Just before noon yesterday, when only one clerk, Samuel Katz, was in the banking and steamship office of Max Kobre & Co., at 81 Grand street, Williamsburg, a stranger entered the door. He was a short, thickest man about thirty-five years old, with red hair and a scrubby red moustache.

"I want to buy a ticket," said the red-headed man.

"All right, sir. Where to?" asked Katz.

"Well, gimme a ticket to h—, but in the meantime hand over all the cash in the safe, and be quick about it." And the red-headed man aimed a revolver at Katz's nose.

Behind the red-headed man stood a younger one clean shaven and hardly more than twenty-one years old. At the door stood a third, also clean shaven, but middle aged.

GOVERNOR CURRY WILL STAY.

New Mexico Executive Withdraws His Resignation.

Santa Fe, N. M., March 24.—Governor Curry, in response to a telegram from Washington yesterday, telegraphed President Taft withdrawing his resignation as governor of New Mexico.

POPE STILL FIGHTS ITALY

Priest Excommunicated for His Politics

WAS RECENTLY ELECTED

To the Chamber of Deputies—Two New Planets Found, It Is Said—The Discovery Is a French Astronomer's Claim.

Rome, March 24.—The Supreme Congregation of the Holy Office has issued a major excommunication against Father Romolo Murri, leader of the Catholic Democrats, who was elected to the Chamber of Deputies at the last general election as a Christian Democrat. The excommunication deprives the priest of all ecclesiastical communion, being equivalent to an anathema, which is pronounced upon the greatest offenders only. Father Murri was the first priest to enter Parliament after the fall of the temporal power, but on his formal excommunication he will not even be allowed to wear the ecclesiastical robes.

Father Romolo Murri was suspended in 1907 by the pope for disobedience of the papal instructions regarding the behavior of the clergy. This punishment aroused considerable excitement at Rome, principally among the Liberal section of the Catholics. This suspension deprived Father Murri of exercising his clerical office and of enjoying the fruits of his ministry. The later part of last year it was reported that Father Murri would be excommunicated, not for heresy, but for disobedience in writing and lecturing in a spirit of disapproval on the policy of the pope. Father Murri was director of the National Society for Cultural Education, which was organized in 1902 for the purpose of conducting a Christian-Socialist propaganda. Among the publications of the society was a trilingual review entitled, "Social, Culture," of which Father Murri was the editor.

TWO NEW PLANETS FOUND?
The Announcement Made by a French Astronomer.

Paris, March 24.—The astronomer Gaillet announced before the Academy of Sciences Monday night that he had discovered two new planets situated beyond Neptune, which is the outermost planet of the solar system. M. Gaillet stated that he had used the methods which had enabled Leverrier by mathematical calculation to assign to Neptune a position within the boundaries of a certain region, which permitted of its discovery in 1846. M. Gaillet estimated that one of the planets was forty-five times and the other sixty times the distance of the earth from the sun, or 4,185,000,000 and 5,280,000,000 miles respectively. The planet Neptune, it is estimated, is 2,800,000,000 miles from the sun.

LIBERALS STAY IN MANITOBA.

Present Government Gets Good Majority in Provincial Election.

Winnipeg, Man., March 24.—General elections for the legislature of Alberta province were held Monday, and the Rutherford (Liberal) government was sustained by a sweeping majority. Out of thirty-nine seats in the House, two elections being deferred, the Conservatives got only five seats. Seven seats are in doubt. The Rutherford government recently granted a $27,000,000 guaranty for building branch railway lines.

MONTENEGRINS TRACK AUSTRIAN

Patrol Is Charged Brought to Montenegro Foreign Minister.

Cettinje, Montenegro, March 24.—The Austrian minister, Baron Von Rufenfeld, has complained to the foreign minister, Dr. Tomonovitch, that a Montenegro patrol attacked an Austrian patrol recently on Austrian soil on the frontier near Budua and too two Austrians as prisoners. Nothing is known here of the circumstances of the case and the foreign minister has ordered an investigation.

SOCIAL LEADER ENDS LIFE.

Wealthy Pittsburg Woman Commits Suicide on the Street.

Pittsburg, March 24.—The county morgue officials admitted yesterday that the woman who Monday afternoon committed suicide on a street in the East End residence district, and who had been listed at the morgue as "Mrs. O'Brien," was Mrs. James B. Murdock of the fashionable East End and member of one of the rich and exclusive families of the city.

CIRCLES THE GLOBE.

Woman Home After Touring the World Alone.

New York, March 24.—When Mrs. Winifred Sercombe of Minneapolis, who arrived here Monday evening from London on the Atlantic Transport liner Minneapolis, reaches her home she will have made the tour of the world unattended. Mrs. Sercombe started three years ago, and never experienced the slightest difficulty in traveling safely alone in Asia, Africa and Europe.

NOVEL FORM OF SWINDLING.

Hoboken Concern Seemingly Victimized to the Extent of $44,250.

New York, March 24.—The refusal of a cable company employe to suppress a message sent by the banking house of John C. Steneck & Sons of Hoboken, N. J., to a firm of bankers in Frankfurt-on-Main, Germany, today brought to light a novel form of swindling by which the Hoboken concern would seem to have been victimized to the extent of $44,250.

Fritz Marx, who described himself as a real estate speculator, and Leopold Martin, a confidential secretary employed by the Steneck firm, were arrested charged with operating the swindle.

Last summer Marx inherited $15,000 from an aunt in Germany, the money being placed by the executor of the estate in the hands of Seidenburg & Co., a firm of Frankfurt bankers, for transmittal. Acting as American agents of the Frankfurt house, Steneck & Sons paid over the $15,000 to Marx. Later Marx applied for a loan of $25,250 and for another of $20,000, representing that he had $75,000 on deposit with Seidenburg & Co. in Frankfurt. This money was advanced following the posting of a letter to Frankfurt making the usual inquiries.

A member of the Steneck firm, who had become suspicious, sent a cablegram making further inquiries regarding Marx's credit. Martin tried to intercept the message, and confessed he had intercepted the letter written by his employer to the Frankfurt firm asking for information as to Marx's financial responsibility, and that he and Father Murri had forged a letterhead and the reply, and had it mailed from Frankfurt.

HETTY GREEN MOVES.

Tried to Tax Her on Personal Property in Hoboken.

New York, March 24.—The flat which Mrs. Hetty Green and her daughter occupied before her marriage in Hoboken is to let. Mrs. Green has moved away. She did not leave word where she was going. The moving men who carted her belongings from the house only knew that they were to meet her at a point in Manhattan.

Mrs. Green has been lonely since her daughter married. A week ago, for the sake of companionship, she went down to the bathhouse and spent the day in her room. She said she would have called on a woman friend only she did not have suitable clothing.

She had recently been riding in a hansom cab to and from the Hoboken ferry and the bathhouse at 1,305 Bloomfield street, where she lived.

When the news that Mrs. Green had moved was carried to the board of assessors of Hoboken, one of them said: "Now see what we've done. Gone and driven another resident out."

It appears that the board had recently been trying to assess Mrs. Green, on the ground that her personal property was liable to taxation in Hoboken, as her place of residence.

DOES WEEP FOR LEADER.

Buck Caught in Tangle of Wires Freed by Woonsocket Driver.

Uxbridge, Mass., March 24.—Peter Reilly, a Woonsocket driver, who makes trips up through the Blackstone Valley, extricated a large buck deer from a wife fence here.

Reilly was coming into Uxbridge near the land of Henry Farnum, on the Millville road, when he saw the animal thrashing about. With the buck were four does, and the herd was in great confusion. The females stood about or ran about trying to help out their leader.

"It was pitiful to see the beautiful creatures watching the buck," said Reilly. "They seemed to feel his condition, and their eyes were full of tears."

The buck evidently had attempted to go through the fence instead of jumping over it. The wires were twisted about his antlers.

"I should think that he weighed nearly 200 pounds and, from the horns, must have been 4 or 5 years old."

DUCKS EX MACHINA.

Bob Green Gets Geese with a Phonograph.

St. Charles, Mo., March 24.—Nature writers give ear to the wonderful tale of Bob Green of Orchard Farm and his phonograph. Recently Bob purchased a phonograph and some blank records. The next day he caught a goose, the biggest one on the farm. Setting the machine going, Bob pulled the goose's tail. "Honk, honk, honk, saw!" screamed the bird.

EAT FOODS YOU CRAVE

Get Your Digestive Organs in Perfect Condition

REGULATE THE STOMACH

A Little Diapiespin Will Cure You of Stomach Trouble in a Few Days—Relieves Suffering and Misery From Indigestion at Once.

You can eat anything your stomach craves without fear of a case of indigestion or dyspepsia, or that your food will ferment or sour on your stomach if you will take Diapiespin after eating. Your meals will taste good, and anything you eat will be digested; nothing can ferment or turn into acid or poison or stomach gas, which causes belching, dizziness, a feeling of fullness after eating, nausea, indigestion (like a lump of lead in stomach), biliousness, heartburn, water brash, pain in stomach and intestines or other symptoms.

Headaches from the stomach are absolutely unknown where this effective remedy is used. Diapiespin really does all the work of a healthy stomach. It digests your meals when your stomach can't. Each triangle will digest all the food you can eat and leave nothing to ferment or sour.

Get a large 50-cent case of Pape's Diapiespin from your druggist and start taking today and by tomorrow you will actually brag about your healthy, strong stomach, for you can then eat anything and everything you want without the slightest discomfort or misery, and every particle of impurity and gas that is in your stomach and intestines is going to be carried away without the use of laxatives or any other assistance.

A HARD TASKMASTER.

Agassiz Forced His Pupils to Find Out For Themselves.

When I sat me down before my first pan Agassiz brought me a small fish, placing it before me with the rather stern requirement that I should study it, but should on no account talk to any one concerning it or read anything concerning fishes until I had his permission so to do. To my inquiry, "What shall I do?" he said in effect: "Find out what you can without damaging the specimen. When I think that you have done the work I will question you." In the course of an hour I thought I had compassed that fish. But Agassiz, though always within call, concerned himself no further with me that day nor the next nor for a week. At first this neglect was distressing. But I saw that it was a game, for he was, as I discerned rather than saw, covertly watching me. So I set my wits to work upon the thing and in the course of a hundred hours or so thought I had done much, a hundred times as much as seemed possible at the start. I felt full of the subject and probably expressed it in my bearing. As for words about it then, there were none from my master, except his cheery "Good morning." At length on the seventh day came the question, "Well? and my discourse of learning to him as he sat on the edge of my table, puffing his cigar. At the end of the hour's telling he swung off and away, saying, "That is not right."

I went at the task anew, discarded my first notes, and in another week of ten hours a day labor I had results which astonished myself and satisfied him. Still there was no trace of praise in words or manner. He signified that it would do by placing before me about a half a peck of bones, telling me to see what I could make of them, with no further directions to guide me. Two months or more went to this task, with no other help than an occasional looking over my grouping with the stereotyped remark, "That is not right." Finally the task was done, and I was again set upon alcoholic specimens.—"Autobiography of Professor Shaler" in Atlantic.

Train and Track.

The Pennsylvania railroad when its lines under the Hudson river are completed will run 400 trains daily into New York.

The proposed electrification of the Prussian state railway system would require an outlay for the new equipment of about $152,500,000.

When, in June, a through train service is established between Galveston and Seattle it will exceed in length the run from San Francisco to New York. The distance is almost 3,000 miles, and the trains will use the Texas and Brazos Valley, Fort Worth and Denver, Colorado and Southern, Chicago, Burlington and Quincy and Great Northern roads in crossing it.

Foundation of a Fortune.

Late in 1858 the "end of all things" was predicted for Feb. 22, 1859, and in some parts of the country people became panic stricken, and, if one story is true, the wealth of a certain New York family had its foundation in a piece of property which was sold at a ridiculously small price because of the "end" which was soon coming.

Postal Cards.

Postal cards first came into use in the year 1870.

Better Not Take Whiskey.

The next time you have a sudden chill—your any of the falls at home—don't bother with whiskey or waste time. Take quickly a teaspoonful of Perry Davis' Painkiller in half a glass of hot water or milk. Its good record of 70 years proves its reliability. At your druggist's. The new case is 50c. (Glass) bottle. You ought to have it on hand.

Making Good Makes Friends

There is no way of making lasting friends like "Making Good"; and Dr. Pierce's medicines well exemplify this, and their friends, after more than two decades of popularity are numbered by the hundreds of thousands. They have "made good" and they have not made drunkards. A good, honest square-deal medicine of known composition is

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

It still enjoys an immense sale, while most of the preparations that came into prominence in the earlier period of its popularity have "gone by the board" and are never more heard of. There must be some reason for this long-time popularity and that is to be found in its superior merits. When once given a fair trial for weak stomach, or for liver and blood affections, its superior curative qualities are soon manifest; hence it has survived and grown in popular favor, while scores of less meritorious articles have suddenly flashed into favor for a brief period and then been as soon forgotten.

For a torpid liver with its attendant indigestion, dyspepsia, headache, perhaps dizziness, foul breath, nasty coated tongue, with bitter taste, loss of appetite, with distress after eating, nervousness and debility, nothing is as good as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

It's an honest, square-deal medicine with all its ingredients printed on bottle-wrapper—no secret, no hocus-pocus magic, therefore don't accept a substitute that the dealer may make a little bigger profit. Insist on your right to have what you call for. Don't buy

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Expecting it to prove a "cure-all." It is only advised for woman's special ailments. It makes weak women strong, sick women well. Less advertised than some preparations sold for like purposes, its sterling curative virtues still maintain its position in the front ranks, where it stood over two decades ago. As an invigorating tonic and strengthening nerve it is unequalled. "It won't satisfy those who want "boozie," for there is not a drop of alcohol in it.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, the original Little Liver Pills, although the first pill of their kind in the market, still lead, and when once tried are ever afterwards in favor. They regulate and invigorate Stomach, Liver and Bowels.
