ONE MAN KILLED IN A FIERCE RIOT

Springfield, Mass., Has a Fight of Serious Proportions—A Syrian Policeman Is Near Death.

Springfield, Mass., June 28.—Four hundred Turks and Syrians yesterday took part in a riot, the like of which has not been seen here in years. One Turk was killed, a Syrian policeman was fatally wounded and 12 Turks were more or less seriously injured. The police have made fully a score of arrests and at least a dozen are being held at police headquarters without bail.

The riot was on Ferry street and broke out in full force about 10 o'clock in the morning, although there had been several small disturbances before that time. The Turks were outnumbered two to one, and early in the fight Said Barak, their leader, fell with three deep knife wounds. He was removed to Mercy hospital and died soon after reaching there.

Joseph Ali, a Turkish special policeman, tried to quell the disturbance soon after it began and was hit over the head with either a club or iron pipe. His skull was fractured, and at Mercy hospital it is said that he will not live through the night.

Two other Turks are in Mercy hospital with severe knife wounds and 10 more are being cared for in their homes. The trouble arose over the elopement of a 10-year-old Syrian girl with a 17-year-old Turkish youth last Thursday. Saturday night a party of Turks had a jollification gathering, during which songs and speeches celebrating the elopement of the "Christians" were indulged in, and this infuriated the Syrians.

The Turks were driven down Ferry street by the Syrians with bricks and bottles. Revolvers, knives and clubs were used freely. When a man went down he was carried off by his party. The Turks, early in the day, sent to Holyoke for more of their kind, but at the time the latter arrived the police had broken up the riot.

Women took part in the fight and three bottles, often hitting men of their own race. The fight extended out in Main street. A squad of 12 policemen, headed by Capt. John H. Boyle, Inspector Lager and Sergeant McCallin, charged on the rioters with drawn clubs and soon broke up the fight.

One of the men held, Joe Obsey, a Syrian, is charged with the murder of Barak. Two years ago there was a race riot here and the Turks called on their Hartford brethren to help them. The police, however, stopped the fight before there were any fatalities.

MIDDLEBURY COLLEGE

President Thomas Talks on Sordid Spirit of Ancient Type.

Middlebury, June 28.—President John M. Thomas delivered the baccalaureate sermon to the graduating class of Middlebury college yesterday. His text was Ezekiel 27: 8, "They wise men, O Tyre, were in thee; they were thy pilots." The sermon sketched briefly the commercial history of the Phoenicians, and maintained that "the wisdom of Tyre was commercial wisdom, not broadened by the love of knowledge, not tempered by the reverence of the right. Her wise men were her pilots, not her philosophers or statesmen, nor her priests, or prophets, or men of letters. Her sagacious were men of trade, and her talent her genius, her energy and toil, went for the finding of markets and the gathering of gain."

FELL OFF A CAR

Adelard Fortier Landed on Hard Road, but Escaped Serious Hurt.

Adelard Fortier is working to-day, but he came might near not being in a condition to work. He attended the annual picnic of the St. Jean Baptiste society at Dewey park Saturday and was one of the ones which returned on the late car Saturday evening. He was on the outside hanging on and in some way lost his hold and was precipitated from the rapidly moving car to the hard road. His companions attempted to catch him as he fell, but their efforts were without success. He was picked up in a wheelbarrow and taken to the hospital, where he is now recovering.

SERMON PREACHED TO MANY MASONS

Annual Observance of St. John's Day at Universalist Church Yesterday. With Eloquent Sermon by Rev. E. C. Downey.

Granite Lodge, No. 35, F. & A. M. attended services at the Universalist church yesterday morning for the annual observance of St. John's day. Very nearly 100 Master Masons marched to the church in a body and listened to an excellent sermon prepared for the occasion by the Rev. Edward C. Downey. "The temple of God is holy which temple ye are," was the text chosen by the pastor.

He said in part: The great ambition of man since the beginning of history has been to learn more of the relation of man to the unknown, and man has found that the grandest thing on earth is the building of this temple. Still men continue to tear it down and attempt to destroy it. Jesus has said, "Know ye not that ye are the temple of God?" This text stands for all of the great struggles of the ages, this great struggle at the beginning of history as to which was the most divine the temple or the man were building it. We find altars stained with blood of human sacrifices and today men look upon some things as more sacred than human life.

"The Jews built a large temple in Jerusalem and considered it more sacred than man, but Jesus said when asked by his followers where they should worship said 'men worship in spirit and in truth.' He is the temple of the living God which temple ye are. There is an invisible home within us which we are building every day, that home of the soul which is more sacred than this body."

In memory every day that we fall to do right there comes a cloud that shades all our lives. Memory is the cement that binds all into one solid mass in the temple of the soul. Jesus said, when you pray go into the inner temple. This temple which we have been building every day out of the windows of which, if we have builded rightly, we can see all the beauty and splendor of life. We know little about this body of ours but we each know ever so well about the home of the soul. The very atmosphere of the soul of our own making and how well we know what it is. Memory takes along with it what we have hidden and service or religion can wipe it out. We can repair the temple of our souls in time by taking out the bad material and replacing it with new. We wonder how men can sacrifice this body for a principle. But what is the body as to the defiling of this home of the soul? How shall we make for the world's betterment? There is nothing that so shows the spirit and gentleness of man as sweet charity. We can not force men to be good or enact a book of laws and make a country righteous. It is not the power without but the power within that makes man good, as I exhort you today to enter this holy of holies this temple of your souls, and to add strength and beauty to this temple of God's which temple ye are."

MITCHELL—LOVEJOY

Barre Man Was Married at Littleton, N. H., Last Week.

The following clipping from a Littleton, N. H. paper of last week will be of interest to Barre people. Miss Frances Lovejoy, who has resided over the trimming rooms of Mrs. E. C. Young's store, the past season was married Tuesday evening to Arthur A. Mitchell of Barre, Vt. The ceremony was performed at the parsonage of St. Rose de Lima church by the Rev. Fr. Riley. The couple appeared to get away without the knowledge of their friends, but found the usual shower at the station. For several seasons the bride was employed as a trimmer in the millinery store of Miss Miles in this city and made many friends here. Her home is in Ayer, Mass. The groom is also well known here being at present employed by the Grand Union Tea company.

WANTS $25,000 FOR INJURIES

Henry Emerson Sues Corry-Deavitt-Frost Company

HE LOST SIGHT OF ONE EYE

And the Other Eye Is Alleged to Have Suffered in an Explosion at Kinney's Mills a Few Months Ago.

Setting up his damages to be $25,000, Henry Emerson, who was injured by an explosion at the Corry-Deavitt-Frost electric plant at Kinney's Mills several months ago, has sued the company to recover, the papers having been issued through his attorney, M. M. Gordon of this city. In his suit the plaintiff alleges that he has lost the sight in one eye and the other eye is so poor that he is unable to get much good from it.

The suit is brought in Orange county court, as the young man is now residing in Randolph, where he went shortly after he recovered enough from the accident to be moved. It is probable that the case will be tried at the next term of Orange county court.

Another suit is in prospect against the Consolidated Lighting company in the event that Jack Shearer, a New England Telephone and Telegraph employe, recovers from his injuries sustained Saturday when he was burned on Barre street, Montpelier, while working on a pole. At the Heaton hospital, where Shearer was taken, it was stated to-day that the patient seems to have good chances for recovery, although there is some doubt as to the use of his left leg, which was burned. After having the same treated, Shearer fell about 25 feet to the ground.

FORMER BARRE BOY TAKES A BRIDE IN ST. ALBANS

Charles McDonald of New York City, a graduate of Spaulding high school in this city and the son of Mr. and Mrs. John McDonald of Liberty street, was married at St. Albans to Miss Margarette Waugh, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Theodore Waugh. The following account of the wedding will be of interest to the groom's many friends here: The marriage of Margarette Waugh, only daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Theodore Rogers Waugh of this city, to Charles McDonald of New York took place at the First Congregational church in this city Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. The Rev. W. Parkyn Jackson, the pastor, performing the ceremony. Preceding the service Miss Ruth M. Ellis, who was married in marriage.

Promptly at the appointed hour the bride party entered the church to the strains of the bridal chorus from Lohengrin. From the front of the church came the officiating clergyman, the groom, and his best man, H. Arthur Camp of Barre. The bride party advanced down the north side of the church in the following order: the usher, Theodore E. Waugh, Clark L. Carles, Samuel A. Miller, and John Branch, Jr. of this city; the amid of honor, Miss Lois Fonda of this city; and lastly the bride, leaving the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage.

The bride was charmingly gowned in white messaline satin over taffeta, made princess and en traine, with yoke and sleeves of point d'esprit. She wore a veil caught up with orange blossoms and carried a beautiful shower bouquet of white and pink flowers. The maid of honor wore a white embroidered lingerie gown and carried a shower bouquet of forget-me-nots. The ring service was used. During the ceremony the organist played softly, and at the close of the ceremony, as the bride party left the church, she played Mendelssohn's wedding march. Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride on North Main street, only the relatives and a few intimate friends being present. The pastors were tastefully decorated, one with pink and white peonies and the other, where the guests were received, being a "Marguerite" room, and ropes of these flowers being fastened from the chandelier to the northeast corner of the room, where the receiving party stood. In the receiving line with the bride and groom were Dr. and Mrs. Waugh, Mr. and Mrs. John McDonald and Miss Mary McDonald of Barre, Mrs. C. A. Decker and Mrs. Charles F. Decker of Syracuse, N. Y., Miss Fonda, and Mr. Camp.

KNOCKED DOWN BY TEAM

Arthur McJarratt of Montpelier Had a Narrow Escape.

Arthur McJarratt, a Montpelier boy, was struck by the team of H. G. Stranahan on Main street in Montpelier this forenoon and was knocked down. It was thought that he was seriously hurt, but Dr. Templeton, who examined him, found that a few bruises constituted the injuries. McJarratt was playing with some other children on East State street and ran from that street onto Main street. Just at that moment Mr. Stranahan drove along at a fairly rapid pace. One of the forward wheels struck the boy and knocked him to one side so that the wheels did not pass over him. McJarratt was picked up and carried to the doctor's office.

STAMPEDED A HOUSE-PARTY

Police Make Sudden Visit on Joe Bianchi's

AND CAUSE SCATTERING

Bianchi Was Arrested on the Charge of Keeping and Case Was Put Over Until Thursday Morning. Much Liquor Seized.

Officers Hamel, Carle and Gamble, Deputy Sheriff H. D. Camp and Special Officer George Howe made a raid between 9 and 10 o'clock Saturday night at the house occupied by Joseph Bianchi at 17 1/2 Railroad street and surprised a houseful of people, who made a general stampede for the door when the officers came in. The officers say they found empty bottles scattered around in the three rooms, giving evidence that the party was having a good time, and in the cellar the officers found a barrel nearly full of bottled cream ale, four bottles of Ballentine's ale and two bottles partly full, which they seized.
