The average daily circulation of the Barre Daily Times for the week ending Saturday was copies, the largest paid circulation of any daily paper in this section.

E. H. Harriman's disease is undoubtedly railroaditis—too much railroads.

Mrs. Roosevelt succeeded in getting out of the country with little olat. The Big Noise wasn't along.

The Fair Haven Era is unkind enough to remark that it didn't take the Aero club to make Rutland a hot air town, for it was that already.

St. Albans will have a new hotel if the citizens of St. Albans will raise $50,000. Barre will; Montpelier will; most any place will—under those conditions.

The Worcester, Mass., woman who rang the fire alarm while attempting to mail a letter Saturday night was not of Canadian birth, we are authoritatively informed.

Sudbury, Vt., comes into its own with the open golf championship of the United States. There will be an energetic pouring over of maps to locate Sudbury, after Friday's results at Englewood.

George L. Fletcher is one of Chester's sprightly young men. His 90th birthday was observed last Saturday and on Tuesday he will welcome the public to Chester's Old Home Week celebration. He must have been a follower of Fletcherism.

CLEANSING THE BAR.

Members of the New Hampshire bar will have to walk circumspectly if they wish to retain their right to practice their profession in New Hampshire, as indicated by the recent expulsion of one attorney who is charged with conversion of his client's money to his own use. In handing down his order for the expulsion, the chief justice declared that the profession cannot be free from suspicion if persons who have been found to be untrue to their clients are allowed to remain as members of the bar. That is undoubtedly true. People who have occasion to deal with attorneys in that state will feel much more secure in their relations, albeit there may be little need for suspicion. Like the few reckless automobilists who bring reproach upon the whole band of autoists, the few disreputable attorneys are apt to bring the legal profession into poor standing. Therefore, the New Hampshire supreme court, probably acting on the findings of the bar association, has done well in expelling the attorney who has been accused of wrongful conversion of his client's money. If all professions and occupations were in a position to act similarly, we should have much cleaner living because of fear of summary expulsion at the hands of their fellows.

OUR GOVERNOR AS A SPEEDER. Says a Vermont exchange: "Isn't it just a little bit unreasonable, to say the least, for Gov. Prouty to break the law for speeding his auto? The average citizen supposed the governor was one who obeyed the laws and saw that they were generally obeyed. However, one must have some one thing he can't follow to gain notoriety, and Gov. Prouty seems to have, as reported, grand success in breaking the speed laws.

Has it been proven that Governor Prouty broke the speed laws in Vermont? We recall an occurrence on the Revere Beach boulevard last year, but do not recall any occasion in Vermont when the governor's machine was timed to the nicety of declaration that he was a law-breaker. Perhaps he has gone fast and perhaps he has made the trip from Burlington to Montpelier in what at first seems like reckless abandon; but sit down and compute the time elapsed and the distance traversed, and the results are more than likely to show that he was going at a rate which was far from reckless. When we read that an automobilist drove his car from Burlington to Barre in three hours or thereabouts, it seems like fast going, but, analyzed, it shows a rate of only fifteen miles an hour. And that isn't either fast or reckless, unless under extremely bad conditions. Perhaps Governor Prouty wasn't "unreasonable" in running his machine. At least, let's not spread the statement broadcast unless we know.

CURRENT COMMENT

Burr & Burton seminary is sending out into the world this year another group of young men and women who think that life is a great playground. May their hopes be always kept up and may the pleasure they foresee be attainable in the earnest wish of the editor, who was one of 'em in the class of '84.—Manchester Journal.

Sen. Page's Votes.

Senator Page of Vermont voted to boost the tariff on print paper and the tariff on that product was revised upward, but his vote failed to secure free hides. Congratulations and condolences—one can't always be on the winning side. But the consistency of Senator Page does not appear. The profit between the maker and the user of print paper, we are told, is nearly 50 per cent, without the tariff help, and if this statement is within a mile of being correct the manufacture of print paper is not an underlined industry. And above all things, this tariff on paper places a premium on the destruction of the forests of this country, including the types of Senator Page's own Vermont.—Woodstock Age.

Locating the Sea-serpent.

We have been endeavoring to locate the famous Champlain sea serpent in time for the Champlain celebration, but the Swanton Courier has beaten us completely. It has not only localized his snake, but it has also secured a portrait, which we suppose is the result of a photograph on the spot. In any event the Courier prints a page-wide cut of the monster with both fangs in leading strings, so we suppose the attraction will be one of the features of Swanton's big celebration, Saturday, July 3. In the meantime, we hope to secure an interview with his snakehead through our Swanton correspondent to ascertain whether his first stopping point on his way from the sea to Lake Champlain was on the north end of Isle La Motte.—Burlington Free Press.

JINGLES AND JESTS

Romance of Automobiling. We sped along in spirit high that night Through the soft glamour of the pale moonlight. Up hill and down, o'er level, broad highway. Their surface smooth deserving of all praise. On either side the trees stood dark and still. At times we heard the crickets chirping shrill. The whirpool, too, sang his plaintive lay To thrill us as we hastened on our way. The romance of the evening filled our souls. And, though at times we bumped into some holes In the dark roadway, life seemed fair and sweet. Significant to us of joy complete. A mystic languor on our senses fell. And bound us in a sweet, enchanting spell. Until we were some thirty miles from town, And then the blamed old benzine cart broke down.—Somerville Journal.

The Preliminaries. "What's the matter with John and Mary?" "They have quarreled." "Maybe they will kiss and make up." "Well, not in that order. She will make up first."

Appendicitis. Nurse—Doctor, a sponge is missing. Possibly you sewed it up inside the patient. Eminent Surgeon—Thank you. Remind me to add $10 to the bill for material.—Pack.

FARMERS

Thrifty Farmers Should Keep a Bank Account

Did you ever think of the advantages a check account affords—a perfect receipt—easy method of making change—a complete cash account? You probably have, but have said, perhaps, "I can't keep a large balance and they won't want to bother with it."

We are always looking for your account, be it large or small. We furnish the checks, returning them when cancelled, with a monthly statement of your account.

RACING IN BURLINGTON.

Good Time Made and Crowd Enjoyed the Sport.

Burlington, June 28.—The first of the matinee races at Riverside park was held Saturday afternoon and the crowd of over 1,500 people received more than one genuine surprise. One of the most noteworthy events was the half mile done in 1:08 1/2 by George M., a pacer recently purchased in Hartford by J. L. Powers. The horse got away with all three heats from Ross Mason. The showing of the horses is remarkable in that it is considered that the only training received by them this year is on the new track. Although some of them showed up a little rank at times, the work on the whole was beyond the expectations of any present. Class A showed three lively heats, Burlington Maid taking two, although The Bishop took the fastest in 1:08 1/2. In class B, Willey's Lottie Logan got away from Calkin's Mollie K. in an easy manner, the latter showing up rather rank and somewhat unsteady. Class C was anybody's race. Lona, driven by Parker, won the first and fastest heat, but Thomas' mare Nellie McNally by Aldine took the next two. The genuine sensation of the day was the next and last race, when Power-horse George M. won out handily from Whitney's Ross Mason, making a record for the track, which will probably stand for some time. The first heat was a fast one, and made the spectators take notice when time of 1:07 1/2 was made. Ross Mason then showed up better and forced George M. in the second and settled down to work and got away with it in 1:05 1/2. The third heat wasn't much slower and was made in 1:07.

MORE FISH IN JOE'S POND.

Government Puts in 37,000 Black Bass at Danville.

West Danville, June 28.—Joe's pond has just been stocked with black bass from the United States hatchery at St. Johnsbury, 37,000 fish having been deposited in these waters. Three years ago the government stocked this pond with steelhead trout, putting in 10,000 fingerlings and 30,000 fry. Some excellent catches of steelhead have been made this season and more sport is anticipated if the warm weather continues. Within recent years the pond has become quite a summer resort and over 50 cottages are housed on its shores with new ones being built every year. The campers are mostly residents of Danville, Cabot and St. Johnsbury, although a few Boston parties regularly come here. Up to this season the fishing has been mainly confined to perch and pickerel, but when the steelhead and black bass develop it will be much better.

DIED IN BURLINGTON.

Simon Levin, Brother of Myer Levin of Barre, Funeral Yesterday.

Burlington, June 28.—The funeral of Simon Levin of Hyde street, who died Saturday morning was held yesterday morning from the Archibald street Synagogue, the Rev. I. Rosenberg officiating. Burial was in the Hebrew cemetery in South Burlington.

Mr. Levin was taken ill with pneumonia in Montpelier. He remained there a week but was brought to this city Wednesday. He grew rapidly worse and died Saturday morning at about 10 o'clock.

Mr. Levin was born in Russia 46 years ago and came to this country 25 years ago. He was a member of the firm of Agel & Levin, junk dealers. He is survived by a wife and eight children. They are Mrs. Sarah Levin of New York city, and Harry, George, Alcock, Charles, Rose, Josie and Isador. He also leaves three brothers and a sister, Morris and Louis of this city, Myer of Barre and Mrs. I. Yett of Montpelier. Among those present at the funeral from out of town were Mr. and Mrs.

TRIED TO KILL MOTORMAN.

East Side Mob Wanted to Punish Him For Running Over Little Girl.

New York, June 28.—Two thousand Sunday promenaders in the Italian quarter of the East side sought to do mob violence to Fred Bartell, a street car motorman, yesterday afternoon, after his car ran over six-year-old Adelaide Melno, cutting off both her arms.

The motorman locked himself within his car, and when the police officers arrived he was escorted to a drug store. But by that time the Italians invaded the store, wrecked its furnishings and sought to take Bartell from the officers, who were obliged to draw their revolvers.

The victims of the car will die. A pair of police men's bandoliers were employed as a tourniquet to stop the flow of blood from the several limbs until an ambulance arrived.

A CHILD SUFFOCATED.

Had in Grandmother's Bed to Escape Fire Her Brother Had Started.

Oswego, N. Y., June 28.—Three-year-old Gertrude, the daughter of Edward Mack, was suffocated in her grandmother's bed, here yesterday, in trying to give the alarm for a fire which had been started in the kitchen below by her brother, six years old, while playing with matches. The little girl rushed up stairs when she saw the flames and contrived to give some idea of the cause of her terror. In the confusion that followed, she hid under the clothes in her grandmother's bed and could not be found until too late. Her mother almost lost her own life in hunting for her.

HIS BURNS WERE FATAL. Fireman in Paper Mill at Wilder Dead from Injuries.

White River Junction, June 28.—William Latoche, a fireman in the International Paper at Wilder, is dead from fatal burns received Saturday. His clothes caught fire from the furnace and the body was so terribly burned as to be unrecognizable. He was a widower and leaves two children.
