SATURDAY, OCTOBER 2, 1909.

The average daily circulation of the Barre Daily Times for the week ending Saturday was 5,320
copies, the largest paid circulation of any daily paper in this section.

Do the Saturday afternoons seem long?

Horse racing got a black eye at the Brattleboro fair yesterday.

President Taft is on his second leg—that is, the second leg of his 13,000-mile journey around the domain.

Detroit vs. Pittsburg will at least be a variation of Detroit vs. Chicago, which was getting monotonous in the base ball world.

Next to her men and women, the Morgan horse is the crowning product of Vermont.—Burlington Clipper.

The secretary of state reports that the taxable population in Barre is 6,398 this year, while in Rutland it is 6,412. It looks as if Barre were the second city of Vermont in population.

There was at least one man who felt the prominent place which Peary held in the Hudson-Fulton naval parade on the Hudson river yesterday. Perhaps there is no need to mention the name.

Springfield, Vt., will be very progressive if it finally gets the automobile manufacturing concern now under contemplation, and Vermont will have, we believe, its first industry of that sort.

Brother Hindley of the Rutland Herald doesn't know why he read Robert W. Chambers' "The Danger Mark," but he did. Many another feels the same and when looking back regrets the time spent.

Barring fatal effects of the clamor at St. Johnsbury yesterday, there will probably be three Republican candidates for governor. John A. Mead, Frederick G. Fleetwood and Charles W. Gates were all there; the first two talked politics somewhat and the last named didn't mention it. Gates hasn't said he will run, but the people may call him.

Desperate characters are around Windham county, as we know by this desperate English: "To whom it may concern: We the members of the worst band of yegmen do declare that we will not be took alive. Beware of the Black Hand." One of the worst punishments for this worst band of yegmen would be a birch rod and an enforced study of grammar.

It is hinted in Massachusetts that the Democrats named Eugene N. Foss for lieutenant-governor because he will make a valuable campaign contributor, having riches as well as political aspirations. Foss is also a former Republican, as was Harvey N. Shepard, nominated by the Democrats for attorney general. The ticket is quite a novel one in this respect. James H. Yabey, nominee for governor, has always been a Democrat, it is believed.

MONTPELIER SEMINARY'S SUCCESS

The announcement that Montpelier seminary has been enabled to raise its proportion of an endowment fund and thus secure the conditional gift of the Chicago philanthropist, Dr. D. K. Pearson, to the amount of $50,000 is the cause for congratulation in a wider circle than among merely the alumni and friends of the school. The cause of education is to be greatly helped, and therefore the success affects not only the home city and its immediate environs, but the state of Vermont and, perhaps, in a small way it may leave its impress on even a wider circle. All people who rejoice in the advancement of learning and the consequent betterment of humanity will be pleased that the solid foundation of the school has been laid, on which it will be possible to build a strong educational structure. The day of the hand-to-mouth existence of private, or non-public, educational institutions is past, and only those which have endowment funds can hope to find their proper place in the educational system of the country. Schools which are dependent entirely upon the shifting conditions of good crops as against poor crops, industrial activity as against industrial sluggishness and individual beneficence as against personal stinginess are bound hereafter to have a precarious existence at best and amid the doubts and perplexities incident to the changing conditions they cannot do their best work.

On the other hand, the schools which have a fixed income that varies little or nothing from one year to another will be able to maintain a standard once set and by good management should be able to so increase the endowment as to permit of raising the standard from time to time. Such should be the position of Montpelier seminary with its endowment fund of $150,000. The amount is not large, to be sure, but for the present it will be sufficient to place the school on a secure footing and thus to continue to fill an important place in the educational life of the state. To Principal E. A. Bishop, who has given many months of anxious endeavor to the end that the gift of Dr. Pearson might be secured, belongs a very large share of the credit for the completed work.

CURRENT COMMENT

A Funny Man.
Here is a funny man: Hon. J. A. DeBoer, president of the National Life Insurance company, argues for a state tax on his business; wants one per cent, uniform collected by every state. That is, it would be funny for anyone but DeBoer.—Randolph Herald and News.

Everts Congratulated.
Our congratulations to President Maxwell Everts of the state fair association, and his assistants, on the success of the third annual exhibit. It was bigger and better than ever and also attracted more people. The great interest Mr. Everts has in this fair goes a long way—longer perhaps than most people realize—in making it a great fair and a great success.—Vermont Union-Journal.

Kind Words from a Business Rival.
The good things the papers are saying about the retiring editor of the Caledonian and his worthy successor are all true and fully merited. The Caledonian's constituency will find in Editor Bigelow a newspaper man of experience, a valuable addition to the business life of the community and a loyal supporter and fearless, vigorous defender of the best interests of town and state.—St. Johnsbury Republican.

Where Do Your Earnings Go?
Every week you get a little envelope containing the week's earnings.
A part of this money must go to pay living expenses—food, clothing, rent, heat, lights; a little for pleasure; something for books, papers, magazines; a little more for insurance, perhaps.
A part should also be reserved for the unexpected expenses—sickness, accident and the numberless other little expenses that we constantly encounter.

The Satisfactory Way is to deposit some part of your weekly earnings in this bank where you can get it when needed, and in the meantime your deposit will be earning interest at the rate of FOUR PER CENT.
IF you have no money deposited in "the Granite" come in and let us open an account in your name.
Open Monday evenings from 7 to 8 p.m.
