Entered at the Post Office at Barre as Second Class Matter.

Published every week-day afternoon. Subscriptions: One year, $1.00, 25 cents; single copy, 1 cent. Frank E. Langley, Publisher.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 5, 1909.

The average daily circulation of the Barre Daily Times for the week ending Saturday was copies, the largest paid circulation of any daily paper in this section.

New York is all Wright just at present, but not always.

Naturally enough, River street is Barre's "wet" place.

It is strange that the founder of the New York Journal should, by his own self-inflicted death, have caused one other sensational story to be added to the columns of that newspaper.

President Taft's "old sweetheart of mine," whom he found in the state of Washington, has committed less majesty by denying that she was ever a sweetheart of Taft. They were just "friends," she says; and the woman always has the last say.

A correspondent of the New York Sun suggests that we send both Peary and Cook back to see if they really found the north pole, thus getting rid of both for a time, and leave the world to enjoy a little more peace of mind. All that is left is for the correspondent to furnish the necessary funds.

The Burlington Clipper associates the finding of a 100 years old bottle of Scotch whiskey in a Caledonia county home with the fact that the Scotch were early settlers in that section. There is no more connection than there is between last Thanksgiving's turkey and next Thanksgiving's appetite.

The St. Albans Messenger continues to call it "Vermont Methodist seminary," whereas most everybody else calls it "Montpelier seminary," with the understanding that the name of Montpelier's institution was changed by authority. The Messenger objects to sectarian schools. Why not join the movement to outlaw them by giving the broader name to this institution?

The attention of the public is directed to the announcement in another column of today's paper relative to the appointment of special agents for collection of manufacturing, mining and quarrying statistics in Vermont, and it will be noted that there is need for prompt action in making application, as October 25 is the last day on which the applications will be received at the bureau of the census in Washington.

Ex-Judge Henry S. Dewey's honors pile up in Boston. While judge of the municipal court, he was noted for his original opinions in cases. Later he became an independent candidate for governor of Massachusetts. Next we see him as the plaintiff in a $76,000,000 libel suit against the Good Government club of Boston for alleged slanders on his character when he sought office. Then he became the "theocratic" candidate for governor. And finally he has become a smasher of records, having spoken twelve hours on the Boston Common, with only twenty minutes out for luncheon at noon. Will Judge Dewey not leave some of the honors for his contemporaries? Or will he "hog" them all?

OUR INORDINATE HURRY.

According to the Rutland News, Rutland theatre-goers have the very bad habit of leaving the theatre before the curtain has been rung down on the performance. Some people in Barre who attend performances at the Barre opera house have the same propensity, and their rush is unexplainable. If Barre were a large city and if a majority of the attendants at the theatre were suburban residents who were dependent on trains to reach home, there might be some excuse for their hurry to leave the theatre in order to catch their trains; but there is nothing of the sort in Barre. There is no outgoing train whose departure is nearer than midnight and the schedule of the electric cars to North Barre gives ample time for people to catch the last car. So, then, there is no transportation worry to make them spoil the final act of a play by getting up and putting on coats and hats. Why not remain until the play is finished?

A SUMMER OF GOOD MUSIC.

The Times hereby extends its commendation to the Barre Citizens' band for the excellent concerts which have been given during the past summer. For a young organization, the band has shown a surprising degree of progress. This is due to the fact that the members of it are largely experienced musicians and they have evinced a disposition to work for the success of the project, both artistically and financially. This first season has demonstrated beyond doubt that from the standpoint of musical ability, Barre is amply able to produce a band among its own citizens. It remains to be seen whether such an organization can be made a financial success to the extent that ordinary expenses can be met. The Times believes that Barre can support a band of the very first class and urges the people of the community to ous color, a reminder of the later beauties of the state that few of our summer visitors ever see. And the air—well, is there any wine more stimulating than a breeze that sweeps clear from the Taconics to the Green mountains, taking up the essence of a dozen valleys and the cool freshness of a hundred hills?—Rutland Herald.

Look Out For The Boys.

The Hon. Frederick G. Fleetwood is certainly making those who aspire to the next governorship honor decidedly uneasy. The announcement that he would be a candidate has met with a warm reception. The younger Republican workers of the state are taking a decided interest in the Lamotte county candidate, which means that his corps of workers will be active. The boys know how to win out.—Waterbury Record.

Raise Cattle in Vermont.

Farmers of Vermont should profit by the statement of James Wilson, secretary of agriculture, that there has been a decrease of 2,387,000 cattle in this country during the past two years and that during the last nine months exports of cattle have fallen 100,000. With the number of cattle decreasing and the number of people in the cities increasing there should be a good opportunity to increase the production of dual purpose cattle right here at home.—St. Johnsbury Caledonian.

Knows The Tough One.

The managers of Brightlock hospital at St. Johnsbury, had a perfect field day Friday at a "shore dinner," attended by six hundred. Among the special attractions were two full-sized gubernatorial possibilities—John A. Moad of Rutland and Frederick G. Fleetwood of Morrisville. It is needless to say that one of them, along with others who "also ran"—will have to put in for repairs after the next Republican state convention, and perhaps the St. Johnsbury hospital hopes to get in line for the distinguished patients. We know the one who will not be sent to the hospital—but of course that would be telling, if the name was printed.—Rutland News.

New Vermont Growing.

Some time ago The Messenger made an estimate that the population of the state of Vermont might be shown by the census next year to be 363,500, a gain of 21,000 over the figures of 1900, or about 6 per cent. Now comes the tabulation of the grand list returns in the secretary of state's office for the year 1909 upon the basis of which somebody has figured that the present population of the state should show an increase over the population of 1900 of six and a half per cent, giving us a present population of 366,116 or an increase of 22,505 since the last census. Either The Messenger was a good guesser or the grand list tabulator an out-and-out prophet, because we are surely in for some such show of increase as these speculations indicate, no matter what may be the doubts and misgivings of our good friends of The Burlington News. The new Vermont is growing.—St. Albans Messenger.

Ex-Gov. Bell.

In the death of Ex-Gov. Charles J. Bell, there passes from Vermont public life one of the state's sturdiest sons and one who merited all the honors that came to him. Ex-Gov. Bell was a farmer. He was a plain man who lived "the simple life" and enjoyed all its days. As governor, his administration was wholly creditable. The Mary Rogers case brought him into the line light as that matter more clearly. He made as true a grade of maple sugar as any maker in the state. While governor, he rode his own mowing machine and pitched his own hay. As an ex-governor he did the same. His entire life was a good example in industry and honesty.—Burlington Clipper.

JINGLES AND JESTS

And Boils Them. Mrs. Bacon—And does your cook do the washing, too? Mrs. Egbert—Oh, yes. "And is she a good cook?" "Oh, yes; she stews clothes beautifully!"—Yonkers Statesman.

Where Do Your Earnings Go?

Every week you get a little envelope containing the week's earnings. A part of this money must go to pay living expenses—food, clothing, rent, heat, lights; a little for pleasure; something for books, papers, magazines; a little more for insurance, perhaps. A part should also be reserved for the unexpected expenses—sickness, accident and the numberless other little expenses that we constantly encounter.

The Satisfactory Way

is to deposit some part of your weekly earnings in this bank where you can get it when needed, and in the meantime your deposit will be earning interest at the rate of FOUR PER CENT.

IF you have no money deposited in "The Granite" come in and let us open an account in your name. Open Monday evenings from 7 to 8 p. m.

ally to its support. The city council this year appropriated a sum of money to pay for a series of twenty concerts, and probably next year's council can be depended upon to do as well, so that there is the foundation for generous banking. There will probably have to be further support from the public, either directly or indirectly, probably through an indoor fair or something similar. If the fair is held, the band can depend upon it that the public will give its hearty support to the undertaking and thereby another good-sized addition can be made to the treasury of the organization. Having had a taste of the pleasures of one's own hand, Barre will not let this excellent local organization drop, for it means much to the community. The Times expects the Citizens' band to take even higher rank among the similar organizations of the state by another year.

CURRENT COMMENT

Montpelier Seminary's Endowment. Montpelier and the entire state of Vermont are to be congratulated that a sufficient sum was raised by those interested in Montpelier seminary to secure the magnificent offer of $30,000 made by Dr. D. K. Pearson, the Chicago philanthropist, toward an endowment fund of $150,000 for that institution. It is certainly a splendid help for a deserving educational plant.—Rutland News.

Vermont's Beautiful Colors.

The autumn shades of the hills are forming in their annual splash of glory.

S. A. Nash, formerly cashier at the local freight office, leaves shortly for Costa Rica where he has a position on a railroad under his uncle.

Miss Irma Burnham, who has been employed as special clerk at the office of the state treasurer during the summer, has finished her work.

Clark and McEsters have installed a new hot water heating plant in their store on State street and will heat the office of D. E. A. Colton which is over their store.

The men who are to install the new switchboard at the Western Union office are expected to be here this week. A number of changes in the wiring will be made.—local office.

W. S. Goss, former business manager of the Journal, has severed his connection with that paper to go into business. Mr. Goss will start a feed and grain store at South Royalton at once.

The fees derived from the licensing of hunters has been received by State Treasurer E. H. Deavitt. The sum received by the town clerks throughout the state from 1st of August up to last Saturday night was $3,432.53.

One of the two pillars for the city hall was unseated Saturday. These pillars stand about 5000 pounds apiece and will be placed above the granite blocks. On the top of the pillars will be placed three granite arches and above these the carved granite spandrels.

The Y. M. C. A. schedule has been made out by Secretary Gilkinson and the classes will be held as follows: Business men, Monday and Thursdays at 4:30; summary, Tuesdays and Thursdays at 4:30; seniors, Tuesdays and Fridays at 7:30; juniors, Wednesdays at 4:30 and Saturdays at 9:30.

EAST HARDWICK

Mrs. Robert Allen is ill with tonsillitis. J. T. Fort was in Craftsbury Saturday.

E. Magoon visited in Hardwick Sunday.

Mrs. Jamieson is calling on friends in town.

Mrs. F. Waterman is visiting in Portland, Maine.

Mr. Wells is moving onto the Montgomerie farm.

Miss Freda Talbot has been working for Mrs. Stevens.

B. W. Hooker of Barre was in the village last week.

Miss Vera Fort was in Greensboro Monday on business.

J. Paige has bought the farm recently vacated by Frank Wright.

W. Mann is moving his family to a farm in the Sutton district.

The eyes of the pupils in the public school here are being tested.

The funeral of Mrs. D. Farran, who died Tuesday night, was held Friday.

Mrs. James Belmont of Wolcott was the guest of Mrs. A. E. Fort on Thursday.

Health Officer Dr. Darling of Hardwick inspected the schools here last week.

Gilman Magoon is moving into the tenement on the first floor in the Pope building.

The stores in the village were all closed during the funeral of Ex-Gov Bell on Wednesday.

Miss Marjory Fort is staying with her grandmother in Albany and attending school there.

Ethan Carr, who was a conductor on the train running through here a number of years ago, is visiting old friends.

A member of the Salvation Army in St. Johnsbury has recently been in town soliciting funds to carry on the work there.

James Durkin returned to his school studies here Monday morning, after spending Saturday and Sunday with friends out of town.

The granite fair was held Saturday in the village hall and on the grounds. Although it rained, a good sized crowd assembled and the exhibits were very good.

The dedication of the granite building, which was to have been held on Thursday, has been postponed owing to the death of C. J. Bell. He was to have taken a prominent part in the exercises.

Rev. G. H. Chambers of Westfield has been invited to become the pastor of the Baptist church here. Some papers in the state have been giving the honor to Hardwick, but we feel they should grant us the privilege of having one Baptist preacher in the place, instead of giving Hardwick two.

COMFORTABLE AMBULANCE AT A MOMENT'S NOTICE

SPECIAL CENSUS AGENTS.

To Collect Statistics of Manufactures of Mines and Quarries.

Applicants for appointment as special agent in connection with the collection of statistics of manufactures of mines and quarries are advised by the director of the census that their applications for appointment must be received at the Bureau of the Census, Washington, D. C., on or before the close of business October 25th inst. Blank applications may be obtained by addressing the director of the census, Washington, D. C. All applicants must be citizens of the United States and between the ages of twenty and sixty years, in good health, physically able to perform the required duty and of good character and habits, which facts must be vouched for by at least two persons personally acquainted with the applicant.

The statistics to be obtained cover investment, quantity and value of products and of raw materials used, number of employees and their wages, character and quantity of power used in connection with manufactures, mines and quarries.

These agents are divided into two classes, 1 and 2. 1 is the class of chief special agents, who will collect statistics and supervise the work of assistant special agents within a given territory or district, and class 2 are the assistant special agents subordinate to the agents of class 1. The first class will receive compensation at the rate from $4.50 to $6.00 per day including intervening Sundays, class 2 will receive from $3.00 to $4.00 per day including intervening Sundays. Class 1 will be employed from six to fifteen months and class 2 from three to six months.

Practical test determining question of eligibility will occur through the courtesy of the United States Civil Service Commission in this state at Burlington, Montpelier, Rutland and St. Johnsbury, before the local board of Civil Service examiners on November 3, 1909.

Applicants must state in their applications where they desire to take the practical test. Failure to do so may result in a failure to be examined.

Capital Savings Bank & Trust Co. Montpelier, Vt.

Capital, $1,000,000. Surplus and Undivided Profits, $50,000. Total Resources, $1,700,000. Banking in all its branches. Depository for the State of Vermont and the City of Montpelier.
