

Newbro's Herpicide

THE ORIGINAL DISCOVERY KILLS THE DANDRUFF GERM

Prevents Falling Hair

A SCIENTIFIC ACHIEVEMENT
The world pays tribute to originality. Everyone wants the original. No matter what you are buying, one always seeks the original article, the real thing, the one that's genuine.

Newbro's Herpicide is the original remedy that kills the dandruff germ. The announcement by Prof. Unna and Sabouraud of the discovery of the dandruff germs presented a problem and that problem was "how to kill the germ." Herpicide solved it. Herpicide was the first, the real genuine germ destroyer.

Cools the Scalp

A DOCTOR'S ENDORSEMENT

"My scalp was in places covered by patches of dry, scaly material and itching was incessant. Since using Herpicide all these have disappeared, my hair is soft, smooth and growing. Hair has grown on spots before but their covered." T. A. MOORE, M. D., DEANSON, N.Y.

STOPS FALLING HAIR, CAUSES NEW GROWTH

"I find that the use of Newbro's Herpicide stops falling hair and causes a new growth. I shall certainly continue it." MRS. JAMES STYVENSON, 5 DELANO ST., FONGHKEEPSIE, N. Y.

Stops Itching

THE OPINION OF A PROMINENT ATTORNEY

"I have been using Newbro's Herpicide for a number of years. At first I used it for dandruff, but since my troubles from that source have ceased I have continued for the pleasing effect it has upon the head. The use of Herpicide means a clean scalp, a good head of hair and a coat collar free from the appearance of grease. It is a luxurious habit hard to break off when you have once become accustomed to it. GEO. G. RYNGRAK, ATTY., 118 S. COMMERCIAL ST., SALEM, ORE."

PROMISE A SENSATION

In Telling Real Reasons for Crane's Dismissal

HIS FRIENDS RISE UP

They Declare That Crane Purposely Omitted These Things in His Open Statement After Knox' Request For Resignation.

New York, Oct. 16.—Charles R. Crane, who was appointed minister to China and who was recalled just as he was about to sail for his post, declined yesterday to reveal what his friends declare are the real reasons for his retirement. One of these friends, however, Walter L. Fisher of Chicago, intimated strongly that the incident was far from closed and that revelations which would be made in due time would show Mr. Crane to have been the victim of a political intrigue.

"While Mr. Crane's official relations are definitely ended," said Mr. Fisher, "there are many things connected with this matter of such a character and importance that the American people must continue to be very deeply concerned in them. Mr. Crane has preferred not to go into them now because of the possibility that a public discussion at this time might be harmful to the public interest."

"So far as the personal indignity and official embarrassment that has occurred has been due to publicity, the responsibility is on the department of state, and not on Mr. Crane. He did not even trust his telegram to the president to the ordinary agencies, but took it to the president's secretary to be sent in cipher. Not until Secretary Knox gave out his astounding statement to the press did Mr. Crane make any public statement, and even then he purposely omitted many important and significant matters, because it might injuriously affect public interests to mention them now."

"In the long ride across the continent to Washington, Mr. Crane did not mention the reason for his recall. He could not say as he did not know that the offending newspaper article had been published and did not see it until the day after he reached Washington. It is deeply significant that none of the scores of newspaper men whom he met on his journey mentioned this article or any matters, concerning an American protest to Japan. The importance of the article may be judged from the fact that it was not suspected of being the cause until the tip was given in Washington, and not from Mr. Crane."

"It is due to Mr. Crane also to note that in carrying out the president's wishes that he should do some vigorous public speaking, and in the absence of instructions from the state department, Mr. Crane carefully confined himself to the lines laid down by Mr. Taft himself in the famous Shanghai speech, ringing with vigorous Americanism, and so definitely friendly to the Chinese that it ended all talk of the dismemberment of China. When he 'let them have it hot,' Mr. Crane talked only of the common interests of America and China, and he received no criticism from the department of state."

"Those who are concerned about whether he was pro-Japanese or anti-Japanese seem unable to understand a man who has been first, last and all the time simply pro-American; and as the American minister to China, also pro-Chinese. His only thought in connection with the offending newspaper article was that if the American government should decide that its interest in the 'open door' demanded a protest, the American press should then be prepared to discuss it intelligently and effectively."

"The possibility of a protest was so much a matter of common knowledge that the offending article in which it was mentioned created no particular attention. It was not until after its connection with Mr. Crane's recall leaked out in Washington that the Japanese embassy sent to the newspaper office for a copy of the article."

"The effort to involve Mr. Millard as the real cause of Mr. Crane's recall is equally unfounded. Mr. Millard had a commission to write some magazine articles on the far East and asked if there was any objection to his traveling on the same ship with Mr. Crane, who consented with the approval of the president, with whom Millard had once traveled. It will be recalled that Mr. Millard also addressed that celebrated Shanghai meeting and that Mr. Taft then publicly spoke of him as one who has written much and well on the far East and has given close attention to the statistics of the trade between China and the various countries of the world. The fact that because Mr. Millard is vigorously pro-Chinese he is put down on the present situation. But the entire matter can be understood and discussed more intelligently and safely as the facts become public property in the future."

MARRIED 50 YEARS.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Cheever of St. Johnsbury Observe It Quietly.

St. Johnsbury, Oct. 16.—Mr. and Mrs. Francis Cheever are quietly observing their golden wedding yesterday. Mr. Cheever is the son of Amos and Adeline Gilbert Cheever and was born in Hardwick, March 25, 1857, and lived there until he was 11 years old when the family moved to Walden. He was mustered into service at Brattleboro, Oct. 22, 1862, serving with Co. B, 15th Vermont, until the regiment was mustered out Aug. 5, 1863. A year later he went to Norfolk and worked in the postoffice until May, 1865. He made his home as a farmer in Walden until 1871 when he became solicitor for the New England Farmer, holding this position for 33 years. During that time he traveled 100,000 miles or more.

Mrs. Cheever was Mary Rollins and was born in Canaan, P. Q., Jan. 15, 1840. The family later moved to Walden and there she and Mr. Cheever were married, Oct. 16, 1859, by Samuel Currier. They have been living in St. Johnsbury for the last ten years. Mr. Cheever has one sister living, Mrs. William Freeman, of Lancaster, N. H., and Mrs. Cheever has one sister, Mrs. William Perkins, of Littleton, N. H. Of eight children, six are living, Mrs. W. H. Worthen and Arthur Cheever, of St. Johnsbury, David K., and Frank A. Cheever, of Passumpsic, Cal., Mrs. Hattie L. Freeman of Lancaster, N. H., and Willie C. Cheever, of Danville. They have six grandchildren.

Pe-ru-na the Remedy.

DR. J. W. FULLER, Scientific Optician, 208 North Main St., Los Angeles, Cal., writes:

"I was troubled with catarrh of the head for many years. It affected my sense of smell, hearing and sight."

"I spent lots of money with doctors and the use of local applications to relieve me, but to no purpose until my attention was called to the wonderful effects of Peru-na."

"I must say that I met with most surprising and satisfactory results. Peru-na took hold of the complaint and drove it entirely out of my system."

"Although well along toward the allotted span of man's life, I am as pleased as a child over the results, and feel like a young man again."

ROOSEVELT STUFFS HIS BAG.

He Shoots a Few More Carloads of Big Game.

Nairobi, British East Africa, Oct. 16.—

The Roosevelt party arrived here yesterday afternoon from the north of Guss Nyiro. All are well. A porter, accompanying the party, was tossed by a rhinoceros, but he is recovering. Colonel Roosevelt has killed three more elephants, completing the group intended for the Smithsonian institution at Washington. He has also killed a bull elephant for the American Museum of Natural History at New York. Other big game bagged includes a rhinoceros with excellent horns, a buffalo, giraffe, eland, zebra, ostrich and eryx. Some skins not hitherto collected have been secured and preserved for the Washington Museum. Kermit killed two elephants and an exceptionally fine large rhinoceros.

A Massachusetts Company Enters Southern Vermont

SYSTEM TEN YEARS OLD

It Has Taken Over the Deerfield Valley System—Will Open a Central Office in Readsboro.

A new telephone corporation filed its corporation papers with the secretary of state Thursday afternoon, preparatory to invading the territory included in Windham county and the southeastern part of the state now dominated by the New England system. The new telephone corporation has been doing business in Massachusetts since 1899 and is organized under the laws of that commonwealth.

The corporation filing its credentials at the State House Thursday is known as the Heath Telephone and Telegraph company and is incorporated under the laws of Massachusetts. The company was organized in 1899 for the purpose of furnishing local telephone service in the town of Willingham, which is situated in the northwestern part of Massachusetts near the Vermont line. The first capital stock was $1,020 and was subscribed for by the inhabitants of the town in small amounts. The company prospered and the following year an increase of capital of $5,000 was granted by the legislature. This was followed with an increase of $12,000 the next year, and several years later with $19,980 for special equipment and last year the corporation authorized its officers to apply to the state of Vermont.

The matter was also brought before the commissioners of corporation with officers in Boston, for the right to further increase their stock in order that they may do business in this state. They were granted this petition and increased their capital stock by $30,000. With this money the Deerfield Valley Telephone & Telegraph company was bought out, so that they own practically all the lines operating at the present time in that portion of Massachusetts.

A system will be installed at Readsboro as soon as possible and before the year is out it will in all probability be extended all over Windham county. Charles S. Goodrow is their representative in Vermont.

Twelfth-Night Cake.

Beat one fourth of a pound of butter to a cream, add one fourth of a pound of fine white sugar, three well-beaten eggs, a pinch of salt, two cupfuls of flour in which have been sifted two teaspoonfuls of baking-powder, the grated rind of a lemon, one fourth of a pound of cleaned currants, one fourth of a pound of seeded raisins and two ounces of mixed candied peel cut in tiny chips. Beat all thoroughly together. Thoroughly wash and sterilize a butter and a dime, and drop them in the dough. Turn into a cake-tin lined with buttered paper, and bake in a moderate oven until done. Let the cake get quite cold before icing it, then turn it upside down and ice the under side, as it will be even and smooth. For a rich and delicious icing, make a thick paste with the whites of seven fresh eggs, two and one half pounds of powdered sugar and one half teaspoonful of lemon-juice. Spread it over the cake with a thin, broad-bladed knife or spatula, occasionally dipping it in cold water. Let the cake stand twenty-four hours until the icing is hard. Ornament the cake in any way preferred. An English Twelfth night cake is very pretty. After icing it as directed above, small red and white candles are arranged alternately over the hardened icing in the form of a star, each candle having a circle of pink-tinted icing piped around its base. The cake is garnished around its base with a thick wreath of red-berried holly and before it is placed on the table the candles are lighted.—Woman's Home Companion for October.
