The Woodstock Electric company has filed a certificate of stock increase from $18,000 to $40,000.

While attempting to close a jar of fruit, Mrs. Fred Howe of Bridport was severely cut by the breaking glass.

The explosion of a lamp in a house occupied by Guy Damon of Middlebury damaged one room to the extent of $300.

Frank Carrigan of Brandon had three ribs broken a few days ago by his horses kicking him as he was hitching up his team.

Walter W. Blanchard, of the firm of Ashley & Blanchard of Windsor, got his finger into a machine for grinding nuts recently and crushed it severely.

Patrick Lonnelly of West Rutland is recovering from burns received several weeks ago by the explosion of a lamp at his home. He has been in the Proctor hospital.

Robert Paxon of East Berkshire shot a very rare animal there Friday. It was a Fisher weasel or Tokan, a species of marten, measuring three feet from tip to tip. It is of dark color and the only one ever seen in that locality.

EXPERIENCE IN THE USE OF ### POULTRY FOODS.

Experience is the best teacher every time. It is fortunate that all do not have to go through the same experience. Some can have the benefit of that which others have gone through.
It is not necessary that every poultry keeper should use all the various foods that are on the market, in order to learn which is best and most reliable.
He can rely somewhat on the experience of those who have used them.
Charles A. Hancock, Barre, Mass., says
"I have used 'Page's Perfected Poultry Food' the past year with great success, and would not be without it if certainly is an egg producer."

If you want to know more about this food and the best ways of using it write to C. S. Page, Hyde Park, Vt. for his booklet, "Profitable Poultry." It will be sent free, postpaid, to anyone mentioning this paper.

MUST HAVE GOODS ALL THE TIME.

Clarke Griffith Says Base Ball Is Changeable Game and Players Must Always Be Good.

Clarke Griffith, the Cincinnati manager, says base ball is a changeable game.
"Why, I had almost as much speed when I quit pitching as ever in my career. I had more curves, far better control and I think, more generalship," he adds.

"What put you out of it, then?" inquired an interested bystander. "The change in the game," answered Griffith.
"Take a great pitcher, for example. He may have wonderful speed and marvelous curves. But the batters get wise to him after a while. Then his day is over. I remember in my own experience. I always had a jump on the ball, its life in other words. But finally that left. It happens all the time."

Manager Chance of the Cubs echoed Griffith's remark. "That is true in the case of our club," he said. "Take Landi, for example. Carl was a fine pitcher and had all the batters guessing. He would go along and win a lot of games, for they couldn't hit him much. But finally they began hitting him. He had just as much speed and that old pep as I still have, but the game had changed. The batters were beginning to like that swift break in the ball that Landi served. So he was no more good to the Cubs. It was the same with Jack Taylor. He was just as good when he left us as when we got him. But the batters had solved him entirely and he had to go. He has somewhat the same kind of a ball as Landi. So he was no longer valuable for us. It's for that same reason I said the spittball pitchers were no good for the Cubs. The other teams are beginning to hit them, and the end of a pitcher in big leagues is at hand when he is bumped hard by the batters."

"Just as Griffith has said, the game constantly changes. You have to be good all the time, or base ball will leave you far in the rear. The players of today are twice as versatile and cunning as they were eight years ago. For they have had to learn more kinds of deliveries and solve more problems." Morde-cai Brown and Orval Overall, the two best pitchers of the Cubs, who were listening to the discussion, then broke in and related some of their own experiences. "Didn't you often find that the old jump on the ball was not there some days?" inquired Overall of Griffith.

"Yes, it is the same with all pitchers," returned Griffith. "Many a time you don't feel exactly right, and no matter how hard you try, the ball will seem straight or takes a fine sweep. Nothing doing on the break and jump, however." Brown chimed in at this moment. "I always lose in weight when the ball don't jump," said the three-fingered star. "I remember one game in New York against the Giants last year. I honestly believe it was the hottest day in my career. The sun poured down and I was in a perfect state of sweat. Of course, that jump on the ball wouldn't come that day and the harder I tried the easier the Giants hit the ball. It was an awful experience, knowing that I could put the old break in my delivery, but not being able."

"Honestly, I lost 10 pounds in that game. I weighed before I left the hotel, and also when I returned. And I bet there would have been 11 or 12 if I hadn't taken a big drink of water right after the game. Both Griffith, who by the way was one of the great twirlers of the day, and Overall agreed with Brown that loss of weight follows such an experience. Both declared they had passed through identical experiences.
It is indeed a fact that pitchers lose weight in every game they twirl. The constant change, worry and exercise wears far more on them than any other member of the team. And, moreover, they only work one in every three or four days. Consequently, they are not in the constant "razor edge" of condition that their team-mates boast of. Griffith wound up by saying that if he had Overall and Brown on his team Cincinnati would win the National League pennant next year. Both of the twirlers modestly grinned and Chance laughed.

ALL BUT TWO LOST.

Two Vessels and Crews Go Down Near Block Island.

New York, Nov. 10.—The Nova Scotian bark John S. Bennett foundered at one o'clock Monday morning off Block Island. Of the ship's company of nine, only two were saved and they are Filipinos, whose knowledge of English and seamanship is so limited that they can merely hint at the actual nature of the wreck and its cause. They were so glad and bewildered, when they were picked up from a broken dory by a boat's crew from the American schooner William Jones, Capt. Fullock, which landed them here yesterday, that they even forgot the Filipino dialect. Later they recovered enough to spin a yarn, which, taken together with the yarns of Capt. Fullock and his brother, Wilbur F. Fullock, mate of the William Jones, indicates that not only all the white men of the Bennett were lost, but also the entire crew of a four-masted American schooner, which was in collision with the barkentine, as the composite yarn goes.

Mothers find Perry Davis' Painkiller invaluable in the nursery, and it should be kept at hand in case of accident. For pain in the breast take a little Painkiller in sweetened milk and water, bathing the breast in clear at the same time. If the milk passages are clogged, from cold, or other causes, bathing in the Painkiller will give immediate relief. Ask for New 50c Bottle.
