

HELLO, TEDDY CRIES PINCHOT

Then They Almost Fall Into Each Other's Arms

TALK IT OVER TWO HOURS

After the First Conference, They Said There Was Nothing to Give Out. Roosevelt Further Honored by the Italians.

Porton Maurizio, Italy, April 11.—Gifford Pinchot arrived unexpectedly at midnight and early this morning he went to the villa of Miss Carew, where he was enthusiastically greeted by Col. Roosevelt.

"Hello, Gifford; this is fine," Roosevelt cried. "Hello, Teddy," replied Pinchot, and they almost fell into each other's arms. Talking animatedly, they went out on a two hours' walk, at the end of which it was said there was "nothing to give out." Pinchot will remain for several days.

Yesterday afternoon Roosevelt opened the new boulevard, which has been named after him, and accepted honorary citizenship of the ancient and historic city of Porton Maurizio, amid a repetition of the same popular enthusiasm which marked his arrival Saturday night. The carriage containing Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt and the mayor was pelted with nosegays, tied with ribbons, bearing the words, "Long Live Roosevelt," as they traversed the cheering town, until it was overflowing with flowers. When they reached the foot of the terraced hill opposite the port where the cheering rent the air, the president and his wife were looking happy.

A stone, bearing the name of the street "Viale Theodoro Roosevelt" was then unveiled, and Mr. Roosevelt broke the flower chain, which was stretched across the driveway, and amid a new outburst of "vivas" led Mrs. Roosevelt up the drive to the hotel. There the mayor told how proud the municipality was to confer citizenship upon the great "apostle of peace." The city clerk then presented the parchment in a silver case, upon a cushion covered with the American flag.

Mr. Roosevelt replied in English. The mayor experienced difficulty in translating the words, and Miss Carew, Mrs. Roosevelt's sister, amid much amusement, finally came to the rescue. The reception, Mr. Roosevelt said, made him feel as if he were home in his own country. "I am especially touched," he continued, "at what you have said about my attitude towards the peace and good will. I feel that a nation should be towards other nations as an honest man towards his fellows. The same laws of propriety and morality should apply among nations as among men." The mayor then turned to Mrs. Roosevelt sitting next to Luigi Rossi, the Italian commissioner of immigration, whom he knew in America. The party was again acclaimed as they drove back to the Carew villa.

The mayor has called a message to President Taft, expressing the pride felt by the people at the presence of Mr. Roosevelt here, and at the same time transmitting the greetings of the municipality. Mr. Roosevelt did not attend church yesterday morning, but devoted his time to correspondence. Antonio Fogazzaro, the Italian author, one of whose books created a stir and was placed on the "Index Expurgatorius" by the Vatican, was his guest at luncheon. Since arriving here, Mr. Roosevelt has received many additional telegrams from American Catholics, both laymen and clergymen, congratulating him on his independence shown in connection with the Vatican. It is understood that those from the clergy, however, do not include any high dignitaries of the Catholic church in America.

Porto Maurizio, Italy, April 11.—Signor Carrelli, the mayor of the city, received a message to-day from President Taft, replying to the cable of the mayor, acknowledging the pleasure afforded the people by having Col. Roosevelt as a guest, expressing the gratitude and appreciation of the American people at the reception accorded the president by all the Italians.

AUTO ROLLED OVER.

The Two Occupants of the Machine Were Only Bruised.

Playa del Rey, Cal., April 11.—The first accident of the motor season occurred yesterday afternoon in the 30-mile race, when the Apperson ("Jack Rabbit") car overturned and rolled over several times. Harry Hanabus, the driver, and Carey King, his mechanic, escaped with nothing more serious than severe bruises and a shaking up.

The accident, which was caused by a broken tire, was one of the most spectacular ever seen on a motor track. Four cars had started in the 30-mile race. A broken valve spring had eliminated Oldfield's Knox. Marquis, in the fifties, had taken the lead, closely followed by Hanabus. A bad tire had cost Livingstone's Stoddard-Dayton five miles. Hanabus was chasing the fifties, while Livingstone was trying hard to pass the Apperson. The Apperson and Stoddard swept by the stand like a flash, side by side.

A hundred yards beyond the judges' stand the Apperson's right rear tire went off and the car swerved. Livingstone went high on the bank to safety. The Apperson turned suddenly to the left and shot off the track. The momentum was too great for the car to be straightened quickly, and when the wheels on the right suddenly collapsed the car rolled over four times. Hanabus was pinned under the steering wheel and did not fall out until the car had turned over twice. As the machine rose in the air, King was thrown about feet first. He then rolled along the ground like a log, the car rolling a few yards behind him.

The men were unconscious when picked up and taken into the hospital tent, but they soon recovered and an examination did not show any broken bones. The car was wrecked.

A new record was established in this race by the fifties, which finished in 30:00. The best previous mark by a car in this class was 42:00, made at Atlanta by Robertson in a Fiat.

The competitive five-mile record also was broken by Harroun in a Marmon, in the race for cars of the 231-300 class.

THREE KILLED IN PHILADELPHIA.

Tong War Extends Through the East, It Is Believed.

Philadelphia, Pa., April 11.—Following last night's long battle on Race street, Jong Sing died early today. Sing was attacked last night in a grocery store by two Chinese men, whom Chun Mung, the proprietor, was also killed. It is believed that the so-called Tong war is an throughout the East and the police officials in all the large cities have ordered a search of the houses in Chinatown, confiscating all firearms and knives.

Philadelphia, April 11.—Two Chinamen were murdered late last night and a third was fatally wounded in the Chinese quarter of this city. Both of the dead Chinamen were members of the Hip Sing Tong. One is Chin Nong, aged 62 years, who kept a store, at 271 Cooney street. The other has not been identified. The man fatally injured is G. Jong Sing. The story of the murder of Nong was told by the police officials by Nong's son, with Jong Sing, Young Nong, was in his father's store last night when the Chinamen entered. One was a resident of Chinatown, but the other a visitor. Nong says he came from New York. Both Nong said, are members of the Four Brothers society.

When the Chinamen entered the store the Hip Sing Tong passed a note to the elder Nong and then drew a revolver and began shooting. The first shot killed the senior Nong and the murderer turned the weapon upon Sing, shooting him in the stomach. Sing staggered into the street and fell to the pavement, where he was found by the policeman. Young Nong dashed from the store at short distance away, and reported the shooting to the lieutenant.

About the same hour that Nong was murdered, a second Chinaman was killed on the third floor of 913 Race street. This building was formerly the headquarters of the Hip Sing Tong. No one seems to have seen this murder. A shot was heard and when the occupants of the floor below reached the third floor the Chinaman was lying in a pool of blood. There was no weapon in the room.

As soon as the shooting became known the police officers of Race street, between 9th and 10th streets and started to round-up all suspicious characters, or Chinamen not known in the locality. Forty-two of these were caught but it is not yet known whether the murderer of Nong is among the number.

King, who was shot in the stomach, was hurried to a hospital. He cannot recover. He was able to tell the police officials that the murderer and his friend hurried from the store after the shooting in the direction of Race street.

HE REPORTED BIG ROBBERY

It Was $10,000 in Money, Bonds and Securities

MURDERED MAN TO TEST FIDELITY

Missionary Had Just Said That He Was Ready to Lay Down His Life for God.

Pittsburg, April 11.—A sermon on martyrdom, in which Frank Skala, an editor and prominent mission worker, had declared himself willing to lay down his life for the Christian cause, was followed yesterday by his assassination and the shooting down also of a fellow church leader, John Gay.

Arm in arm, the two missionaries were leaving the little Congregational church in Woods Run, a suburb, at the head of more than a hundred foreigners. A raggedly dressed and collarless man poked his way through the crowd as he reached the corner of Eckert street and McClure avenue, and when he was but a step behind the leaders, he pressed a revolver to Skala's head and fired twice. The bullets took effect in the jaw and temple and in the midst of his followers, Skala fell dead. Gay, who threw up his right hand to ward off the assassin, was hit first in the thumb and then a second bullet was buried in his head. He fell unconscious across the fitness body of his colleague.

For a moment the assassin stood over his victims flourishing his revolver, while the panic-stricken crowd fled to shelter behind poles and doors. Then returning to his feet on the bodies, the murderer edged off down the avenue to the Fort Wayne railroad tracks and was soon lost to view. A large armed posse of police, detectives and church people was soon in pursuit, but have found an trace of him.

After the murders, a crowd of about 100 men gathered at the corner of Eckert street and McClure avenue, and when he was but a step behind the leaders, he pressed a revolver to Skala's head and fired twice. The bullets took effect in the jaw and temple and in the midst of his followers, Skala fell dead. Gay, who threw up his right hand to ward off the assassin, was hit first in the thumb and then a second bullet was buried in his head. He fell unconscious across the fitness body of his colleague.

None of the church workers believes that there was any method in Radovitch's madness. It is doubtful if he had ever seen Skala before yesterday. He is said to have been detained once at a hospital for examination into his mental condition but was released after a brief time.

It is believed by some of the congregation that the sermon Skala preached, with the emphatic declaration that "Drinks were to be had, of course, but no dynamite was evident nevertheless nearly all over the city."

The police are obeying to the letter Mayor Gaynor's "hands off, no excise arrests," but with slips prepared by the district attorney's office, they started yesterday to look for evidence of liquor law violations, with officers of the state police department. This, together with the general uncertainty of things, made the saloon men cautious. The old first ward, on the lower West Side, and the Bowery were apparently the only districts unaffected—just why is not clear.

In the new Tenderloin, which embraces the district north of Long Arc square to Columbus circle, at Fifty-ninth street, it was extremely "dry" and the old Tenderloin, while not so much affected, was nevertheless "drier" than it had ever been since the days of Roosevelt. Many of the saloons were closed throughout the day, while those which had back rooms open for business admitted no strangers.

SHOT HOLES IN HAT

To Emphasize Order to Get Off the Street.

Burlington, April 11.—In the case of state vs. Dominick Francesco, charged with assault with intent to kill, more Black Hand testimony developed on Saturday morning. The respondent, with Dominick Staricorio, John Adis and Joseph Loranio, is charged with being mixed up in a shooting affray in Winooski on the evening of February 13. The point in the case seems to be who fired the shots in the fight, Francesco having claimed that he was acting in self-defense. Staricorio testified that the four men played cards on the evening in question and that later, when they met on the street, Adis and Doronzo fought. When the parties met again on the same evening, Doronzo slapped Adis in the face. Tib witness testified that he and Francesco shot him twice and Adis once.

Francisco, an Italian of Minerva, N. Y., and formerly of Winooski, was introduced as a witness for the defense so that he might get a train for home. He said that Doronzo was a very bad man and that he was a member of the Black Hand. He testified that he met Doronzo one evening in Winooski, when the latter told him to leave the street. Doronzo then pulled a revolver and shot two holes in the hat of the witness. The witness testified that he did not complain to the police because he was afraid of Doronzo. He exhibited the hat in court. The witness also stated that he was afraid to come to testify and that he wanted a policeman to meet him at the station.

Through some misunderstanding, the state failed to have James Mikales in Washington county court this afternoon at 2 o'clock, when his case charging him with murder was to be brought up. Dr. W. L. Wagon, first assistant at the state hospital at Waterbury, came to Montpelier this afternoon but did not bring the respondent, as he claimed he had no right to produce the man without orders from the state.

State's Attorney Gates said that he was at Waterbury Saturday and talked the matter over with Supt. Don D. Grant, and he supposed Dr. Grant understood he was to produce Mikales in court to-day. Dr. Grant's understanding of the matter was that he had to have specific orders to bring him, and therefore he was waiting for them.

The attorney and all the witnesses were in court and ready at 2 o'clock for the trial to begin. The state's attorney telephoned to Waterbury and ordered Dr. Grant to bring Mikales to Montpelier by team, and the prisoner is now on the way. He will be arraigned in court on his arrival there, which will be late in the day.

NEW YORK CITY WAS DRY.

Tighter Shut Than Any Time Since Roosevelt was Commissioner.

New York, April 11.—Not since the days when Theodore Roosevelt was commissioner of police has New York been so "dry" on Sunday as yesterday. Drinks were to be had, of course, but no dynamite was evident nevertheless nearly all over the city.

The police are obeying to the letter Mayor Gaynor's "hands off, no excise arrests," but with slips prepared by the district attorney's office, they started yesterday to look for evidence of liquor law violations, with officers of the state police department. Brought from North Adams on Requisition Papers.

Hyde Park, April 11.—Augustine Therrieu, who was brought to the state from North Adams last Thursday on requisition papers, was tried here Saturday on the charge of selling mortgaged personal property without first securing a release and having some minutes on the records as required by statute. The jury after being out but a short time brought in a verdict of not guilty. The evidence showed that Therrieu sold the property to one Bisset, who assumed the mortgage, and when Moore, the mortgagee, was present and agreed to the sale, Moore was the complainant.

CHELSEA.

The Promenade and Dance Held Last Thursday Evening at the Town Hall Under the Auspices of Several Members of the Dramatic Club.

The promenade and dance held last Thursday evening at the town hall under the auspices of several members of the Dramatic club was well attended and the occasion was a very pleasant one.

Mrs. Nora Carr, widow of the late C. P. Carr, who lived in this town one or two years ago, and who was here last week to sell her household property, went from here to West Fairlee to visit friends.

Miss Jessie Davis, one of the six young ladies from this town, who took in a recent excursion to Washington, D. C., and who was ill while on the trip, has been seriously ill since her return, with the grip, but is now convalescing.

Charles Taplin has arrived from Montreal, N. H., where he had employment for the past three years, and has moved his family to the Washington Bledsoe farm, just over the line in Tunbridge and near Harry O. Flint's which he has rented for a year.

The Chelsea Electric Light and Bobbin company has been leased for six months with an option of buying at the end of that time to H. H. Tapley and B. H. Rowland of Boston, who took charge of the plant last week and it is operated under the personal supervision of Mr. Tapley.

Deputy Sheriff D. D. Howe of Randolph was in town Saturday with three drunks for commitment to the county jail. Owing to the heavy snow storm of Friday, which made the traveling on the hills with wheels, very hard, he made the trip by automobile, coming by the way of South Royalton.

Public School Gardens.

The Vermont State Fair association will this year offer prizes for the products of public school gardens. The prizes to be competed for at the exhibition in White River union, Sept. 20-23. The prizes offered are for both flowers and vegetables, and it is earnestly hoped that the erection of this department of the fair will quicken an interest in school gardening that shall be state wide.

The school garden idea, it would seem, is one that should be fostered by all who desire the advancement of the public weal. It cannot result otherwise than in good for the community and the children participating in the work. The boys and girls who labor in the gardens will be encouraged by the thought that they are accomplishing something; the labor in the gardens will be healthful and mind-developing and as an education adjunct to the public school system, the garden will have an extreme value. By all means let the Vermont public school garden be established and maintained, and when the fair opens may there be the sharpest competition for the association's prize.—White River Junction Landmark.

Accidental Discharge of Revolver

Injures Fitch Wiley

Revolver He Carried in His Belt Open Off, Bullet Entering Right Leg on One Side and Coming Out on Other—Taken to Hospital.

Fitch Wiley, who drives one of the teams for the American Express company, was shot in the leg at 1 o'clock this afternoon when the revolver which he carries in a belt strapped to his waist was accidentally discharged. The bullet plowed down through the fleshy part of his right leg for several inches and came out on the inside of the leg. The blood instantly spouted in a large stream from both ends of the wound and a pool of blood formed on the pavement, where he was standing. The accident happened at the Central Vermont station just after Wiley had finished removing the express which had come in on the 12:55 train onto his wagon. He stepped in between the trucks, which are used to unload the freight onto, and the rear of his wagon. As he did so it is supposed that the hammer of the revolver in some way caught on the side of the truck and raised enough so that it exploded the cartridge when it descended. The shot was heard by a crowd of people, who were standing about the station and they immediately went to his assistance. As soon as it was learned what had happened Wiley was helped into the station and Mrs. Stephenson and Steiner were called, and B. W. Hooker & company's ambulance was sent for. As soon as the ambulance arrived Wiley was taken to the City hospital, where the full extent of the injury was examined by the physicians. It is thought that the bullet, which was a large 38 calibre, did not strike the bone of his leg and if this proves true, the wound will not be so serious.
