About the State

A stalk of rhubarb picked this week from the garden of O. W. Amidon in Halifax weighed 2 1/2 pounds and the leaf measured 35 inches long and 42 inches wide.

Luella, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harrie Lockwood of Albany, fell and struck her head on the stone two weeks ago and was burned so badly that blood poisoning has developed.

Charles Williamson received a bad scalp wound Memorial day, as he was coming from the hall in Middlebury when a board fell from an upper story window and struck him on the head.

John Edmund, ex-mayor of Leavenworth, Kan., and a native of Vergennes, died Tuesday at Leavenworth. He was a grandson of David Edmund, who was an early settler, prominent lawyer and the first mayor of Vergennes.

Rev. C. Ross, pastor of the Baptist church at Boston, has tendered his resignation to take effect as soon as possible. He has been in ill health for some time, and but lately returned from a vacation of a fortnight. Acting upon the advice of a specialist, he has taken this step.

Frederick Covey, the 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Covey of Burlington, had his right foot crushed Memorial day, when he tried to board the freight train at Manchester, slipped and was run over. It was found necessary to amputate all the small toes and part of the large one, but there is hope of saving the remainder of the foot.

Stewart Lawrence was perhaps injured internally Monday, in East Ferrisburgh, while driving a span of horses, the wagon pole dropped, frightening the animals, which ran away, throwing Mr. Lawrence out. He landed on his head. An investigation showed that no bones were broken, but he suffered considerable pain and it is feared he is hurt internally.

Mrs. Eber N. Clark, the oldest person in Norwich, died Tuesday at her home. She would have been 98 years old had she lived until next August. She had been in failing health for a year and for several months had been confined to her bed. She was born in Theford and married Mr. Clark in Stratford, seventy-two years ago. For fifty-seven years she had lived in the house where she died.

While on the way from Bolton to Jericho Center Saturday afternoon, Dr. H. D. Hopkins' automobile went over a 10-foot embankment near the farm of Collins H. Marsh and landed upright on the rocks below. The doctor was thrown through the wind shield and somewhat bruised. On Monday morning men and teams were secured and the machine, which was damaged to the extent of several hundred dollars, was removed.

Sunday, May 22, Roy Green and Ora Kenison were strolling in the woods in Newport for pleasure, with a 32-caliber revolver in the pocket of the former. Green held the muzzle of the revolver in his left hand and was turning the chamber around, when the revolver was accidentally discharged, the bullet going through Green's hand and into one of Kenison's lungs. Both young men are doing well, but the bullet has not yet been located.

While Bennie Lahar and Ben Robie, boys about fifteen years old, together with other boys, were in a friendly scuffle near the restaurant in Newport, recently young Robie, who, with a knife in his hand, had been whittling, accidentally stabbed young Lahar in the side, inflicting a serious though not dangerous wound. The wound was immediately attended to and the boy is doing well. The circumstances do not warrant any action in the case.

Sunday school delegates from Washington, D. C. to the number of 110, passed through Lake Champlain Wednesday near the restaurant in Newport. They met the boat at Plattsburgh and most of them spent the night on board. While in Burlington they snapped pictures of nearly everything in sight and a number got off from the boat so that they could say they had been on Vermont soil. The largest number of the delegates were from England, but there was a good sprinkling from Scotland, Ireland and the continent.

Mr. and Mrs. James F. Hooker and two children of Brattleboro were in the main tent of Barnum & Bailey's circus, which was destroyed by fire at Schenectady, N. Y. Saturday, May 21. They were seated near the top of the tent when the flames were discovered. Both Mr. and Mrs. Hooker had to jump a considerable distance and Mr. Hooker caught the children as a friend dropped them to him. They were considerably shaken up but not injured. The fire is supposed to have caught from a cigar stump and it was only a few minutes before the big tent was destroyed. It contained 10,000 spectators.

Hugh Agnew and Robert Mitchell, census enumerators, completed the taking of the census in Brattleboro May 25. They made a tour of the business section of the town and located 79 persons who had been skipped by the enumerator making the first enumeration. Since the first day of May, at which time the time limit for taking the census expired, nearly 500 names have been added to those already taken. As many complaints were made to the board of trade that the enumerators had failed on their first count to do a thorough job of the state supervisor of the census, L. M. Hayes of Burlington, was notified and extended the time for completing the census in Brattleboro to May 28. It was found impossible to visit all of the persons omitted in the first enumeration in the extended time and Mr. Hayes granted a further extension to May 29.

SUCCEEDS CAPTAIN CHAPMAN.
Capt. Frank Tompkins to Be Commandant at Norwich.

Northfield, June 3.—The new commandant for Norwich university, Captain Frank Tompkins, 11th cavalry, U. S. army, who has been at the school for the past four years and who has been transferred to his regiment, which is now serving in the Philippines.

Captain Tompkins is a graduate of Port Leavenworth, where he attended the 19th cavalry school for a number of years. He has served in many important stations, his last being with his regiment at Fort Oglethorpe, Georgia. He was ordered on a three years' detail recently by the war department to succeed Captain Chapman at Norwich, at the latter's request, and will have complete charge of the military affairs of that institution for that period of time. Captain Chapman completes his fourth commencement week at Northfield this year, having originally been assigned for three years, but because of a petition circulated among friends, alumni and faculty of the university generally, the department detailed him for another year.

REMARKABLY OLD MAN.
Joseph Wood, Vermont, Died, Nearly 110 Years Old.

Brattleboro, June 3.—Joseph Wood died Tuesday at the age of 110 years and three months, lacking six days. He was doubtless the oldest man in Vermont and perhaps in New England. He was born near Montpelier, P. Q., February 24, 1800, according to best information obtainable, and he had lived in Brattleboro nearly 25 years. He came to Vermont when 50 years old. His paternal grandfather lived to the age of 118 years. His father died at the age of 99 years. His memory was retentive to the last. His early life was passed as a woodsman in the Canadian forest.

KOHLER DEFENSE SCORES.
Shows Utmost Motives on Part of Some of Witnesses Against Police Chief.

Cleveland, O. June 3.—The second day of the trial of Chief of Police Fred Kohler, Cleveland's "golden rule" chief, on charges of immorality, intoxication and insubordination, was a decidedly bright one for the defense. Early in the hearing, the prosecution put upon the stand their chief witness, a woman of the red light district, who was expected to prove the more serious charges of immorality, which were brought against the chief. In substance, all the testimony that this woman gave was that she had once seen Chief Kohler drinking wine in a disorderly house.

The next most important witness was Patrick J. Brown, a former policeman of Muncie, Ind., and one of the two men who signed the charges against the accused official. Brown complained that on one occasion when his automobile was stolen Kohler refused to listen to his complaint and ordered him out of his office. On cross-examination, he admitted that he had money on the result of the trial, and that he also made a bet in January that he would "get Kohler yet." Several witnesses testified to having seen Chief Kohler intoxicated on different occasions, but the evidence was contradictory and in certain of the cases cause for animus was shown. Three policemen who took the stand were proven to have been punished or degraded by the chief on one or more charges.
