HIRED APPLAUSE.

The Great Rachel Made the Claque Earn its Money.

Speaking of applause in theaters, a theatrical man relates the following concerning the great actress Rachel: "It seems that upon a certain opening night Rachel received enthusiastic applause, but on the second night it was so noticeably slim that the actress felt deeply grieved and bitterly complained that the claque was not doing its duty. The leader of the hired 'applause makers' on hearing of her displeasure wrote her a letter in which he endeavored to excuse himself from any blame. "Mademoiselle—I cannot remain under the obliquy of a reproach from such lips as yours," he began. "The following is an authentic statement of what really took place: At the first representation I led the attack in person not less than thirty-three times. We had three acclamations, four hilarities, two thrilling movements, four renewals of applause and two indefinite explosions. In fact, to such an extent did we carry our applause that the occupants of the stalls were scandalized and cried out a la porte! "My men were positively exhausted with fatigue and even intimidated to me that they could not again go through such an evening. Seeing such to be the case, I applied for the manuscript, and after having profoundly studied the piece I was obliged to make up my mind for the second representation to certain curtailments in the service of my men." "The writer thus goes on at some length to assure the actress he will try to make future amends and requests her to believe in his profound admiration."—Exchange.

THE OLD OAKEN BUCKET.

A Drink From the Well That Was Not Appreciated.

The girl accepted the glass of ice water with a fervor in her words that went away beyond the manner of ordinary politeness. "Yes," she confessed, "I am deeply grateful. You don't know what a blessing it is to be able to get a drink out of a refrigerator—just open the door and take it out. You see, I've been visiting at one of those houses in the country where the poetic old oaken bucket still is on the job. Every time I wanted a drink I had to get a knife and a weight and a rope and a bucket and a cup. I dug the lid of the well up with the knife. Then I adjusted the weight on one side of the bucket so it would tip over and take in water when it hit the bottom. Then I drew up the bucket, took a cupful of water, coiled the rope, shut down the lid and put the knife away again. All that for just one little drink! "Once we went out driving. We found one well where we couldn't get the lid up. We found another where the rope was too short. I was just dying for a drink by that time, so one of the boys held another upside down and we dipped out a drink that way. Thank you, I'm very comfortable where I am. No oaken buckets for me, except in songs."—Kansas City Star.

Saving Time.

"How much is that?" asked the man who was in a hurry. "Dollar ninety-eight," replied the saleslady. "Would you mind calling it $2 even?" "I'm sorry, but it's against the rules." "Would you consent as a favor to retain the change?" "Certainly not! I do not receive tips." He turned sadly away. Then a bright idea struck him. He went to the door, called a passing newsboy and took him to the counter. He reached for the article desired and regardless of protest shoved it into his pocket. Laying down a two dollar bill, he said to the newsboy: "Now, son, you wait for that 2 cents change, no matter how long it takes, and here's half a dollar for your trouble."—Washington Star.

After September 1 the Barre office of Mr. Mansfield will be in the second story of the Dodge block, at the corner of Main and Granite streets, being in charge of Mr. Bancroft as agent.

Final accounts of the trustees in the bankruptcy cases of Rowell E. Beckley, engaged in plumbing in Northfield, and E. J. Blanchard were approved Saturday at the office of referee W. N. Theron, and the bankrupts were discharged. In the case of Mr. Blanchard, a dividend of 12 1/2 per cent was ordered paid, making a total of 37 1/2 per cent that has been paid to his creditors.

The Grocers' Magazine of Boston devotes five pages to an illustrated write-up of the F. D. Ladd Co. grocery store of this city. The magazine says of the store by way of introduction that it is "one of the most up-to-date grocery and food stores in New England. The F. D. Ladd Co. now does an annual business of over $175,000, has a store which is thoroughly up-to-date, the various departments including a bakery and a department in which the company makes all its own bread, makes its own sausages and cooks its own meat." Five illustrations of store views are printed with the write-up.

A young man with a vicious punch and a disposition to exercise it created no little disturbance on one of the incoming electric cars last night. He boarded the car at Dewey park, where his evening had been controlled by a disturbance and was thrust on the home-ward bound car by his friends to prevent further trouble there. He was still pugilistically inclined and picked a quarrel with two Italians on the rear seat, and for a few minutes fists were flying in the air, the Italians doing no more than to defend themselves until friends of the young pugilist could subdue him. The car had to be stopped twice for the young man, once to prevent his being knocked off while fighting and again to endeavor to transfer him to a train, which endeavor signally failed. He was still ready for a fight when he reached this city, but was not accommodated.

It is now an established fact that "Just Out of College" contains more bright, breezy dialogue than any of the Act comedies. The hero is a young man, who has just graduated. His total assets consists of three suits of clothes, a tennis racket, a banjo, his love for the daughter of a wealthy pickle manufacturer and unbounded nerve. The father makes the rather unique proposition to lend the young man several thousand dollars and give him three months (in which time he must not see the girl), in order to prove that he has business ability and is deserving of the daughter. With this money, the young man takes up with a scheme the older one has rejected and inside of three months has beaten his prospective father-in-law at his own game. The denouement can easily be imagined. "Just Out of College" comes to the opera house next Friday night, Sept. 2. Music and pretty girls have been accorded proper consideration in this commendable offering.

CABOT.

Bagley Abbott of Woodsville spent Sunday at the Winoski house.

Miss Lila Perry and Carrie Bellan went to Johnson Saturday, where they are to attend the state normal school.

The rubbish heap, which has been such an adornment and spot of beauty in our village, was removed Saturday morning.

Notice.

Democratic headquarters have now been opened in the Granite block, the rooms in rear of Place & Paige office, over the United Fruit store. Everybody is invited to visit the rooms.

GREAT DEMAND THIS SPRING FOR TENEMENTS, especially in south and easterly sections of the city, also nearly all houses built for homes the past year were built in this section of the city. I have lots of many desirable streets and mostly in eastern section of city, on Hill St., Ayer St., Kirk St., Quarry, Circle, Camp, Tremont, East, Currier, Grandview, Long St., any of which I will sell at as favorable prices, or more favorable than equally as desirable lots can be had elsewhere. If you were to buy a cow you would usually see a party who had many for sale, rather than buy a man's only cow. Take a walk during the next day or two, visiting above streets. Notice they are our best streets and lots well elevated. No fear of surface water or floods.
