METHOD OF LACING BELTS.

Four Ways of Getting Satisfactory Results on Thrashing Machines.

In lacing belts on the thrashing machine an effort must always be made to have the ends of the belt joined perfectly and to have the work done so that there will be the least possible irregularity on the belt surface and consequently the least amount of friction on both the belt and the thong, says the Kansas Farmer. Here are four ways of doing it. The first drawing on the upper left hand corner shows the pulley side and the next one the outside of the same lacing. The other drawings appear in the same order and show the pulley side first, then the outside. Of course these drawings are made to show the ends of the belt coming together where the line runs through the middle of each. A choice may be made of the method preferred and the holes punched accordingly. Either of these methods may be used on belts not wider than sixteen inches. Where belts are wider than this the lap splice would be better. All belts should be cut a little shorter than the distance around the pulleys, say one-third to one-quarter inch for each foot in length. Punch the holes so that their diameter will be about three-quarters that of the width of the thong. Begin lacing in the center and work toward one ledge of the belt, then back through the center to the other edge and return to the center with both ends of the thong through the same hole, but from opposite directions. Then punch an oval hole about an inch distant and tuck both ends of the thong through this and cut them off so that the ends will be only about one-half inch long.

BELT LACING. (From the Kansas Farmer.)

USING POULTRY MANURE.

Three Farmers Express Opinions About Its Value as Fertilizer.

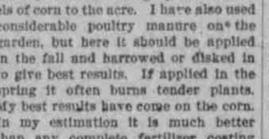

The following opinions concerning the use of poultry manure were gathered by the Orange Judd Farmer: "As poultry manure is the richest and most valuable farm fertilizer I take special care of it. The most profitable way I have found in disposing of it is to use it as a top dressing for grass. It is also especially valuable for onions and newly set strawberry plants. Corn and nearly all garden crops do well with it. It is especially rich in nitrogen and is quickly available for the use of plants. I never mix it with wood ashes or anything that contains lime, because lime sets free the nitrogen in the form of ammonia. Sifted coal ashes are not objectionable, nor is gypsum. Sand and loam are useful; dry muck is especially so."—Henry R. Ingalls, Greene County, N. Y.

IT SAVED HIS LEG.

"All though I'd lose my leg," writes J. A. Swenson of Watertown, Wis. "Ten years of eczema, that 15 doctors could not cure, had at last laid me up. Then Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured it, sound and well." Infalible for skin eruptions, eczema, salt rheum, boils, fever sores, burns, scalds, cuts and piles. 25c at the Red Cross Pharmacy.

SAVE LABOR ON FARM.

Every Detail Needs Attention if Profits Are to Be Realized From Work.

Much time and money are lost upon the farm by inconsideration. To the farmer, labor is money and time is valuable. Whenever time is lost and labor is sacrificed the profits are apt to be small.

Fences should be located with reference to convenience. The rotation should be carefully planned before fences are located and fields are laid out for the different crops. Fences are expensive, and they should be constructed with reference to convenience and adaptability. The gates should be properly made, adequately suspended and conveniently located. No unnecessary time should be lost in passing through gates and getting the teams to other fields.

The tool shed, the barn, the garden and the pasture should all be located with reference to the needs of the manager. Thirty minutes lost every day for a year means a loss of nearly a month's work.

Perhaps less attention is given to the water supply than any other necessity upon the farm. On many farms the well is located in the wrong place, and on not a few stock water is scarce or difficult to reach. This is extremely unfortunate for the animals as well as for the manager of the farm. Animals are sometimes driven several miles for water and in this way cost their owner more than they are worth.

For convenience the farmstead should be carefully planned before the different buildings are located. Mistakes in building are costly and should not be made. Inadequate buildings, poor fences and insufficient water supply not only reduce the profits of the farm, but cause the hands and teams to become discouraged with farm life.—Farm and Ranch.

ABOUT THE STATE

The two adjoining towns of Somerset and Stratton, just over the range in Windham county, have elected to the legislature two brothers, Fred and Ray Johnson. Two years ago there were the Boyce brothers in the House, one from Proctor and one from Waterbury.

Durlington is to see a three-cornered fight within the next few months for the appointment to the city judgeship, the candidates for the appointment being Alfred L. Sherman, Theodore E. Hopkins and Martin S. Viles. The present incumbent, Edmund H. Moser, who has held the position for the past six years, is not a candidate for reappointment.

Charles H. Pierce, assistant professor of mechanics and railroad engineering at the University of Vermont for the past four years, has been appointed assistant engineer in the water resources branch of the United States geological survey and will be stationed at Honolulu for a study of the water resources of Hawaii.

The St. Albans board of trade has invited the Franklin county senators and representatives—elect, Gov.-elect, J. A. Mead and state highway commissioner C. W. Gates to take a highway inspection tour, leaving there by automobile next Tuesday, going to East Alburgh, Plattsburgh, Port Henry, Middlebury, Vergennes and Burlington, returning to St. Albans the next evening. The object is to make an examination of the state highways in New York state, to learn the benefit which they serve and find out about their cost, construction and maintenance.

OBSERVED 90th BIRTHDAY.

Friends of Mrs. Aurilla Shedd of Bethel Pay Her Visit.

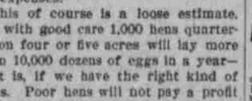

Bethel, Sept. 12.—More than 90 of the friends of Mrs. Aurilla Shedd called upon her on Saturday, Sept. 10, to honor her 90th birthday. Mrs. Shedd was born in Bethel, September 10, 1820, and was one of nine children born to Holey and Betsy (Moody) Jones, and it was in this town that she received her education, attending the district school near the place where she lived, and later years has been converted into a dwelling house. When she was 20 years of age, she married Rodney Shedd of Bethel, the ceremony being performed at the home of her uncle, John Moody, by Rev. Eli Garfield, a resident Universalist minister. Following their marriage they went to Randolph to reside, and it was here that their only son, Edgar Rodney, was born, November 20, 1841. After living at this place one year, they returned to Bethel, where they have ever since resided. Mr. Shedd having followed his trade as blacksmith, over 50 years, his death occurring in December, 1888, their son having been killed by a fall from a building, seven years before. After her double bereavement, Mrs. Shedd resided alone much of the time, and as long as her eyesight permitted, followed her trade as tailoress. A few years ago it was found that cataracts were forming over the sight of both of her eyes, and for a time she was talked blind, her sight having been restored by a surgical operation, which she bore with remarkable fortitude, and from which she regained her strength, and has been in comfortable health since that time. Mrs. Shedd has a host of friends, among the young and old, who delight to call upon her and minister to her comfort and happiness, as far as possible. To-day she is possessed of a remarkable memory, for one so old, and is cheerful, and enjoys all that interests people in general. She has long been a member of the Universalist church, and a constant attendant, till failing strength made it impossible to be present at the regular services. Young and old rejoice in this remarkable woman many noble qualities, which they would seek to emulate, for all have formed a very strong attachment. Among her many visitors on Saturday, were Mr. J. B. Putnam, who has passed his 91st birthday, and Hon. A. P. Hunton, who is 94 years of age.
