A Famous Opal. The most famous opal in history was that which was worn in a ring by the Roman senator Nonius in the day of the triumvirate. Its size equaled that of a medium sized hazelnut, yet its beauty and brilliancy rendered it a marvel among the dilettanti of Rome, especially when it was known that the goldsmiths and money changers had set its value at $1,000,000. Mark Antony made overtures to Nonius for its purchase, intending, it is thought, to present it to Cleopatra, but the senator refused to part with it and for fear that it would be taken from him by sheer force sought safety in flight. Here history loses all trace of this famous gem, there being no record of its transference from Nonius to any of his family.

At a Wedding Breakfast. After a marriage recently the bridal party partook of a sumptuous breakfast, toward the end of which a younger brother of the bride got up and said solemnly, raising his glass: "Ladies and gentlemen, I have to propose a toast, which, however, must be drunk standing. Please take your glasses and rise up." The guests, although somewhat bewildered, did so. "Now," said the young scapgrace, "if you will remain standing for a few minutes I'll find out who has been sitting on my new hat."—London Tit-Bits.

Russia. Russia did not break into European history until comparatively recent times. Rurik, a Varangian chief, seems to have been the first to establish a government, about 862. Rurik's descendants ruled amid many ups and downs till 1608, at which time the real history of the country may be said to begin. With the solitary exception of the United States of America, the progress of Russia under Peter the Great and Catherine II. is unequalled for rapidity in the history of the world.

Bringing Down the Average. "It is said that there are 120,000 hairs on the average human head," said the baldheaded man. "Too bad that you've pulled the average down so low, my dear," said his wife.—Yonkers Statesman.

In a close and hard-fought game, the Greenbacks defeated the Red Sox at Rangers field yesterday afternoon, by a score of 6 to 5. The batteries were: Lascor and Fowle for the winners and Rediani and Guidici for the Red Sox. T. Cabelloni and L. Wright acted as umpires.

H. W. Shores of Montpelier, who recently purchased the Bradford studio in the King building, began business there to-day. Mr. and Mrs. Shores will reside in the L. K. Averill house at 131 Washington street, having removed the remainder of their household goods to this city to-day. Mr. Shores was a former resident of this city, and a large number of people are familiar with his ability as a photographer.

GREAT DEMAND THIS SPRING FOR TENEMENTS, especially in south and easterly sections of the city, also nearly all houses built for homes the past year were built in this section of the city. I have lots of many desirable streets and mostly in eastern section of city, on Hill St., Ayer St., Kirk St., Quarry, Circle, Camp, Tremont, East, Currier, Grandview, Long St., any of which I will sell at as favorable prices, or more favorable than equally as desirable lots can be had elsewhere. If you were to buy a cow you would usually see a party who had many for sale, rather than buy a man's only cow. Take a walk during the next day or two, visiting above streets.
