

Good Way to Use

Hyomei for Catarrh
Besides breathing through the inhaler a few times a day, many catarrh sufferers write that they find inhaling HYOMEI (pronounced High-o-mei) from a bowl of steaming water each night before retiring a great aid in curing stubborn cases.

People of Note In the Limelight

Some of the Fair Sex Who Are Talked About
Notables Whose Names Are Much in Print

PRINCESS CLEMENTINE

MUCH sympathy has been felt throughout the world for Princess Clementine, youngest daughter of King Leopold, and Prince Victor Napoleon. Six years ago they fell in love with each other, but when Leopold heard of his daughter's intention to marry the imperialist pretender to the throne of France he peremptorily refused his consent. Owing to the king's objection the couple ceased to meet, but have remained faithful to each other all these years, and their love story is about to come to a happy climax, their marriage being imminent.

GABRIELE D'ANNUNZIO

Gabriele d'Annunzio, the famous Italian author and playwright, who is shortly to visit America, has a unique method of working. That nothing may disturb him he goes to the country house of his friend Michetti, the painter, and there in a large room he labors strenuously over his romances. No staircase leads to this room; neither has it any door. In the morning a ladder is placed against the window, and d'Annunzio climbs up and thus reaches his desk. Thereupon the ladder is removed by Michetti, and the novelist works at his ease until noon, when his friend climbs up to him with a light luncheon. The entire afternoon is also devoted to work, and not until evening does d'Annunzio descend the ladder.

W. A. LARNED

It will surprise many to learn that W. A. Larned never really trains for his tennis matches. He eats what he craves, practices when he feels like it and never maps out any special plan. He plays tennis, he says, because he likes the game, and this is probably the reason why he is champion. His heart has been in his work on the courts during the twenty-one years he has been a tennis player.

DUCHESS OF AOSTA

The Duchess of Aosta has been called "the sporting duchess." So keen is she for all outdoor sports. Now, however, she promises to become known as "the flying duchess," having taken up aviation. She has ordered an aeroplane and promises us some sensational flights in the near future. The duchess, who will shortly publish, both in French and English, an account of her adventures during her transatlantic trip, has taken with her to Italy an orphan Congo negro ten years of age.

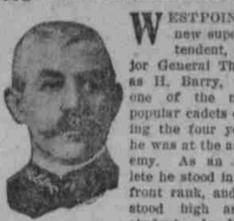

W. J. SMITH

One of those most frequently mentioned for the congressional speakership should Joseph G. Cannon be forced to retire from that office is Walter I. Smith of the Ninth Iowa district. Mr. Smith has been a member of the house continuously since 1900. He was born at Connel Bluffs in 1862 and has been a lawyer since 1882. From 1890 to 1900 he was judge of the Fifteenth judicial district. The caucus of delegates to the Iowa state convention from the Ninth district announced his candidacy for speaker of the next house.

MRS. HEINZE

For years Master Cupid has been aiming his arrows at F. Augustus Heinze, the copper magnate of Montana, but it was only recently that one took effect. The result was his marriage to Bernice Golden Heerlerson, an actress whose beauty and ability have attracted much attention. Mrs. Heinze is still in her twenties, but has been married once before and went on the stage to support a little daughter. She won instantaneous success and has played leading roles in some of the best productions. After their honeymoon, which is to be spent in Europe, the couple will reside in New York.

GENERAL BARRY

WESTPOINT'S new superintendent, Major General Thomas H. Barry, was one of the most popular cadets during the four years he was at the academy. As an athlete he stood in the front rank, and he stood high as a student. In June, 1877, he received his diploma and as a second lieutenant was assigned to the famous Seventh cavalry, Custer's old command. After three years in the Seventh General Barry was transferred to the infantry arm and assigned to the First infantry as a first lieutenant. About two years later he was promoted, after that passing through every grade until in August, 1903, President Roosevelt made him a brigadier general. In April, 1908, the same president promoted him to his present rank, the highest under the present law that an army officer can attain.

MRS. ELLEN TERRY

Mrs. Ellen Terry does not come to America to lecture. Just remember that, if you please. She emphatically declares that she comes to this country to discourse and won't have that word "lecture" used in connection with her visit. Lectures, she says, remind her of cold, bare halls, with a shivering audience of three people and a dog. She doesn't propose to play to such audiences. The famous actress comes to us in quite a new role this time. She will lecture—beg pardon, discourse—on Shakespeare and his famous plays, giving us many interesting points and side lights on those works. And to make these discourses the more attractive she will act little scenes from the plays we like best. There is a treat in store for lovers of Shakespeare in America. Miss Terry having devoted a lifetime to the study of his plays.

W. A. LARNED

When Larned defeated Bundy of California recently in the national championship match he won the title for the sixth time. He first became a real factor in the American tennis world in 1900, when he won the all comers tournament. But M. T. Whitman retained his title when he met Larned in the challenge round. The next year, however, Larned came into his own. After winning in the six comers class he won the national championship. In 1902 he defended it successfully, but the following year H. L. Doherty, the noted English player, won the title. For several years after that Larned was more or less inactive in the sport. Then in 1907 he flashed to the fore again, winning both the all comers and the championship in the challenge round from W. J. Clothier. The following year Larned disposed of Beals C. Wright, the challenger. W. J. Clothier was Larned's opponent last year, but the champion had little difficulty in defeating him.

Twenty Years Ahead! Crawford Ranges
Other ranges have not advanced in any material way in twenty years. They have the same cook-confusing, food-spoiling way of regulating by two dampers. Crawford has but One Damper (patented); one motion controls fire and oven absolutely; slide the knob to "kindle," "bake" or "check"—the range does the rest. No damper mistakes. Ordinary ranges have the old clumsy ash pan; troublesome, untidy. Crawford has an Ash Hod (patented) into which all the ashes fall, far below the fire—making their disposal easy and cleanly. The Coal Hod is beside it. Crawford Ovens have cup-joint flues that heat every part uniformly. Crawford has Patented Grates—most durable, least trouble. Gas Ovens and Broilers at end or above range furnished if desired. Ask the Crawford agent to show you and write to us for circulars. Walker & Pratt Mfg. Co., 31 Union St., Boston. FOR SALE BY C. W. AMUSEMENT NOTES.
"The Final Settlement" at Barre Opera House Thursday Evening.
"The Final Settlement," a drama of American social life, will be the attraction at the opera house on Thursday, Sept. 22.
A problem play of more than passing interest, it points a strong moral lesson, depicting as it does the grave consequences that oft times follow the sudden acquisition of wealth and power.
The smoothly running lines tell in an engrossing fashion of the rise of a brilliant and ambitious young mechanic from the ranks of labor to the presidency of a great iron trust.
His suddenly acquired opulence and power, and the allurements of life in the social set in which he moves, dispose him to divorce his wife, a woman of conservative, homely tastes and ideas, who still retains her orthodox conceptions of home and husband.
He marries a beautiful actress, believing that her talents and charms will enable him to establish the social leadership he so greatly desires. His subsequent disgrace, and ultimate rescue at the hands of the still faithful first wife, form the basis of the story. A strain of sprightly comedy gleams from time to time through the lines and serves to relieve the spirit of gripping intensity that pervades the atmosphere of the production.
Seats on sale at Kendrick's Tuesday morning.
INGERSOLL BOUND OVER.
Biddford Bank Treasurer Held in $20,000 Bail.
Biddford, Me., Sept. 19.—Richard M. Ingersoll, former treasurer of the York County Savings bank at Biddford, Me., Saturday was bound over to the September term of the supreme court, which opens at Alfred to-day. He pleaded not guilty to the charge of embezzlement, but which he was arrested, Ingersoll being too ill to appear in court, the brief proceedings were conducted at the aged man's home by recorder Clarence H. Rumery of the municipal court. Friends of Ingersoll furnished the $20,000 bail fixed by recorder Rumery.
