

CONVENTION TURBULENT

Massachusetts Democrats Engage in Fist Fights

MANSFIELD THE NOMINEE

After Failure to Select Candidate on Two Ballots, Vahey Withdraws and Presents His Name—Nomination Unanimous.

Boston, Oct. 7.—After a continuous session of nearly 14 hours, the Democrats of this state at an early hour this morning nominated Frederick W. Mansfield of Boston as their candidate for governor. This nomination was brought about by the withdrawal of James H. Vahey of the second ballot, he placing in nomination the name of Mr. Mansfield. His nomination was unanimous.

Only one ballot had been taken up to 9 o'clock last night, when the second ballot was ordered. The first ballot, which required four hours in casting and counting showed that Eugene N. Foss of Boston was leading, having 383 votes to 302 for James H. Vahey of Waterbury, 295 for Charles S. Hamlin of Boston and 10 scattering.

The slowness of the voting was due to the Australian system.

When the second ballot was counted it was found that again there had been no choice.

The vote on the second ballot was: Total number of votes cast, 883; Necessary for choice, 442; Eugene Foss, 438; James H. Vahey, 425; Charles S. Hamlin, 20.

The convention broke out in a wild tumult at the conclusion of the announcement of an indecisive second ballot shortly after midnight. Delegates swarmed up over the press seats and upon the platform. Chairman John H. Thayer called for the police and 20 officers struggled through the mass of delegates to the stage. The officers succeeded after great difficulty and in pushing ardent delegates back upon the floor of the convention hall.

Martin Lomasney the Boston ward backer, going tenaciously to the edge of gressman John A. Keliher, a Hamlin backer, clung tenaciously to the edge of the platform, however, demanding the right to speak.

A second effort by the officers to clear the stage resulted in several fights. Fists were used freely and at 12:25, half a dozen mixups were in progress with the chairman unable to secure order or entertain any of the motions which were being yelled from various parts of the hall.

At 12:30 a recess of 20 minutes was declared by the chairman. Scarcely anyone left the hall. In fact, the melee was at its height and the announcement of a recess had but little effect on the convention.

Delegates were pounding each other in and about the press boxes and the newspaper men were driven from their section. The officers experienced difficulty in separating the combatants and reserves were called in.

The platform adopted calls for revision of the tariff on foodstuffs and the necessities of life; adoption of a constitutional amendment provided for a federal income tax; election of United States senators by direct vote; a uniform parcels post system throughout the nation; the initiative and referendum; improved conditions for laboring men; opposition to the re-election of Senator Henry Cabot Lodge and economy in state expenditures.

Candidate Vahey, at 1:15 a. m., withdrew as a candidate for governor. Mr. Vahey then placed in nomination Frederick W. Mansfield of Boston and the convention made his nomination unanimous as a result of conference held between representatives of Foss and Vahey to select a candidate.

LAST DAY OF GOV. HUGHES.

He Will Be Succeeded by Lieutenant-Governor Horace White.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 7.—Following a continuous service of almost four years as chief executive of New York state, Governor Charles E. Hughes formally relinquished his office late yesterday and left Albany for Washington, where, next week, he will sit as a member of the United States supreme court. The duties of the governorship were assumed by Lieutenant-Governor Horace White of Syracuse, who will fill out the unexpired term of Governor Hughes, ending on Jan. 1, next. Governor Hughes, by working day and night for the past several days, has practically disposed of all pending important matters.

AMUSEMENT NOTES.

"The Girl in the Taxi" Comes Saturday Evening.

Gertrude Barthold, who portrays the leading role in "The Girl in the Taxi," coming to the opera house Saturday night, Oct. 8, speaks interestingly of a recent trip to Italy, comparing the natural scenery at that country to its counterpart on the stage. She says: "When one wanders out along the Riviera, there is something curiously, hauntingly familiar about it all. Those pretty villas, cream and lemon and green, but most of all, a sweet rose pink, with windows painted on the outside so natural you can't tell which are painted and which are real; those white marble terraces and balustrades, with the vines and shrubbery hanging over, exactly as if arranged by a milliner—surely one has seen all that before. Surely, surely, if the leading man were to lean by chance too hard against the corner of that house, it would shake. It is all the dear old conventional stage setting."

There is the accustomed background, the bold, rocky point crowned with a perfectly impossible castle rising out of a quite impossible sea; the white-sailed boat obviously a painted boat upon a painted ocean, and on the other side quaint little pink villages clinging up ravines that run away among the mountains, with women washing in the stream—it is all exceeding staid. One is likely to feel a wondering contempt at people who will so copy from the stage until he remembers it is the other way about, the stage has copied from them."

"The Wolf" Was Seen Last Night.

Another fine presentation of Eugene Walter's "The Wolf," was seen at the Barre opera house, and the audience enjoyed the melodrama of the Canadian Hudson bay country. Although this was the third appearance of the play in as many seasons, the house was filled, many coming from Montpelier. The character which appealed most to Barre people was that of "Andrew McTavish," the dour Scotchman, because it was so ably presented by Logan Paul, whose Scotch tongue was quite accurate. John M. Kline, as the American civil engineer, the villain of the plot, also took care of his plot very well.

SHOT FOR DEER BY FRIEND.

Maine Hunter Almost Instantly Killed at Haynesville.

Bangor, Me., Oct. 7.—The first fatality of the deer shooting season in Maine occurred Wednesday afternoon in Haynesville, Aroostock county, when Alfred Lane, aged 20, of that town, was shot and almost instantly killed by his hunting companion, Charles O'Brien, also of Haynesville. O'Brien mistook Lane for a deer and shot him in the head, inflicting a wound from which the latter died in a few minutes.

Help was summoned and the body was carried two miles to the house of Edward Anderson in Hynes Village, where coroner William Buzzell of Houlton held an inquest yesterday morning.

CHANGE IN PRIZE COURT.

Holland Proposes Amendment to Scheme for Hearings at The Hague.

The Hague, Oct. 7.—The government of Holland yesterday addressed a note to the powers represented at the London naval conference, containing the draft of an additional protocol based on the proposal of the United States and in accordance with the wish of Great Britain, France and Germany. The proposal gives the signatories to The Hague convention for the establishment of an international prize court power to add a reservation to the effect that the right of appeal from the decisions of national courts shall take the form of a direct action for indemnity.

"KILL THE NIGHT RIDERS."

Advice Issued by Judge in Instructing Kentucky Grand Jury.

Carlisle, Ky., Oct. 7.—Vigilance committee tactics were virtually recommended to the citizens of Nicholas county Wednesday by circuit judge P. W. Fryer, when he instructed a special grand jury charged with the duty of investigating recent night-rider troubles in this vicinity. The court told the citizens to break up night-riding by banding themselves together to capture the marauders, or, if need be, to kill the nocturnal visitors during raids.

MAYOR GAYNOR ON VACATION.

He May Spend Several Days at His Home in St. James.

New York, Oct. 7.—The absence of Mayor Gaynor from City hall yesterday, gave rise to reports that he had overtaxed himself by coming to his office three days in succession. The statement was made yesterday afternoon that Mayor Gaynor had gone to his home in St. James and might be absent for some days.

MONTPELIER.

The engagement is announced of Miss Fannie Ide, daughter of George W. Ide, formerly of Calais, to Warren L. Fletcher of Reading, Mass. Miss Ide is well known here.

A son weighing nine pounds was born Wednesday to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Van-graw.

Edwin E. Robinson, who has been spending the summer with his niece, Mrs. Clark left Monday for Milford, Mass., from where he will go to the Tennessee soldiers' home for the winter. Mr. Robinson is a native of Calais and is 74 years of age, a veteran of the Civil war, where he was a sharpshooter. For eight years he was in the lumber business in Oklahoma.

Six of the eight candidates who have been taking examinations for admittance in the bar passed, and five of them were sworn in before the supreme court this morning. Myron P. Davis and C. M. Miller of Brattleboro, Bernard J. Mulcahey of Hardwick, Guy M. Page of Burlington, P. M. Phelps of Fair Haven, C. V. Poulton of Rutland also passed the examination but cannot be admitted to the bar until January, as he has not studied the required length of time.

Timothy K. Garrey and Miss Elizabeth Mary Carney were married yesterday at St. Augustine's church by Rev. W. J. O'Sullivan. Mr. Garrey is an engineer on the Central Vermont railroad and the bride has been employed in the dress-making rooms of Miss Lizzie Stimson. They will reside on Fullerton street.

SUGAR IN CRAFT CASE.

Officials of Lyons, N. Y., Company Before Committee in Albany.

New York, Oct. 7.—The investigation into alleged corrupt practices of public service and industrial corporations seeking beneficial legislation at Albany, took a new turn yesterday, when the legislative investigation committee called to the stand officials of the defunct Lyons, N. Y., Sugar Refining company. From questions put to Leland H. Hulter, secretary and treasurer of the company, and to H. F. Zimmerman, the company's legislative agent at Albany, it was indicated that information would be sought as to whether persuasion of a questionable character had not been exerted with members of the Senate and assembly, in order to obtain first the passage of the best sugar bounty act and later its retention on the statute books six years beyond the period originally stipulated.

Payments of $10,150 made to Mr. Zimmerman to cover expenses incurred by him at Albany from 1905 to 1908 were spread on the record.

HITCHCOCK AT BEVERLY.

He and the President Discuss Postal Savings, and Perhaps Politics.

Beverly, Mass., Oct. 7.—Postmaster General Hitchcock arrived in Beverly from Washington yesterday morning and lunched with President Taft. It was said that Mr. Hitchcock came to discuss some departmental matters, including the early inauguration of the postal savings bank system. There was a hint that politics may have had a bearing on the visit of the cabinet officer at this time.

The high prices paid for pork make hog raising to-day more profitable than ever. But feed, too, has advanced and the up-to-date hog raiser has learned by necessity that Burlington Bone and Meat Meal is the best and cheapest hog fattener. Actual tests prove it. The Iowa Experiment Station test demonstrated conclusively that a ration of five parts corn and one part Bone and Meat Meal yielded over 34 per cent. greater profits than a ration of corn alone. Our Bone and Meat Meal is made of pure fine ground cooked meat and bone. It is wholesome and fattening because made from fresh materials and cured as soon as manufactured.
