THE TRAINING OF ATHLETES. Dartmouth Track Coach Says Secret Is in Dieting.

"Not one man in ten has the remotest idea of how to properly train for athletic events. They don't know how to work. Proper dieting and the correct care of the body and the mind are two things that the great majority of athletes have not the slightest conception of," says Harry Hillman, athletic coach at Dartmouth. "It is not an unusual thing to hear of some former athlete who has gone bad physically. People hear of these cases and immediately declare that athletics is not a good thing for our young men. But you will notice that the men who break down are always those who haven't been good performers, and there's a good reason why this is so. The men who have been stars are those who started out with correct ideas of how to train, while the ones who have broken up physically all started their athletic careers without the least knowledge of the subject."

"Take the runners—they are mostly young fellows who regard their preparatory work, eat the wrong foods and have their meals at irregular hours, all of which is bound to tell when they give up training and settle down to business. Perhaps ten years will elapse before they feel the results of incorrect training, and then, you will notice, it is usually their stomachs that go wrong."

Hillman says that half the athletes know no more about proper dieting than does the average two-year-old child. They eat big meals just before going out to compete, no matter what time of the day it may be. That's the worst thing an athlete can possibly do, because it takes at least three hours for ordinary food to properly digest, and if it is a terrible strain on the stomach to do any running when it is filled.

"Draw up one of your legs and you will notice that the abdominal muscles are brought to full play," says Hillman, adding that man should partake of nothing heavier than a couple of soft-boiled eggs or a little toast and tea before competing in any athletic event. "Outdoor work is best because it affords good air, allowing the lungs to develop without taking any chances of breathing in the germs that are bound to infect the atmosphere of an inclosed place, and the fresh air also helps to keep the stomach in good order."

The Dartmouth coach believes that club athletes who run at least twice a week indoors are apt to contract diseases because of the fine-drawn condition that they are sure to attain. College men, though, must do a great deal of indoor work because they have only two months in the open air. Only the most vigorously constituted are able to run during the indoor season. Bonhag, the greatest distance runner in the country, is a fair example, says Hillman. Bonhag comes out and does a lot of running toward the close of the indoor season, but he always takes at least two months' rest before he even starts training for the outdoor games.

"When I first took charge of athletics at Dartmouth I saw that hardly a single man on the squad really knew how to diet, and I made a strict rule that most should not be allowed a more than two of the three meals I did a lot of training at Travers Island during their amateur career, and noticed that the men who tackled the meat platters at every meal hardly ever made good on the tracks. "Every man will stay at the table a full 40 minutes," I told them. Rather than eat in a few minutes and be compelled to remain at the table, I soon found that all of the men were putting in the time slowly eating," says Hillman.

When the call for cross country running was issued at Dartmouth, fully 50 men answered. One member of the squad had never done any running to speak of, but he was terribly bothered with indigestion, and Hillman told him the running would do him good. Within a few weeks the student told the coach he was absolutely cured. "No college could exist without athletics," says Hillman. "The students would overeat and sit around in their rooms burning up tobacco. They'd never go to the gymnasium because it is almost impossible to get them interested in this sort of work even now."

About the State

Hedgehog bounties were paid on 112 heads in Stratton in one week recently.

Passengers on trains January 12 noted that farmers below Putney station were plowing the fields.

As a result of the icy roads in Proctor last week, Charles Mead lost 72 bottles of cream and some milk by the upsetting of his sleigh. He was thrown from the sleigh but was uninjured.

Rev. C. A. Remy, pastor of the Pentecostal church of Putnam, Conn., has tendered his resignation, to take effect February 1, having accepted the call to the church of Johnson and Morrisville.

Superintendent Wilfred Smith of the Woodstock Electric company received a shock from a switch carrying 2,300 volts, while at work at the station last week. As he was standing on an insulated box, he escaped with a badly burned hand.

George Wilson, an employe of the S. A. Smith company, of Newfane, is in the Brattleboro Memorial hospital, ill with blood poisoning. Mr. Wilson got a silver into his knee about seven weeks ago, which was taken out with a knife that had been used to remove covers from cans. Blood poisoning set in and his condition since then has been serious.

Three trunks full of smuggled articles of wearing apparel, about 500 in all, seized some time ago by the government authorities in Vermont, have been ordered condemned by Marshal Horace W. Bailey and will be sold at Burlington about March 1. One hundred and seventy-five cases of bad catsup seized because it did not comply with the pure food laws has been ordered destroyed.

E. P. Osgood caught a peculiar bird in Newfane Tuesday. As he was driving along he espied the bird hopping about the meadow, and after about fifteen minutes succeeded in catching it. It has a long neck and bill. The plumage is white on head, throat and the under part of the body. The back is spotted, white and bluish. The bird has web feet and apparently belongs to the water.

Elijah J. Davenport, for many years an employe of the American Fork and Hoe company of Wallingford, died Friday of blood poisoning. Mr. Davenport got a small piece of steel in his thumb about a week ago, but was not taken seriously ill until the day before his death. Physicians were at home amputated the arm the day his death occurred, but when they arrived at his home found that the poison had infected his body.

The Windsor County Agricultural society held its annual meeting last Thursday in Woodstock and found that the fair had net $137.36 in the treasury. The sum of $1,832.42 was received from tickets of admission to the fair; $488 from the grandstand, $433.85 from the lucksters. The total receipts were $5,283.16 and the expenditures $5,145.80. There was only one change in the board of managers, J. S. Eaton succeeding C. H. English, who retired as treasurer, after many years of service.

A peculiar accident in Grafton caused the death of John Hakey, aged 18 years, last Tuesday. He was working with others on a pulp job and a chute had been built for sliding the pulp wood down a steep bank to a point where it could be taken by teams. The pulp was lodged in the chute and Hakey was some distance down the line, clearing the jam, when a stick was started from the top. A fellow employe shouted to the man below, and when Hakey jumped aside he went over the edge of the bank. He was found about ten feet down in an unconscious condition, from which he never rallied, dying that evening. The singular feature of the case was that, while the symptoms indicated an injury to the brain, there was not the slightest external injury.

Six Washington, D. C. high school boys have been suspended from school as a result of a "joy ride" taken by them one day last week in an electric automobile owned by Representative David J. Foster. The boys, after drinking some wine which two of them got at a saloon, took the automobile, which was standing in front of a school building, and after running it around for some time, left it at the Washington monument grounds, considerably damaged. Mr. Foster was disposed to be lenient in the matter of prosecution, according to the Washington Star, if the boys or their parents would pay the expense of repairs to the automobile.

HASN'T HEARD FROM SON. Therefore James Duffey Was Appointed Administrator.

Burlington, Jan. 24.—James Duffey was appointed administrator in probate court yesterday of the estate of his son, Michael A. Duffey, formerly of Burlington. This event closes an incident somewhat out of the ordinary, that of the disappearance of the young man. Michael Duffey from Burlington nearly twelve years ago.

Michael Duffey was a Burlingtonian who went to New York to work and he obtained a position at the old Fifth Avenue hotel. He was a boy of exceptionally good habits, and made frequent visits home, most always bringing some gift to his father. He wrote home regularly every two weeks. In May, 1899, the last letter was received from him. He then disappeared leaving no trace whatever. The last seen of him was May 19 when he left the hotel. The police force of New York was put into possession of the case, and hundreds of dollars were spent for detectives who endeavored for years to find the young man. Not the slightest clue was ever obtained as to where he went after he stepped out of the hotel. He had an account in the Burlington Savings bank and it was for the purpose of disposing of this fund that an administrator was appointed yesterday. Duffey was about 22 years old when he disappeared.

Death in Roaring Fire may not result from the work of firebugs, but from a fire caused by a match that made a quick need for Duden's Arnica Salve, the quickest, surest cure for burns, wounds, bruises, boils, scalds, it soothes and heals. UNHAPPINESS DISPELLED.

Men and Women Unanimous About It.

Many women weep and wail and refuse to be comforted because their once magnificent tresses have become thin and faded. Many men incline to profanity because the flies bite through the thin thatch on their craniums. It will be good news to the miserable of both sexes, to learn that Newbro's Herpicide has been placed upon the market. This is the new scalp germicide and antiseptic that acts by destroying the germ or microbes that is the underlying cause of all hair destruction. Herpicide is a new preparation, made after a new formula on an entirely new principle. Anyone who has tried it will testify as to its worth. Try it yourself and be convinced. Sold by leading druggists. Send for stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

ARRESTED FOR TRESPASS. Five Prisoners Were Placed in Bennington County Jail.

Bennington, Jan. 23.—Sheriff Frederick Godfrey has five prisoners at the county jail and is in something of a quandary as to what he is to do with them. The men are all residents of Dorset and were arrested on writs issued in a trespass suit brought by Oliver H. Danforth and others of Rupert. The prisoners, Allen A. Roberts, John Denison, Stephen Aldrich and John and Harry Snow, have been at work on a lumber job for Lyman B. Wise of Deerfield. On Friday Sheriff Godfrey and Deputy Sheriff Harvey Lincoln of Rupert drove to the top of Rupert mountain where the men were at work and made the arrests.

The damages in each case are set at $4000 and the only one of the six men named in the writ who could secure proper bail was the employer. When there was no conveyance to transport the men across the mountain, but they agreed to appear in Bennington on Saturday and all did so, arriving in the evening. They have not been kept closely confined, the sheriff being somewhat in doubt as to the course he should pursue in the matter. The writ was properly made out, but the amount of bail, the same as the damages, is so high as to be practically prohibitive. The sheriff has written the attorney general for instructions. Chase & Daley of Brattleboro are attorneys for the plaintiff.

Roberts, Denison and Aldrich are well known residents of Dorset. The Snow brothers are Italians who have resided in southern Vermont during the past nine years. They are at present living in Manchester. They are lumbermen and have frequently taken logging contracts in Bennington county.

DEATH IN BENNINGTON. Hiram Lewis Hoyer, a Former Merchant, Died Yesterday.

Bennington, Jan. 24.—Hiram Lewis Hoyer, who has been a resident of Bennington for a greater portion of the time since 1872, passed away at an early hour yesterday morning at his home on Union street after a several weeks' illness of grippe. He was a native of Durham, N. Y., and would have been 65 years of age on the 29th day of March.

For some years he was a merchant here and occupied a store on Main street, where he dealt extensively in sewing machines at a time when that business was at its height. Later he engaged in the insurance business. During the past few years his health has not been of the best.

He was a past noble grand of the local lodge of Odd Fellows and years that Major Calvin Evans was active in the position of lieutenant and adjutant. He is survived by a widow, Mrs. Martha Lewis and two sisters and a brother, Mrs. O. H. Baurhyte and Mrs. E. C. Bell and Nelson Hoyer, all residing in Catskill.
