TAX ON INTANGIBLES.

Senator Gordon Explains the Intent of His Bill.

Senator Gordon makes the following explanation of his bill taxing intangibles—

Senate bill 172 establishes a uniform or flat rate for taxing intangibles. Intangibles are notes, bonds, accounts, mortgages—in short, all the subjects of taxation except polls, real estate, specific articles of personal property, and except public service corporations, banks, etc., that are otherwise specially taxed. The bill does not change our general system of taxation. It does not abolish offsets except to the extent of the intangibles that are taxed at the rate of seventy cents on a dollar of the grand list. The same rule applies as in the case of bank deposits. If a taxpayer has $1,000 in a savings bank, it is now deducted from the amount of his offsets and the balance of his offsets is allowed him. In like manner, $1,000 of intangibles will be deducted and the balance of his offsets allowed.

The effect of this system of taxing intangibles is well illustrated by comparing Pennsylvania and Ohio. In 1885 Ohio had $150,000,000 of taxable intangibles. She continued the same system as we have of taxing at the local or town rate. In 1906, or twenty-one years later, she had only $147,000,000 of intangibles, so far as her tax list showed. She had lost to taxation nearly $3,000,000. On the other hand, in 1881 Pennsylvania had $145,000,000 of taxable intangibles. She adopted the flat rate of taxation. In 1906 she had $1,014,000,000 of taxable intangibles. She had gained $869,000,000. She had increased her tax list about six times, while Ohio had actually lost ground to the extent of nearly $3,000,000. The two states had meanwhile increased in wealth and population in about the same proportions. We do not see why a similar result would not be reached under the proposed bill.

The sequestered intangibles that do not now appear in our list would be uncovered by a low flat rate in the same way that cash has been uncovered by the low rate of bank taxation.

But there is another side that is equally bright. A young man to-day who wants to buy a farm cannot do so unless he has forty per cent. of the value to pay down. The average young man does not have that amount. No individual can afford to lend him the money and pay the local rate of taxation. No bank can lend him over sixty per cent. of the value of a farm. He therefore loses an opportunity to start in life. Such a situation is blight on our agricultural and industrial development. The financial blood of the state is drained into our banks, which necessarily means western loan associations. About $45,000,000 of savings deposits are invested in outside mortgages and bonds. Only $15,000,000 are invested in home mortgages. We have been heaping up millions in our banks, admiring the pile like a miser, but getting only a fraction of the benefit from it that we should have enjoyed. We need the individual lender everywhere. He can loan on terms and under conditions that would not be permissible or profitable for a bank. He can supply, as no one else can, the small and scattered financial needs of our communities. The sum of the activities that he can stimulate will help to build a bigger and better Vermont.

The banks will be benefited in the long run. The added business that the individual lender will help to create will bring deposits to the banks. In the end to one will lose, but all will gain. The results cannot be attained in a year. It has taken thirty years to bring us to our present unfortunate condition. In a third of that time, the policy of this Senate bill will remedy many if not all of the evil. No other remedy appears available. The exemption of Vermont mortgages, bearing a low rate of interest, would automatically exempt a large amount of property under the protection of the federal constitution and laws. The abolition of offsets, if it fulfilled the hopes of its friends, would only equalize taxation. It could not create business as the individual lender can.

THOMPSON-RICKER.

Pretty Social Event at Home of Bride Last Evening.

St. Johnsbury, Jan. 27.—One of the prettiest social events of the season took place last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Ricker on Summer street, when their daughter, Alice Ricker, was married to Philip Laforest Thompson of this place. At eight thirty o'clock Miss Margaret Clark played the strains from Lohengrin which ushered in this auspicious event. Rev. George W. C. Hill of the North Congregational church of which the bride is an active member, performed the wedding ceremony, using the double ring service. The house was beautifully decorated with hennock ropes and daffodils. A large number of guests were present.

The bride was daintily gowned in soft white satin, trimmed with duchess lace and train. She carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley. The bride was attended by Miss Mabel Boardman, a college classmate from Columbus, Ohio, as maid of honor. She wore a gown of blue messaline with blue marquisette trimmed with blue maribou. The bridesmaids were Miss Grace Johnson of Boston, Miss Grace Richardson of Newton Center, Miss Jeannie Darling of Newbury, and Miss Hortense Peters of St. Johnsbury. They were beautifully attired in yellow silk chiffon with overdress and carried bouquets of yellow daffodils. Sidney Thompson, younger brother of the groom, acted as best man. George Luck and Arthur Soule of New York and Albert Ricker and Warren Peck of St. Johnsbury were ushers.

The guest book was in charge of Mrs. Helen Eastman Board of West Somersworth and Miss Marion Stanley of St. Johnsbury. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Will Ide and Mrs. Raymond Pearl. They were assisted by the Misses Mildred Stanley and Elsie Sargent. Mrs. Charles Horton and Miss Maud Follens had charge of the punch bowl.

The bride and groom were the recipients of a profusion of presents, both useful and ornamental, ranging all the way from linen to cut glass, oriental rugs and linen.

After a four weeks' wedding trip spent in Boston, New York and Lakewood, N. J., Mr. and Mrs. Thompson will be at home in Yonkers, N. Y., about March first. Both bride and groom are graduates of St. Johnsbury and graduates of the academy in the class of '04. Mr. Thompson afterwards attended Dartmouth, graduating from the department of civil engineering in 1908. He also completed a postgraduate course from the same institution in 1909. Since graduation he has been employed as engineer for the Hastings Pavement company of New York, which position he now holds. Miss Ricker graduated from Smith college with a degree of A. B. in the class of '08. Since her graduation she has devoted her time mainly to the study of music.

Mr. and Mrs. Thompson have a host of friends who extend them congratulations.

BURIAL OF FRANK E. DODGE

Was at Woodsville, N. H., on Wednesday Afternoon.

Woodsville, Jan. 27.—The funeral services of Frank E. Dodge, roadmaster of the Montpelier and Wells River railroad, who died so suddenly Monday, were held at the residence of his sister, Mrs. O'Malley, Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. Dodge was held in such high esteem by the employes of the Montpelier and Wells River railroad, that a special train was run from Montpelier and way stations to take on the large number who desired to attend the funeral services. He was one of the most popular men on the road.

The Episcopal service was used, and at the close, the last rites over the body were performed by Monseigneur Lodge, I. O. O. F., of which he was a member. A large body of railroad men and also the Masonic fraternity paid homage to the departed brother with whom he had been associated for many years.

Mr. Dodge began his railroad life at the age of 16, and he had been roadmaster for the Montpelier and Wells River railroad for twenty-two years. He was riding here when death took him off suddenly. He leaves a wife, one daughter, a sister and a brother. He was buried in Pine Grove cemetery.

WHY THEY FAIL

Most Pile Remedies Miss the Cause of Piles.

Disagreeable treatment with ointments or suppositories usually fails to cure piles and cutting them off won't remove the cause. Such treatment only moderates the outside effects of the disease and fails to remedy the inside cause. The up-to-date doctors now use internal medicine to free the circulation in the lower bowel, and so remove the disease.

Dr. Leonard's Hem-Roid, the first and only guaranteed internal pile cure—in the form of tablets—cures any kind of piles. Sold by Burt H. Wells, Barre, Vt., and druggists everywhere. $1 for large box. Dr. Leonard Ct., Station R, Buffalo, N. Y.

About the State

Joseph R. H. Jacoby, commander-in-chief of the United Spanish War Veterans has appointed Bert H. Stickney of Rutland aide-de-camp on his staff.

Wayne Hitchcock, while sliding in Newport, ran into a barbed wire fence a few days ago, cutting his face and head so that 13 stitches had to be taken.

Noah Dean of Lyndonville fell on the ice recently and broke his hip. In trying to get up, he fell a second time and broke his shoulder. He is 80 years of age.

Frank Cummins, a nine-year-old Shrewsbury boy, is being greatly benefited at the Peabody Home for Crippled Children in Hyde Park, Mass. When he was taken there, he was so crippled with curvature of the spine that he could move from place to place only by wriggling along on his stomach. He now wears a plaster cast and with the aid of a harness can stand upon his feet. The child has made considerable headway in his studies. He is the only Vermont child in the institution.

Horatio French, a native of Barton, was caught in the shafting at the plant of the Whiting Manufacturing company in Bridgeport, Conn., and was badly injured. A clutch in the shafting caught his sleeve and he was drawn in and jammed against the ceiling. His right arm was broken at the elbow and many other bones were cracked. His cries attracted the attention of workmen who shut off the power. He was taken to the Bridgeport hospital.

Walter Stahler was seriously injured Monday while coasting in Lyndonville. He was on the rear of the traverse and before the sled could be stopped it ran into the team of Amos Morse, who did not see it approaching on account of the darkness. The sled ran into or under the horse, which made a plunge into the air and, coming down, hit the Stahler boy on the head with its foot. His skull was badly fractured and a piece larger than a dollar was removed. It is said that the boy has an even chance of recovery. The others on the sled were uninjured.

BEARING SACKS OF FLOUR.

Burlington Police Arrested One Man, the Other Skipped.

Burlington, Jan. 27.—Patrick McGowan, a man of 28, who has served two terms in the state's prison for burglary, was arrested by the police during last Wednesday night on the charge of breaking and entering the storehouse of the Champlain Transportation company at the end of their wharf, foot of King street. A man who was with him at the time he was first seen, has skipped out.

McGowan was seen by officers Vincent and Hanlon coming up from the wharf in company with a companion. They were bearing two eighth-barrel sacks of flour. As they neared the wharf, McGowan's companion fed him McGowan stood his ground. He was taken to the police station along with the flour.

It was discovered that entrance to the Transportation company's storehouse was effected by breaking a window in the office through which entrance was made to the part where goods are stored. The flour was then taken and the burglar or burglars unlocked one of the big front doors from the inside and made their escape.

McGowan did not deny that the flour came from the Transportation company's storehouse, but he added that his companion had merely asked him to go down and help him carry the flour. The police have not yet arrested McGowan's companion. A hearing will be held in city court tomorrow.
