M. S. Hermann of Manchester, N. H., returned home last night, after passing several days in the city on business.
Mrs. P. J. Blanchard returned this afternoon to her home in Randolph, after a visit with her daughter, Miss Stella Blanchard.

S. N. Parker accompanied the members of Elmwood's orchestra of Montpelier to Waitsfield last night, where they furnished music for a dance.
Miss Mary Morrill and Miss Ida Blanchard, who were operated on for appendicitis at the Mary Fletcher hospital in Burlington this week, are reported to be recovering rapidly. Both young ladies are clerks in the Daylight store.

Friday arrivals at the hotel Otis were as follows: W. A. Blackman, Boston; A. I. Hall, Rochester, N. H.; W. E. Reed, W. T. Longey, Boston; C. H. Sargent, Athol, Mass.; D. L. Downey, Boston; H. J. Thompson, Baltimore, Md.; G. R. Whitney, New York City; J. C. Shepard, Buffalo, N. Y.; E. Shipman, Boston; J. D. Springer, Portland, Me.; G. L. Somers, Toronto, Ont.; H. R. Burnham, Richmond, Va.; J. N. Buckley, Bangor, Me.

The Congregational Philatheas, with invited friends, met in the church parlors last evening and enjoyed an excellent program and entertainment. Miss Lavell, the reader of the evening, was highly entertaining in her selections from Klein's "Lion and the Mouse" and Scott's "Marrion" and was obliged to respond to several entreats. The pictures taken were very successful and furnished souvenirs of a marked personal touch. Refreshments were served and the social hour came to its close all too soon.

Although witnessed only by a fair-sized audience at the opera house last evening "The Climax," presented in this city for the second time by Joseph Webster, readily upheld the enviable reputation it gained for itself here last year. A simple comedy of melody and sentiment, "The Climax" with its brilliant dialogue and musical background, proved to be rather a welcome departure from the usual run of plays depending upon wronged women and ruined financiers for strength.

Miss Juliette Atkinson as "Adelina Von Hagen" acted her way into the favor of the audience at the first turn, and completely mastered the requirements of a difficult role. She possessed a voice of unusual merit and in the three songs, "Even Song," "Youth's Appeal to Age," and "The Song of the Soul," she was undoubtedly seen at her best. Theodore Kehrwald in the role of the music teacher left nothing to be desired, while the other two members of the cast, Walter Dale, as "Pietro Golfanti," and Walter Liebman as "John Raymond," the doctor, added not a little to the all around merit of the play.

Go to the Bijou and see Harry Stone, that premier vaudeville performer. A great big show for 5c.

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks to all the kind neighbors and friends for their assistance and sympathy during the illness and at the death of our beloved mother; also for the many beautiful flowers sent.

Fred Bousnessu and family, Westerville, Vt.

A special meeting of Barre Barre, No. 1873, will be held in the Foresters' hall January 30, at 7:30 o'clock. Important business. Per order W. P.

The new proprietor has worked with his brother in the mill for several years and is thoroughly familiar with the business and as Mark is one of those "square toed" fellows we bespeak for him a liberal patronage.
