CHELSEA.

Ladies' Benevolent and Missionary Society Very Successful Last Year.

The Ladies' Benevolent and Missionary society of the Congregational church met Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Fred Stanton, with 16 present.

The following minutes of last meeting were read by the secretary. The society held its annual meeting January 13 with Mrs. C. O. Barnes, at Orange County hotel.

The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. P. D. Comstock; vice-president, Mrs. C. O. Barnes; secretary, Mrs. C. O. Barnes; treasurer, Mrs. M. F. Whitney; directors, Mrs. C. L. Bohannon; directresses, Mrs. Bessie Stanton, Mrs. L. M. Denmore, Mrs. Annie Perkins, Mrs. J. A. Lawrence.

Mrs. J. A. Lawrence was elected as chairman of a special committee to arrange for entertainments. The full number of meetings have been held during the year, with a good attendance.

Number of members, twenty. Three dinners, two suppers and a lawn party have been held, from which, and other sources, was realized $106.22. The expenditures were $163.12, leaving a balance for the year of $83.10, which, with the balance from last year, $31.61, makes total on hand $114.71.

Records show an advance all through the year, and the amount of work accomplished, the money earned, and results gained, speak of an harmonious membership.

During the year, the society contributed $8 to the value of $8 to help fill a box sent from Orange county to the girls' school at Constantinople, and a box of clothing and other articles, valued at $70.00 to the Dorchester academy in McIntosh, Ga.

The society presented to the church here a pulpit Bible, the American standard revised version. The ladies were pleased to welcome four new members, Mrs. W. P. Townsend, Mrs. Adams, Mrs. S. Wilson, Mrs. R. Bacon.

In the parlors of the Congregational church last Wednesday evening, a double spelling match was enjoyed by the people. There was a large attendance and the interest ran high.

Members of the old school renewed their youth by recalling the customs and methods of the good old days now long past, while the more youthful contestants looked eagerly forward to victory, as becometh "Young America."

The first match was by the scholars of the graded schools. For this match the words were given by Mrs. Leon Ordway, one of the popular teachers of our schools.

The contestants struggled bravely for individual supremacy, but Miss Ruth Burgess endured all tests, standing until all the others were seated, and so won the prize.

This match was followed by a short program of music and readings. Instrumental numbers were rendered by Mrs. Richard Bacon and Miss Nora Taylor; readings by Mrs. M. T. George and Mrs. John M. Comstock, each number being very pleasingly presented.

The second spelling match found its participants among those of wider experience and longer life. One side was captained by our honored and worthy citizen, John Amos Corwin, who has to his credit many victories won in contests of a like nature.

The captain of the opposing side was Mrs. Ross Bixby, who also is entitled to distinction in the matter of spelling. For this contest the words were pronounced by W. H. Carter, principal of the Chelsea academy.

The society hereby acknowledges obligations to Mr. Carter for this kindly service he so efficiently rendered, and also unite in expressions of appreciation to Mrs. Leon Ordway for like service.

The evening's entertainment was under the auspices of the Ladies' Benevolent society of the church. The task of preparing the program was in the hands of Mrs. W. P. Townsend and Mrs. J. A. Lawrence, to whose faithful work was largely due the success of the evening. The amount taken was $7.
