DIAZ CABINET RESIGNS CROWD AT CAMORRA TRIAL

But Mexican President Postpones Action Great Interest in Abbatemaggio's Testimony

ANNOUNCEMENT IS MADE A CONSPICUOUS FIGURE

Reason Given for the Resignations Is the Belief That It Will Contribute to the Re-establishment of Peace.

The Informer Is Said to Be Insane—Other of the Witnesses Tell About Plots Against Cuoco.

Mexico City, March 25.—The Diaz cabinet resigned yesterday at a special meeting of that board. The president deferred action upon the resignations. The reason given in an official announcement for the resignations is the belief that it will contribute to the re-establishment of peace and facilitate the reforms which are in contemplation.

Enrique C. Creel, minister of foreign relations, presented the resignations in behalf of all the ministers.

General Diaz thanked the retiring members for their efficient and patriotic co-operation in the past and announced that he would postpone his acceptance or rejection until later.

The resignations include that of Ramon Corral, as minister of the department of Gobernacion, corresponding to the department of the interior in the United States, but not his resignation as vice president.

None of the men who until yesterday formed President Diaz' cabinet is less than 65 years of age and some are much older. With the exception of Enrique C. Creel, minister of foreign affairs, all have been members of the president's official family for a great many years.

This fact alone has been one of the grievances of the revolutionists, who have insisted that the chief executive should surround himself with representatives of the younger generation, men more closely in touch with the affairs of the people.

Following are those whose resignations were received:—

Enrique C. Creel, minister of foreign affairs.

Ramon Corral, minister of interior.

Jose Yves Lamantour, minister of finance.

Olegario Molina, minister of fomento.

Justo Sierra, minister of education.

Manuel Gonzalez Cosio, minister of war and marine.

Leandro Fernandez, minister of public works and communications.

Justino Fernandez, minister of justice.

All these men have contributed valuable services to their country and to the president, but the popular feeling against them has been growing steadily since long before the beginning of the revolution.

A FEARLESS, HONEST PREACHER GIVES HIS OPINION OF PE-RU-NA.

An Up-to-Date Clergyman Describes an Up-to-Date Household Remedy that Has Had the Test of Time and is Known the World Over.

Some preachers are afraid to give an outspoken opinion on any remedy, however highly they may esteem it. Others are not afraid.

One of those who is not afraid is quoted below. Read what he says. He means every word of it. If you doubt it write him a letter, enclosing a stamp. He will tell you what he thinks.

Rev. J. T. Peeler
Catharrh of Stomach.

REV. J. T. PEELER, Hendersonville, N. C., writes:

"I desire to make known for the benefit of suffering humanity my experience with Peruna.

"I was afflicted with catarrh of the stomach, and though I tried many remedies and applied to several doctors, it was all in vain.

"Had it not been for Peruna I believe I would have been in my grave to-day.

"I have every reason to believe that Peruna is the greatest remedy for catarrh known to the world. Therefore I have been, and shall continue to recommend it to those who are unwell."

Rev. H. W. Tate, 920 Lincoln Ave., Walnut Hills, Cincinnati, Ohio, writes that for several years he has been troubled with a peculiar spasmodic affection of the throat, which interfered with his vocation as a preacher. He took Peruna and his trouble disappeared.

INTHERAJAH'S SERVICE

By EDWIN D. TROUSDALE

Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

This story was told me by an Englishman who had grown old in the civil service in India. We were sitting in the smoking room of a liner between Southampton and New York:

The people of India are the most sensitive as well as the most merciless people of the world. An Indian will treat one he wishes to destroy with the most flattering attention while he is planning to kill him. He always strikes in the dark—that is, when he kills with steel. But it is with poison that Indians do their most artistic murderous work. They have studied the science of poison for ages. They have poison rings, poison perfumes, poison flowers. But the strangest of all is a poison human being. They will feed a person on a certain poison till he has absorbed so much of it that his very breath is noxious to one unused to what the poison person is saturated with.

I had a narrow escape from death when I was in India. It was when I first went out there as a youngster and had no idea of the secret dangers to be incurred. That which an Indian is most jealous of is a woman. Any European who attempts the slightest familiarity with one of them is in imminent danger of his life. If they would give a fellow a chance it wouldn't be quite so terrible, but they won't. He is either murdered in the dark or poisoned.

I was just twenty years old when I landed in Calcutta to take position in a British house dealing in opium and the goods of the country. Later I was sent into the interior to buy curios, two of us being sent together for greater safety. Bob Britton, not much older than myself, was my companion.

In one of the towns we heard of a rajah whose brother or some other relative had died childless, and the rajah had inherited his effects. Not caring to keep duplicates, he had offered to sell many articles. Bob and I called on him, and he exhibited his wares, treating us at the same time royally. While we were bargaining he feasted us in the room occupied by the women, which was a great honor. Unfortunately for Bob and me we drank too much wine.

Being permitted to roam where we pleased, we devoted ourselves each to a pretty Indian girl. Presently I missed Bob. He and the girl he was with had strolled away into a sort of inclosed summer garden. I invited my companion to go off in the same way, but she gave me a look that was all the warning I needed. I contented myself with remaining with the others.

Bob and the girl he was with remained away from the rest of us for some time. When he returned he appeared to be quite proud of himself, though the girl's face wore a frightened look. As soon as we were alone he told me that he had taken the sweetest kiss he had ever tasted. I asked him if he was sure he was unobserved, and he said he saw no one about, but while his lips touched the girl's she had uttered a suppressed scream. It was immediately after this that the two returned.

When we rejoined the rajah he expressed a hope that we had enjoyed ourselves. He was very effusive in his offers of hospitality and friendship. He asked us how we were pleased with the ladies, and when we expressed ourselves delighted he said that we had not seen the most beautiful. He clapped his hands, a servant appeared, he gave an order in a tongue we did not understand, the servant withdrew, and in a few minutes our host led us into another room where were assembled several of the handsomest Indian women I have ever seen. The rajah introduced us, then left us, saying that he would take a nap.

One of the women, apparently with the consent of the others, took Bob under her special care, another took me, and it wasn't long before, under pretense of showing us some of the rajah's most valuable curios, they led us into a suit of rooms filled with enough rare articles to stock a museum. Bob and I soon got into separate rooms. My companion and I seated ourselves on a divan and were chatting about the curios when I noticed that she had been using some strange perfume. She gradually drew nearer to me, and I noticed a deathly sickness coming over me. An instinct of self preservation, I suppose, led me to get up from the divan. My next idea was to find Bob. I staggered into another room. There was Bob with his lips glued to those of the girl he was with. Seeing me, she unwound her arms from about him, and he fell to the floor. I went to him, bent over him and knew that he was dead.

There was a door near by opening into a garden. I managed to get to it and passed out. The fresh air revived me, and, regaining the strength of my legs, I ran like a deer anywhere to get away from the horrible death I had barely escaped.

I returned to Calcutta and told my story. Nothing could be done in the matter; it is not the policy of the British government to punish Indians who take revenge on Europeans for such offenses. Britton's sudden death received no official notice whatever. I was considered to have made a lucky escape.

There has never been any doubt in my mind that the two girls who affected Bob and me had been fed on a poison and were in the rajah's service as secret assassins.

pictures, while for smaller subjects, such as photographs, only a half-inch frame is required.

The dark wood, beautifully polished to show the grain, makes the most artistic frames, and these are either of a square or an oval shape, although the latter are the more expensive, being more difficult to make and polish.

The ornate gilt frames, from two to four inches deep, and covered with carving, which were used to frame family portraits, are a thing of the past, and the wooden frames which have taken their place are flat and plain, except in a few cases, when a little carving is seen as a motif placed in the center of the top of a square frame.

Plain frames, however, are considered better taste.

The present day gold frames are dainty in design, small, delicate moldings being preferred to bolder designs.

The mahogany and dull gold combined give an altogether different effect from the old style of framing with wood and using a stripe of gilt next to the glass. So soft and artistic is the effect now gained that it is difficult to believe that they are the same colors carried out in new tones.

Tree Full of Bible Lore.

A student of holy writ has composed biblical statistics in this novel form:—

The Bible contains 3,506,480 letters, 810,607 words, 31,173 verses, 1,189 chapters and 66 books. The longest chapter is the 119th Psalm; the shortest and middle chapter the 117th Psalm. The middle verse is the 8th of the 119th Psalm. The longest name is in the 8th chapter of Isaiah. The word "and" occurs 48,827 times; the word "Lord" 1,853 times. The 37th chapter of Isaiah and the 19th chapter of the second book of Kings are alike. The longest verse is the 9th of the 8th chapter of Esther; the shortest verse is the 11th chapter of John. In the 1st verse of the 17th chapter of "Ere" is the alphabet. The finest piece of reading is the 26th chapter of Acts. The name of God is not mentioned in the book of Esther. It contains knowledge, wisdom, holiness and love.

ROUGH TRIP FROM EUROPE.

The President Lincoln Meets Hurricane and High Seas.

New York, March 25.—Written in the usual perfunctory log of the steamship President Lincoln, in yesterday from Europe, is a series of marine happenings which kept the liner's passengers in a stress of excitement almost throughout the entire voyage. The President Lincoln came into quarantine yesterday, a day late, having battled with storms and head winds all through her twelve days' trip from Hamburg. The big steamship tried to touch at Cherbourg and take on passengers and mails, but the tender was unable to come alongside and the President Lincoln proceeded. Storms continually buffeted the Lincoln, as if preparing her for a severer test to come. About long 23 degrees, the storm took on hurricane proportions, and the wind with mighty force swept the sea, kicking up waves that came over the Lincoln's sides and rattled along decks. So turbulent were the combers that oil was used. Last Saturday a young stowage passenger, Schierme Levy, oppressed by the weather, threw himself overboard. He was seen struggling in the water, but efforts made to save him were futile. Another stowage passenger attempted suicide by slitting his throat, but the ship's surgeon saved his life.

Rev. J. T. Peeler

REV. J. T. PEELER, Hendersonville, N. C., writes:

"I desire to make known for the benefit of suffering humanity my experience with Peruna.

"I was afflicted with catarrh of the stomach, and though I tried many remedies and applied to several doctors, it was all in vain.

"Had it not been for Peruna I believe I would have been in my grave to-day.

"I have every reason to believe that Peruna is the greatest remedy for catarrh known to the world. Therefore I have been, and shall continue to recommend it to those who are unwell."

REV. J. G. DUKES, Pastor of the Unitarian Church at Pinetown, N. C., writes:

"My wife has been in a very bad state of health for several years, and nothing seemed to do her any good until she began to use Peruna one month ago. Since then the color has returned to her face, and she is gaining in flesh every day, and I believe she is a well woman to-day.

"My little boy, ten years old, was pale and had but little life. He began to use Peruna the day his mother began. Today his face is rosy, and he is out in the yard running and jumping with the rest of the children."

Throat Trouble.

Rev. H. W. Tate, 920 Lincoln Ave., Walnut Hills, Cincinnati, Ohio, writes that for several years he has been troubled with a peculiar spasmodic affection of the throat, which interfered with his vocation as a preacher. He took Peruna and his trouble disappeared.

In Woman's Realm.

When starching articles made of brown linen, if a little tea is put into the starch they will keep their color.

If potatoes are overboiled, the best thing to do is drain, leave them in the pan, stand it over the fire without the lid and stir briskly for a minute or two. Then add a little butter and serve as mashed potatoes.

Instead of putting food into the oven to keep it hot for late comers, try covering it closely with a tin and setting it over a saucepan of hot water. This plan will keep the food hot and at the same time prevent it from drying.

To extract a needle, apply a magnet immediately; the flesh closes, rapidly over a needle, and it is soon taken in out of sight. A magnet stops the penetrating movement of the needle, and in a short time draws it from the flesh without pain.

If you have a precious bit of china that has been broken, try mending it with white paint. Put the pieces together neatly. After the pieces have all been joined, scrape off all the paint on the outside, then put away for a week or two. When you take it out, you can let it lie in hot water and you will find it strong as when new.

Graze spots may be removed from wall paper with the aid of a blotter and a hot baton. Put the blotter over the stain and press it with the hot iron; by this process the stain will be transferred to the blotter. Other stains may be removed from wall paper by rubbing them with a piece of bread a day or a piece of flannel dipped in dry oatmeal.

Dull gold and mahogany are the newest colors for picture frames, and a feature of these is the marked simplicity of style. Although a picture frame may be entirely of the gold or entirely of mahogany, often the two are used together, and bring out brown pictures effectively.

Narrow frames, from one to two inches, are correct for the medium-sized Beauty Hints for Girls.

Few girls are able to give to their adornment the care that the beauty specialist demands. If they followed all rules they would have good skin and hair, perhaps, but their brains would be starved and their hearts atrophied for lack of development.

The busy girl may be inclined to scoff at beauty measures and pride herself on being above such vanities. If she does so, foolish, indeed, is she. It is not vain to look at one's best; indeed, it is a good health investment.

What is needed are everyday rules for everyday beauty.

It is not needful to have elaborate massage, a maid, and unlimited time to make the best of one's self physically. A little care of the right sort given daily is all that is required to insure beauty.

Remember, the complexion is the barometer of the body and watch it well. If the skin is blotched, sallow, or pasty, there is something wrong, perhaps physically, perhaps through neglect of sanitary precautions.

You may have such a good digestion that it will make the blood flow freely in your veins, but if you neglect to keep your face properly washed, your skin will not reflect health.

The skin of the face absorbs impurities rapidly. After a day's shopping or exposure to the winds and dust, these impurities must be cleansed or the skin will clog.

It will not take long. A thorough washing with pure soap and water or an application of hot cloths does it. When the skin feels hot, rub in a little cold cream and rest a few minutes, then wipe off and spray the face with cold water to act as a tonic.

Where sensitive skin is injured by too much water, there are good cleansers and creams that may be used, or the face can be wiped off after exposure with three parts of rose water to one part glycerine.

You may not have time or money for hair treatments, but every woman can brush her hair for five minutes daily and let it hang for ventilation. No woman should be so busy or so tired that she cannot take down her hair at night and massage the scalp.

Keep erect, have your rooms well ventilated, draw deep breaths frequently, see that your corsets are well adjusted and not allowed to be sloppy, wear comfortable shoes for the sake of your nerves and temper, and do not overeat if you value your good looks.

Take time to rest a few minutes each day. It will keep you young longer than all other beauty prescriptions.

Resides eating moderately, learn to eat slowly. Boiling food is ruinous to good looks. When under heavy strain, let your meals be small and frequent.

Do not overlook the value of water and plenty of it as a beauty agent.

Remember that the keynote of health and beauty is relaxation and a contented mind. The everyday beauty may give herself everyday care, yet soon lose her good looks if she allows herself to be a grind and given to fretting.—Exchange.

J. P. MORGAN KAISER'S GUEST.

Will Visit Corfu During Cruise of Mediterranean in Yacht Corsair.

Rome, March 25.—J. Pierpont Morgan will shortly visit Corfu in the Corsair, and will be Emperor William's guest at castle Achilleion. Mr. Morgan occupied the "royal suite" at the Grand Hotel here, passing the time motoring in and around the city and visiting art collections.

Mr. Morgan will embark on his yacht, the Corsair, at Naples in a few days and will visit Sicily. From there he will go to Corfu.

From Corfu Mr. Morgan will cruise up the Adriatic to Venice, where he has many American and English friends.

COREY'S SON GETS LICENSE.

Bride to Be Miss Marguerite Johnston of Detroit Next June.

Detroit, March 25.—Allan Lyle Corey, son of W. E. Corey, former president of the United States Steel corporation, took out a marriage license Thursday to marry Miss Marguerite Johnston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Johnston of Detroit.

Mr. Corey gave his age as 21, his occupation as a student at Yale. Miss Johnston, who was a delinquent a couple of years ago, is one of the most popular women in the younger social set.

The exact date of the wedding has not been given, but Miss Johnston says it will not take place until after Mr. Corey graduates next June.

Just why Mr. Corey took out the license he and friends of the couple refuse to say.

CITY GIRL IS THE NATION'S PERIL.

Minneapolis Banker Says in Role of the Country Teacher Lures Youth to Town.

Chicago, March 25.—The city girl who goes into rural communities to teach is a menace to the agricultural future of the nation. She strikes at the backbone of the country's prosperity.

"From her position on the rostrum of the little red schoolhouse, the teacher from the city turns the thoughts of her boy pupils into other channels than those leading to the raising of cattle and corn."

Joseph Chapman, jr., vice president of the Northwestern National bank of Minneapolis, pictured the city girl in this new role in a talk Thursday.

Not only teachers, but the city girls on vacation, give the young men suggestions on city life that take them from the soil.

"They have much to do," he said, "with the big migration of boys to the cities."

Patriotism

The stomach is a larger factor in "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness" than most people are aware. Patriotism can withstand hunger but not dyspepsia. The confirmed dyspeptic "is fit for treason, stratagems and spoils." The man who goes to the front for his country with a weak stomach will be a weak soldier and a fault finder.

A sound stomach makes for good citizenship as well as for health and happiness.

Diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition are promptly and permanently cured by the use of
