One of the purposes of the City hospital, when it was started, nearly four years ago, was to furnish nurses for district work as much as possible. The hospital will be glad to send nurses where they are needed for a few hours' work. It will send to families without means as far as the income of the institution will warrant, but will insist that any who are able to pay for nurses, pay in proportion to their ability. The call for all such aid must be given through some physician or person known to the hospital.
