A motion picture story of the Civil war, based on a novel and interesting incident, is presented in the latest Vitagraph life portrayal, "Mammy's Ghost," which will be on exhibition at Dreamland to-day. Wounded and helpless as he is, he is saved by the quick wit of the old "Mammy," aided by the officer's little son, the last-named part being played by the celebrated boy actor, Kenneth Casey, who has become such a great public favorite in previous Vitagraph films. The picture is a marvel of realistic war scenes.

Two of the best and most interesting recitals ever given by the pupils of Mrs. Grace Wood Cutler were those held at the Baptist church last Friday and Saturday evenings. A large number gathered each night and were delighted with the way in which each number, whether vocal or instrumental, was given. It would seem decidedly unjust to personally mention any of the pupils, but many of them merit a great deal of praise. The little ones were very interesting and played and sang in a manner which would be creditable to much older pupils. Many of the older ones gave their numbers with such beautiful expression and finish that Mrs. Cutler may well feel proud to take her pupils before the public. Mrs. Cutler expects to be in the city most of the summer and will continue her teaching.

A young buck deer was found alive in the water at Gould's Mills in Springfield a few days ago. The game warden succeeded in getting the animal out and took it to the village, where it was examined by a doctor, who found that one hip was broken. It had been injured earlier in the spring, evidently, and had lost the use of its leg in such a way that it was obliged to walk on the hended foreleg, so that it was practically three legged. The deer was in poor condition, showing that foraging in the woods had not been very good this spring. When it was found that the leg was in such a bad condition, and that it was suffering from a broken hip, the deer was killed and the carcass buried in accordance with the orders of the game warden.
