

FEARS US IN MANCHURIA

Russian Paper Attacks Our Policy

SEES DESIGN IN THE LOAN

To Neutralize Railways—Says Political Enterprises Are Barred—Are Open Only to Japan, Russia and China.

St. Petersburg, June 16.—The Novoye Vremya is devoting much attention to reported plans of American agricultural interests to invade Manchuria. In a leading article it bitterly attacks American representatives in the Far East and asserts that the recent loan to China was a covert reconstitution of Secretary Knox's proposal for the neutralization of the Manchurian railways. The paper says that Manchuria has an open door for the commerce of the nations, but that its door is closed against political enterprises of all except its immediate neighbors, namely, Russia, China and Japan.

DIVIDES DISPUTED LAND TO END FIGHT

Mexico and United States Fought Dozen Years for Title to El Paso Strip.

El Paso, Tex., June 16.—The international arbitration court, which has been sitting in the so-called Chamaizal case in El Paso to decide ownership of $7,000,000 worth of property in the southern part of El Paso, yesterday rendered a decision that is a compromise. By it Mexico gets part of the land in question and El Paso part of it. Both the United States and Mexico dissent.

The Chamaizal case has been in contention between the two governments for over a dozen years. It was really brought to the fore when W. J. Warder of California, filed suit in federal court here to oust persons holding title to the land under the Texas laws. Warder alleging that he held title from Mexico, under the Chamaizal grant. He raised the point that the land had been thrown into the United States by a sudden change of the river, and that, therefore, it belonged to Mexico. The United States has contended that the change in the river has been gradual, but Mexico cites numerous full grown trees between the former river channel and the present river, on American soil, as proof that the change had not been gradual; else the trees would have been washed away.

NOVA SCOTIA GOVERNMENT WINS. Will Add Five Years More to its 29-Year Tenure of Office.

Halifax, N. S., June 16.—In the provincial general elections which took place Wednesday the government carried 27 of the 38 seats in the province. Halifax elects three Liberals with a majority for the highest of 1,076 and for the lowest of 701. The Labor candidate in Halifax polled a total of 2,741 votes, compared with 4,888 for the highest government candidate. Cape Breton elects two Conservatives, but that party expected at least four. A notable feature of the election is the defeat of three members of the government, Hon. Mr. Chisholm, commissioner of works and mines; Hon. B. F. Pearson in Colchester and Dr. LeBlanc in Yarmouth. Premier Murray has a large majority in Victoria and his colleague also has a large lead. The issues were chiefly local. The Liberals in this province will not have five years more to add to their twenty-nine years of rule. The Opposition in the last legislature numbered five. They will now have eleven, and they have the advantage of having with them C. E. Tanner, the former Opposition leader, who is elected in Pictou.

GOMPERS SCORES COURT. Says Supreme Bench Avoided the Issue in Deciding in Contempit Case.

Washington, June 16.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, has declared the supreme court of the United States in its recent decision quashing the jail sentences of himself, John Mitchell and Frank Morrison, in contempt proceedings, avoided the issue and decided the cases against the labor leaders in academic fashion. Mr. Gompers, who was one of the speakers at a banquet in honor of the executive council of the federation and of the fifteen members of the House and of Representatives, who carry union cards, said if the rule of reason applies when vast wealth is concerned, it should not be omitted when human activity is the question at issue. Speaker Champ Clark warmly championed the right of petition, and said the freer the country the more efficient is labor.

BATHTUB SUIT OPENS. Government Alleges Unlawful Agreement in Restraint of Trade.

Richmond, Va., June 16.—The case of the government against the Standard Sanitary Manufacturing company, the alleged "Bath Tub Trust," was opened for argument in the United States court here yesterday. Edwin P. Grosvenor, special assistant to Attorney General Wickersham, spent the entire morning in arguing the case. He charged that the defendants attempted to disguise the "common or garden variety" of unlawful combination under the mask of license agreements protected by patent laws.

FOR NEWSPAPER PUBLICITY. Bill to Force Publication of Names of Owners, Publishers and Editors.

Washington, June 16.—A bill providing that every newspaper must print in a conspicuous place the name of the owner or owners, publisher and managing editor was introduced yesterday by Representative Barnhart of Indiana.

ARTHUR BROWN SHOT BY M'STEA

Ball Player Killed in Albany Lodging House

MRS. M'STEA IS A WITNESS

Slayer Claims He Was Fiercely Attacked By Brown and He Used His Revolver in Defending Himself.

Albany, June 16.—First Baseman Arthur Brown of the Albany state league baseball team died last night in a hospital from four bullet wounds, revealed, he told the police, at the hands of John V. McStea, a New Orleans actor. The shooting occurred at a rooming house on Pearl street where McStea said he found his wife in an apartment with Brown.

Mr. McStea arrived in Albany last night, and proceeded directly to the house where he asked to see Mrs. McStea. In a statement made after the shooting he said he heard his wife's voice upstairs and rushed to the hall above. When he entered the room, he declared he was brutally attacked by Brown while his wife covered in one corner.

Getting the worst of the struggle, McStea says he drew his revolver and fired at Brown. Four shots took effect, two in the abdomen, one in the arm, another in the leg, and a fifth went wild. Brown sank to the floor, where he was found on instant later by an officer who heard the shots from the street. McStea was placed under arrest and his wife is being held as a witness.

Brown's home is in Wilkesbarre, Pa., where he was born 26 years ago. He started his professional baseball career with the Wilkesbarre club of the New York state league. He later played with the Detroit American league team, Montreal Eastern league club and Trenton Tri-State league team, from which he was bought by Albany two years ago. His playing to-day was a feature of the Albany-Saratoga game.

Mrs. McStea is 23 years old and a native of Albany. She was an actress and while on the stage in New Orleans two years ago married McStea, who was stage director at the opera house where she was playing. She has been in Albany since April. Her stage name was Mildred Barre.

DR. BURR WON CUP IN SHOOTING MATCH

While Douglas Barclay Won the Trophy for High Amateur Average for the Shoot at Montpelier.

Yesterday was the closing day of the State "Trapshooters" meet in Montpelier and the individual championship with the silver cup offered by the Montpelier board of trade, was won by Dr. C. H. Burr, with a score of 92 out of 100. The high average trophy was won by Douglas Barclay of Barre, with a score of 352 out of 400. This won for him one leg of the three years' shoot on the vase offered by the Hunter Arms company, H. B. Moulton of Montpelier and C. A. Davis of Rutland winning the other legs. In the shoot-off, Mr. Moulton won, and thereby gained permanent possession of the vase.

G. A. Chapin, who represented the Winchester company, broke the ground record with a string of 98 out of 100, the previous record being 97 out of 100. The amateurs who shot 200 birds each day and who figured in the award of prizes, scored as follows:

Day	Day	Total
Barclay	182	180	362
Burr	183	178	361

MOST men don't have suits enough; buy one suit and wear it through the season; it seems like economy to get through a season with one suit; it isn't.

If you take our advice you'd have two or three suits in commission all the time; wear them in alteration; keep them pressed and cleaned. You'd look better dressed; your clothes would last much longer; you'd save money.

Hart Schaffner & Marx

make the sort of clothes that aid such economy. They're so well made, of such excellent materials, that two suits of these clothes properly cared for will outwear three or even four ordinary suits. We would rather see you wearing them than cheaper goods; we don't sell quite so many suits in that way; but you make more out of it, and so do we.

HOW M'FARLAND BECAME BOXER

Chicago Lightweight Says Blow on Proboscis Started Him Off

FIRST BATTLE IN BOILER SHOP

After Receiving Sting on the Nose Packy Sailed Into His Opponent and Made Him Quit—Received $2.50 for First Professional Fight.

"When that big fellow in the boiler shop yards in Chicago shot his fist against my nose something stung me and something told me right then that I was a prizefighter."

That's the way Packy McFarland says he started in the sium bang game. "I tore into that negro," says Packy, "and smashed my right and left hands into his face so fast that he finally fell flat on his back, while the boiler-makers who had gathered around began to yell. The negro—his name was Fox—got up and came back at me. We both had on gloves. The men had seen to that. Well, when his black face showed up again, I cracked him four times on that same nose. This time he went down for good. Instead of coming back at me Fox crawled over to one side and began trying to take off his gloves." Now, right here is where Packy claims the original story got its start.

"You ain't quittin', are you?" said one of the boiler-makers in derision. "Get back in there and fight."

"Naw, sir-ee!" muttered Fox through his swollen lips. "I ain't gwine fight no more. I tells you all right now dat I ain't gwine fight no man what don't scatter his blows."

Packy swears that it was that fight with the negro boy in the boiler shop that made him a professional pugilist. He found out that it didn't pay to scatter his blows. "It was just five years ago that a little fellow called Packy by his desk-mates slipped away from school and went to work in a boiler shop in Chicago as an apprentice. He received as salary the munificent sum of $10 a week.

"They kept me busy," says the little fighter, "chasing around the place after left handed monkey wrenches and that sort of thing for two weeks, and then I was promoted until I was allowed to hold the hot iron while a big fellow bent it with a hammer and stung me with the sparks. Sometimes they would let me use the hammer, but I never was much of a hammer thrower, and I used to spend a lot of my time toying with a set of boxing gloves that were kept around the place.

"Fox, the colored boy, allowed one day as how he could give me a tramping, and when the whistle blew I allowed he couldn't, and we went into the back yard to have it out."

Packy immediately thereafter conceived the idea that he was destined to be a hero of the ring, throw up his job and went in search of big money.

"You know I had to get home early every night," he confided, "and tell my mother that I was still working. This went along pretty good until the time came to come in with the money, and I wasn't there. The fighting game wasn't declaring any large dividends, and I had to beat it to my aunt's house to keep my mother from knowing that I was not working."

"After hanging around the gymnasiums for another month I finally got signed up for a preliminary fight with Johnny West. I licked him just as I did the negro, but even then the money wasn't coming any too strong. I got $2.50 for the fight, and my manager took $1.50 of it, and he had a regular job too."

CURRENT SPORT EVENTS

Sir Thomas Lipton may challenge again for the America's cup.

Washington will have a new ball park if the present plans of the owners of the club do not fall through. Work will start on the new grounds on the next trip of the Senators, July 2.

England will be represented at the motorboat races for the British international trophy by three boats. A determined effort to bring back the cup to England will be made by the British yachtmen.

Tennis has been recognized as an intercollegiate sport at Wisconsin, and regular team monograms will hereafter be awarded to those who make the team. The season for the Badgers will wind up this month at the Chicago tournament.

DAVIS TO BECOME MANAGER.

Athletes' First Baseman Slated to Handle Cleveland Team Next Year.

Harry Davis, the captain of the Philadelphia Americans and one of the most popular players in the junior organization, acknowledges that he is slated to become the manager of the Cleveland team next season.

That Davis would eventually be placed in charge of some team in this league has been a foregone conclusion. The fact that he has been identified for many years with one of the most successful managers in the game is believed to qualify him for such a position. If there is one man in baseball who has had the opportunity to learn the fine points of the game and the duties of a manager it is Davis, who under Connie Mack has proved a great success as field captain.

There is, of course, a great difference between being the chief lieutenant of a man like Mack and being thrown on his own responsibility, but Davis should succeed even though he does not himself engage in the game.

SPITBALLS DON'T BOTHER SWEENEY.

"I don't find that the spitball bothers the catcher any in throwing to bases," says Ed Sweeney, catcher of the New York Americans. "It depends somewhat on the pitcher, but Russell Ford wets only a small spot on the ball, and the chances are small that the catcher's fingers will take hold on the wet spot."

"There have been times when I have got hold of the wet spot and had no idea where I was going to throw the ball, yet made perfect throws. But I throw the ball with the whole hand instead of with two fingers and in that way generally avoid getting in trouble through the ball slipping off the fingers."

PIRATES HAVE MANY VETS.

No Other Club Hangs On to Old Timers as Long as Pittsburgh.

There is not a club in either major league which is harboring as many veterans as the Pittsburgh club of the National league. Manager Fred Clarke himself is way up in the thirties. Then comes Tommy Leach, who is not far behind Clarke in the matter of age and yet displays more energy and aggressiveness than 90 per cent of the youngsters who break into the game. Hans Wagner is by no means a kid. He has been playing for years and yet is a star. Last, but not least, comes Deacon Phillippe, the veteran twirler, who is really being carried because of the fact that he did much for the Pirates in years gone by. No other club shows such an array of veterans. When the average ball player grows old he is turned aside, but there appears to be more real sentiment in the Pittsburgh club than in any other.

PASSING OF OLD CY YOUNG.

American League Owes Much to Veteran Pitcher Who Will Quit.

The retirement of Cy Young, which seems probable now that Cleveland has let him go, has been predicted for several years, but on each occasion the veteran has come back and shown that he could still deliver the goods. But it was the first time in Young's career that waivers have been asked on him, and it would seem that the old fellow might have been spared this humiliation, since it seems certain that none of the other clubs in the majority will care to carry him and he is not apt to go to the minors. Cy Young has done much for baseball. He has been one of the pillars of the sport for these many years. There never was a time that he did not give his club his very best services, and the occasions when he has not been of the greatest artistic benefit during the twenty-two seasons of his career have been few and far between indeed.

The American league owes much to Young. When he joined the ranks of the new organization he proved the entering wedge for an influx of players from the old league. Players, managers and the public always had confidence in old Cy, and there is no doubt that much of the success the American league attained resulted from Young joining the ranks of the new league. Of course that was years ago and under conditions quite different from those existing today, and such deeds are often forgotten in baseball.

POCKET BILLIARDS, NAT POOL.

One plays pocket billiards, not pool, according to the Illinois State Billiard association. The expression "pool" savors too much of bookmaking. Don't call a cueist a "pool shark," but a pocket billiards expert.

DETROIT CASTOFF DIGS UP A MOST PECULIAR EXCUSE.

Jimmy Casey, who was once the idol of the Detroit fans when he played with the Tigers and now manager of the Fort Wayne club, tells an interesting story on Pitcher Peadley, tried out by the Tigers last spring and turned over to Fort Wayne for development.

"We had three men on the bases and none out, with Peadley pitching, one day," said Casey. "Onslow, the catcher, caught a man off second. The batter could not hit a low ball, and Onslow kept signaling Peadley to put it near his knees. Peadley, however, persisted in keeping it wide.

"I called Peadley to one side and remonstrated with him. 'What are you pitching that way for?' I asked. 'I thought I would waste on this fellow and fill the bases so that Onslow can catch another man off second,' he replied. 'As an excuse for lack of control that beats anything.'"
