One Man Who Knows a Lot.

In "Interesting People," in the October American Magazine, Samuel Hopkins Adams writes on Leland O. Howard, head of the government bureau of entomology. It is he that has proclaimed to the public the disease carrying properties of the mosquito and the housefly. Besides that, he is the best informed man in Washington, Mr. Adams writes:

"An Englishman, bearing letters of introduction after the manner of his kind, once arrived in Washington on a varied quest. To begin with, he was chasing an earthquake. Also, he wished to be put on the track of an obscure issue of Confederate postage stamps. Finally, he sought information regarding certain tribal customs of the Hopi Indians. These matters, one by one, he laid before his host, a Washingtonian of long standing.

"Earthquakes!" said the resident. "Seismology? I'd better give you a letter to Doctor Howard."

"Thank you," said the Englishman. "And about the stamps?"

"The other considered. 'I think Howard is your man for that,' he decided. 'And from what department shall I make inquiries as to the Hopi?'

"I can't do better than to refer you to Leland O. Howard," returned the Washingtonian with a smile. 'You'll find him at the bureau of entomology.'

"But, I say!" exclaimed the visitor. "Does your friend, Howard, know everything there is to know?"

"Perhaps not quite," admitted the resident, reluctantly. "But if he doesn't, he knows the men that do."

Vail's Closeness to People of Vermont.

In our opinion the Barre Times is right when it says that Theodore N. Vail is hardly in close enough touch with the people of Vermont to represent them as delegate to the republican national convention next year. While the amount of good that he is doing for this state is considerable and his fondness for it unquestioned, it is doubtful whether Mr. Vail's views on national politics would be those of the republicans of Vermont. But as the Times says, it may be presumption to mention Mr. Vail's name in this connection, no authoritative statements have been made that he would like to be a delegate.—Brattleboro Reformer.

FROM MANUFACTURER DIRECT TO YOU

The season's best millinery from manufacturer direct to you at one profit, namely, my low rent profit.

I control the sale for Barre of one of the largest and best manufacturers and designers in New England of hand-tailored and untrimmed shapes.

The volume of business alone makes this possible and this control enables me to sell at the jobber's or wholesale prices.

While my prices are much less, quality has not been sacrificed and if upon comparison you should find others have copied my prices, you will find quality has been sacrificed.

You've noticed one thing about us. We are sure. This store doesn't treat you like a bargain hunter. Our argument is not directed at your low price sense. We figure that there are enough people in Barre who measure the price they pay for what they get for it.

That's what really makes a bargain and it makes everything in this store big value for the price.
