Heavier Team From Montpelier Won Game, 6 to 0

AFTER VERY CLOSE CONTEST

Spaulding Was Considerably Lighter But Pulled Off Some Dazzling Forward Passes, While M. S. Excelled in Line Plunging.

GODDARD WON HARD-FOUGHT GAME

Defeated Montpelier High School at Inter-city Park by the Score of 6 to 0 Yesterday Afternoon.

At Inter-city park yesterday afternoon Goddard seminary defeated Montpelier high school by the score of 6 to 0, making a touchdown in the third period after desperate defense by the high school team...

Several men on the local team covered themselves with a good measure of glory and football fans will do well to watch their work on the gridiron this season. Sectors is a cool, heady quarterback, and he handles his men like a general.

The seminary won the toss and chose to defend the north goal in the first half. Grady kicked off, Merrill receiving the ball. Bishop and Merrill advanced the ball well down the field through a series of fine bucks and skin tackle plays.

Montpelier lost on downs near Spaulding's 20-yard line. A material gain by Ogston was the best the locals could do and Sector was finally obliged to punt. Merrill recovered, but the seminary team could do little but make small gains through the line.

During the second period the ball changed hands frequently and neither team made any marked gains until the last few minutes of play. At last, however, after Ogston had circled around right end for a good distance, a perfect forward pass was pulled off.

Second Period. During the second period the ball changed hands frequently and neither team made any marked gains until the last few minutes of play. At last, however, after Ogston had circled around right end for a good distance, a perfect forward pass was pulled off.

SECTOR'S DROP KICK FAILED

Merrill kicked to Grady in the opening of the third period, the latter making a splendid run before downed. An inside kick by Ogston gave the ball to the seminary. Montpelier advanced the pigskin to within 30 yards of Spaulding's goal, but could proceed no further. With the ball in her own territory, Spaulding took on a new lease of life and a series of sweeps by Milne and Grady, augmented by another successful forward pass, Ogston to Grady, brought the ball dangerously near Montpelier's line. From the seminary's 30-yard line, Sector tried a kick from the field, but the ball failed to clear the bar by a small margin. The whistle sounded for the close of the period at this turn.

LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES

They Are Closely Observing Public Health Conditions.

An examining physician for one of the prominent life insurance companies, in an interview on the subject, made the astonishing statement that the reason why so many applicants for insurance are rejected is because kidney trouble is so common to the American people, and the large majority of applicants do not even suspect that they have the disease.

He states that judging from his own experience and reports from druggists who are constantly in direct touch with the public, there is one preparation that has probably been more successful in relieving and curing these diseases than any remedy known. The mild and healing influence of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its remarkable record of cures.

We find that Swamp-Root is strictly an herbal compound and we would advise our readers who feel in need of such a remedy to give it a trial. It is on sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes—fifty cents and one dollar.

However, if you wish first to test its wonderful merits, send to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a simple bottle, absolutely free. When writing, be sure and mention the Barre Daily Times.

teams began to tell on the locals in the fourth period. The ball was taken to the seminary's 25-yard line for scrimmage. Once when Sector downed Merrill, the husky Montpelier right halfback, in his tracks, it seemed as though the seminary's offense would weaken. But gains by Bisbee and Merrill rapidly brought the ball into Spaulding's territory and on the very last lap of the game, one minute before the whistle was to blow, Merrill went over the line for the first and only touchdown of the game. He kicked the goal and the contest was over. The line-up:

Spaulding High. Montpelier Sem. Tomasi, r. E. Bisbee Langley, r. J. Kuzenka Spear, Levin, Soutles, rg. Dwinell, Foster Charles, c. Fuller Troup, lg. Foster, Dwinell Ayers, lt. Sargent Willey, Levin, lb. P. Bisbee Sector, qb. Stevens Ogston, Cheney, th. Merrill Milne, rh. J. B. Fletcher (capt.) Grady (capt.), B. J. Fletcher (capt.)

Score—Montpelier seminary 6, Spaulding 0. Touchdown—Merrill. Goal from touchdown—Merrill. Referee—Carroll. Umpire—Scampin. Timers—Smith and Milne. Linesman—Bruce and Williams. Time—Two 10-minute and two 8-minute periods.

the float, while in the rear stood Columbus next to a cross and being surrounded by five Spanish soldiers. Columbus' promise to the Indians and the story of the darkening of the sun to prove it was featured. The Ladies of the Macebaes float was very dainty and represented the coat-of-arms of the order. It was called, "We Care for the Child," and standing beneath an arch were two women protecting two children. The Red Men's float was an Indian scene, representing the saving of Capt. John Smith's life by Pocahontas. Capt. Smith, bound and about to be killed, was lying on the ground and over his head was suspended the deadly weapon, when Pocahontas stepped in.

The Barre band furnished music throughout the afternoon.

EXERCISES AT OPERA HOUSE

Before a crowd which nearly filled the auditorium of the opera house in the evening, Hon. Frederick G. Fleetwood of Morrisville spoke at some length on the life of Columbus and of its significance. Seated on the stage with the speaker were Mayor Mutch, President James Adie of the Manufacturers' association, Douglas M. Barclay of the Quarrymen's association, Wesley Hoffman, president of the Central Labor union, S. Hollister Jackson, member of the public services commission, and the members of the speaker's committee, as follows: J. G. Howland, James Erick, Peter Desautels, G. Herbert Page. The Barre Citizens' band was present and opened the exercises with an overture. Mayor Mutch presided and called upon Mr. Jackson to speak. Mr. Jackson responded in a brief but pithy speech, which voiced the spirit which had marked the day's observance. He spoke of the heroic devotion of Christopher Columbus and of the infinite measure of influence which his studies mind has made upon the world's destiny. His remarks evoked a generous round of applause at the conclusion.

Mayor Mutch followed by introducing the principal speaker of the evening. As a well-known citizen of Vermont, who has been one of its active men in every movement for the betterment of its welfare, Mr. Fleetwood was peculiarly well qualified to instantly gain the strictest attention of his audience. He spoke substantially as follows:

"In a certain sense, the observance of holidays is similar to the observance of a birthday. For such it is, marking as it does the progress evolving usually from the splendid efforts of some one person or of an individual band of people. Every great holiday in the calendar of our country is established to commemorate a great deed or the magnificent character which inspired some great deed. It is well that our state legislature has seen fit to reverse the memory of a man who above all others is responsible in such a large degree for the shaping of our country's glorious destiny. Burdened with many cares in private life, disappointed at the attitude of half the crowned heads of Europe and lastly handicapped by the ingratitude of his own people, the figure of Christopher Columbus rises sublimely above the rank and file of lesser men, who have yet played their splendid part in the history of the western hemisphere.

newly discovered land. And the consciousness of right, which so inevitably punctuated every project of the great mariner, seems to have been infused into the very veins of other men who began the pioneering years later.

"Lynchmouth rock was not only a location, it was a state of mind. Imbued with the same spirit that inspired Columbus to his great achievements, the hardy Pilgrims came years later to do their own part in making the greatness of a future nation. Freedom has not been bought by parchments or preachments, but blood-bought. Men of parts and power have risen to give their best and noblest efforts for liberty because of faith, and in every instance the polestar that has guided men in the creation of a true democracy has been in turn led by an unflinching belief in the final destiny of their country.

And so the marvelous faith of Christopher Columbus still lives in the heart of the nation. Public spirit has grown space with love of country. Loyalty to the state is further emphasized in a grander manner by the love of country. The old ideals of conquest and bloodshed have given way before a broader and whole-souled regard for fair play and the square deal."

FINE CELEBRATION IN MONTPELIER ALSO

Parade, Literary Exercises and a Dance to Observe Columbus Day and All Were Successful.

Large crowds along the line of march watched the passing of the Columbus day parade at Montpelier and were not disappointed with the celebration. The Norwich cadets came up from Northfield and marched in the procession, giving a battalion drill on the State House grounds after the parade, followed by the Butts rifle and musical drills. There were many floats, the Northfield and Montpelier bands and representatives from several of the unions, while the school children, with flags, added not a little to the effect.

The reviewing stand was on the lawn of Christ church and, as announced at the literary exercises yesterday afternoon, the prize winners of the parade were as follows: Historical floats, first prize, Italian society; second, Spanish society, which also received special prize of $25; third, Knights of Columbus; fourth, Daughters of the American Revolution. The float of the Italian society represented the landing of Columbus in America and taking possession of the new country, groups of Indians being in the background. The Spanish club's float carried fourteen men, dressed in white and blue uniforms, with sashes of Spanish colors. The Knights of Columbus made their float to represent the return of Columbus and his appearance before the throne of Ferdinand and Isabella; and John Alden and Priscilla Winthrop on horseback, following an ox cart, on which were a spinning wheel and several young ladies, were the contribution of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

AFTER FORTY YEARS

Camden, S. C., Woman Recovers From Stomach Trouble.

No one who is not well nourished can be good-natured. That is why dyspepsia is always irritable. But stomach trouble can be cured in nearly all cases, even after years of suffering. Mrs. Sarah C. Ammons, Camden, S. C., says: "I suffered from nervous dyspepsia for forty years and feared I should never get over it. It kept me in misery all the time. I was terribly run down, could not sleep—thought my health was ruined.

"Last spring I began taking Vinol and it has no equal. I soon began to improve and now I am a well woman again for the first time in forty years. My appetite is good, I sleep well and have no stomach trouble at all. These are the plain facts."

Take our word for it, when you are weak and run down, cannot eat or sleep, Vinol is what you need, for it will build you up and make you strong. We guarantee Vinol to please—your money back if it does not. Rod Cross Pharmacy, Burt H. Wells, Prop., Barre, Vt.

Snappy Styles in Soft Caps

Most everybody is wearing a soft cap this Fall. Get in the push.

But aside from being in style, what is more comfortable than a soft cap? Sets well on the head, and feels warm as toast when the cold winds blow.

We like to see a man come in and tell us that he wants a cap but he is very particular about the style. That's where we shine; for every style worth while is represented in our extensive line.

Gov. Mead on Columbus. State's Executive Gave An Address at Rutland Yesterday.

150 Couples Attended Dance. To the members of the dance committee was left the task of furnishing the last feature of the day's celebration. The fact that over 150 couples attended the dance in Howland hall after the exercises at the opera house speaks well for the energetic work of the members and the many expressions of praise for the manner in which the affair was carried out.

Gov. Mead spoke of the benefits of anniversaries such as this, how the getting together of the societies for charitable and social purposes, the strengthening of old friendships and the telling of old stories incidental to such gatherings, stimulates the best efforts in all directions.

The governor spoke of Christopher Columbus, briefly giving his history, telling what his accomplishment stands for the world and drawing lessons from the characteristics of the man. He pictured his birth in the utmost poverty, his start without a friend, and his struggle for many weary years. The speaker mentioned the remarkable fact that notwithstanding the great accomplishments of this man so little is known about the great discoverer. After 70 years of life he died a prisoner, poverty stricken and broken hearted and no one knows to-day where his remains lie.

Gov. Mead referred to the discovery of the American continent, from which the United States resulted and said in closing: "Let us, on these occasions, honor the memory of Christopher Columbus. Let us cherish and preserve those characteristics of his life which made his name honored throughout the world and which are held as the ideal by one of the largest charitable organizations of this nation. On these anniversary days, before the curtain is drawn and the footlights extinguished, let us preserve our ideal that we may crown him with beautiful garlands of flowers, and wreaths of laurels, our patron saint, Christopher Columbus, America's discoverer."

You Are Partly to Blame if Moving-Picture Shows Are Bad.

The October Woman's Home Companion contains an article on "The Moving-Picture Show"—what it really means in the town and what it ought to mean. Eight million people visit moving-picture shows daily in this country. There are 15,000 moving-picture theatres. One hundred million dollars are invested in the business. Why not make this great force a power for good?

There is more money to be made out of wholesome moving pictures than bad ones.

Following is an extract from the article: "The motion picture, developed along proper lines, combining educational and amusement features, would raise the standard of living, promote municipal and domestic sanitation and stamp out disease.

"It would give housewives an intelligent idea of food values and instruct young men and women in the conditions which confront workers in the various industries.

"It would inculcate kindness to animals and promote an interest in normal, healthful sports.

"Are the moving pictures in your town dragging the young people down, by disregarding their natural healthy taste for pleasure, or are they interesting in broader, bigger themes?

"You don't know!

"Yet you ought to know, for the good of your children, your neighbor's children, yes, and for the good of your single-state holdings!

"Man or woman, married or single, you ought to go to the moving-picture show in your town. At the little picture theatre, a block or two from your home, your children, your neighbor's children, the maid who serves you at supper, the boy who delivers your meat and your bread, the young girl who clerks in the five-and-ten-cent store, are all crowded together like sardines in a huge box, watching the flickering films of real life.

"And what are they seeing?"

"Don't you think you ought to know, you who vote and pay taxes, form clubs and organize municipal movements? Don't you honestly think you ought to get acquainted with the most popular diversion in your town?"
