Leith 6 down, Johnston 6 down, Davis 8 down, Craig 8 down, Palmer 10 down, Daniels 10 down, W. Leith 12 down, Clark 14 down, Jas. Reid 14 down, Gerhardt 14 down. Therefore, it will be seen that the "Colonel" was the winner of the day, with John Reid next best.

One of the acts that come to the Pavilion to-day is a Scotch musical duo and is the only two-person Scotch musical act that was ever presented to the patrons of that theatre. Both members of the act were born in the vicinity of Glasgow and finish their act with Scotch military bagpipes. They are considered one of the best Scotch musical acts in vaudeville. Zeda, the fiery dragon, a spectacular scenic act, will also be an attraction at the Pavilion for the first half of the week. A special picture feature for to-day and to-morrow is a picture entitled, "The Star Spangled Banner." It is a war drama and shows the attack on Fort Mifflin. It was during this attack that Scott was inspired to write the immortal poem. The New York Dramatic Mirror says of the picture: "The history of the writing of this famous war song is represented in this film in a highly dramatic, stupendous and enthusiastic manner that could hardly fail to rouse the patriotism of the most latent soul."

Tool Sharpeners, Notice. Regular meeting of Tool Sharpeners, No. 2 will be held in Nichols' block Wednesday evening, Oct. 18, at 7 o'clock. James Mutch, sec.

House Cleaning!

House cleaning in the old way is hard on your furnishings and still harder on the woman who does it. Try the new way. Our Santo Vacuum Cleaner draws up all the dust and dirt, instead of driving it into and under your carpets. It removes the dirt instead of stirring it up to settle in other places. Santo Cleaners to rent, any one can use them, $1.50 for half day, $2.00 for whole day. We deliver the machine and remove same when you are through with it. Arrange for date as early as possible, as machines are very busy during house cleaning season.

The Home of Good Overcoats

When we speak of our good overcoats, we mean the kind that are of thoroughly dependable quality, of trustworthy materials, as well as those with style. You must go farther than mere style, color, or pattern in your selection; for none of these things count after you have worn the garment a week or two, unless there is the quality of workmanship also. If all these points appeal to you we will be glad to serve you from the largest assortment of overcoats, suits and furnishings in town.

TALK OF THE TOWN.

Black Cat hose at Abbott's. Come to Vaughan's this evening. Read Smith & Cummings' ad. on page 5. See the new dress skirts open to-day at Vaughan's. Special prices on house dresses. Paris Shirtwaist house. All styles and colors in boys' sweaters, 50c to $3.00, from the McWhorter Co. "Margaret E. Asay, is graceful and is highly cultured in her art. Her voice is deep and full and her manner composed. She is no doubt in the first rank as a dramatic reader."—Freshold, (N. J.) Transcript. At the Methodist church Friday evening. "The Indian Girl's Sacrifice." This reviewer confesses that he judges the atmosphere of early southern Californian pictures by H. H. Jackson's great romance, "Ramona." He is the more satisfied as to the righteousness of doing so by the fact that the atmosphere of this and many other good pictures is the same as that of the story of Ramona and Felipe. In this picture, though, the Indians are not friendly. The hero rescues an Indian girl and brings her to a mission school. This Indian maid later overhears a plot of a half breed who wants to be avenged on the hero's fiancée because she does not love him, and in a very interesting scene she, dressed as a boy, kills the half breed—it happens in a ceremony called the dagger dance and in the very way the villain was purposing to kill the fiancée's father. Then follows the scene in the church, where the Indians come demanding the supposed boy, who is now a man. This scene faithfully pictures the Indians' reverence for the church. At Dreamland.
