"Queer Folks"

A romance of the side show, in which the living skeleton falls in love with the fat woman, and the bearded lady falls in love with the skeleton, and the fat woman falls in love with Sampson, the strong man, and he is in love with the bearded lady. The fat lady, notwithstanding the love of the strong man for the bearded lady, is intent upon getting him by fair means or foul. The skeleton has the same contention about the fat woman, and, in order to win her, dresses himself up as a gay luthario and twangs a banjo outside of her tent, but is obliged to heat a hasty retreat, and his fellow curiosities show their appreciation by throwing missiles in his direction.

He challenges the strong man to fight a duel with him. The bearded lady hurls defiance at the fat lady. The skeleton knocks out Sampson and the bearded lady puts the crimps in the fat woman, who turns the tables on the bearded lady, flattening her out like a pancake, and the skeleton keeps his man down by placing a thousand-pound dumbbell on his chest.

The fat lady is so impressed with the skeleton's prowess and manliness that she falls into his arms, all his and his alone. The bearded lady lifts the thousand-pound dumbbell from the chest of the strong man; he jumps for her, takes her to his arms, whiskers and all. It's a scream. At the Dreamland.

BARRE TO HAVE PUBLIC EXHIBITION OF MODERN METHODS OF KILLING DISEASE GERMS

A movement has been on foot during the past few months to get the residents of this city interested in the destroying of the disease germs that are responsible for the sickness and death in this city. The fact that the greater part of the sickness and death are traced directly to the ravages of the disease germs only gives ample evidence that some action must be taken to relieve the unfortunate condition. After a slight investigation of the different methods and means of obtaining the results required, a few of the public-spirited citizens have spared neither time nor money to give this subject a deep and thorough study, and the result is they are unanimous in recommending "Cabot's Sulpho Naphthol." They find it the most thorough in its effect of anything in this line. This information was secured and obtained for the Barre Drug company, corner Main and Merchant streets, who have all the statistics gathered in this investigation; also the guarantee of the maker, together with testimonials from hospitals, sanitariums and people from every part of the country; also a large supply of the goods on sale. It costs nothing to gain information, even for your own health.

Before Justice of the Peace Albert C. Dickey at East Barre yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Mary Beatty of Graniteville pleaded not guilty to a breach of the peace charge. A. A. Sargent of this city appeared for the respondent and Grand Juror W. A. Cutler of South Barre prosecuted. The following jury was drawn to sit on the case: Dr. R. M. Minard, H. E. Sargent, M. J. Whitcomb, H. A. McAllister, C. W. Waterman and P. W. Roark. After being out only a few minutes, the jury returned with a verdict of acquittal. Mrs. Beatty was arrested August 10 for an alleged assault upon one Sadie Williams of Graniteville. The defense endeavored to show that Mrs. Beatty was exercising certain rights upon her own property when the assault is said to have taken place. People in East Barre and Graniteville evinced considerable interest in the case.

Crossed wires caused the alarm bell in the tower at the central fire station to sound two distinct strokes in slow succession this morning shortly after 2 o'clock. A heavy wind prevailed at the time and the trouble will probably be traced to a broken limb, which might have broken or crossed the wires.

A small audience witnessed "The Goose Girl" in the opera house last evening, and, everything taken into consideration, the production seemed eminently satisfactory. Obscure little European principalities, generously sprinkled with romance and usually tintured sometimes laboriously with intrigue, have been a favorite stamping-ground for book writers in late years, and the drama taken from one of the best known books of this kind was played last night. Anything lacking in the performance might well be charged up to the piece, since the parts were interpreted by a well-balanced cast that was frequently obliged to answer repeated curtain calls. As was to be expected, Adeline O'Connor as "Gretchen," the goose girl, was the favorite, and this little miss was all that could be desired. John J. Ivan as "Carmichael," the American consul, Wilkes Steward as "Hans Grumbach," a German-American, Edward B. Reese as "Leopold Dietrich," ably sustained a trio of difficult parts.

CLUB GAVE FAREWELL

To Mrs. Clarence J. Lease, Who Is Going to Morrisville.

The regular meeting of the Athena club, held at the home of Mrs. Edwin Bruce, 27 Nelson street, last evening, took the form of a delightful farewell reception to Mrs. Clarence J. Lease of Orange street, who leaves the latter part of the week for Morrisville to join her husband, who has recently been appointed teller in the Union Savings bank there.

After a brief business session, a charming musical program of five numbers was given. Miss Merle Plastringe of Northfield sang a vocal solo for the first number and was followed by Miss Hortense and Harold Knight, who rendered a violin duet. A humorous reading by Miss Hazel Lyon was followed by a vocal solo, sung by Miss Strachan of Montpelier. The program closed with a violin solo by Edmund Sanborn, Miss Annie Messer acting acceptably as his accompanist.

The central feature of the evening came when Mrs. George Bates, president of the Athena club, presented Mrs. Lease a tastefully bound book. In the speech of presentation, Mrs. Bates expressed the regrets of the entire club in saying that Mrs. Lease's change of residence would mean a distinct social loss to the club. On behalf of the members, she extended the sincerest best wishes of the entire company to Mrs. Lease. The latter responded feelingly. The club meeting was brought to close with the serving of dainty refreshments of coffee and cake.
