CORRECT SHOES

This shoe store represents good shoe service as distinguished from mere shoe selling.

GOOD SHOE SERVICE

means the furnishing of just the correct shoe suited to a particular requirement.

Merely to make a sale is not satisfaction to us—and merely to buy a pair of shoes is by no means certain to mean satisfaction to you.

We are able to guarantee good service—in every sense and every meaning—because we are sure of our own intentions and sure of the quality of our shoes. May we not hope that you will test our sincerity and our judgment the next time you purchase shoes?

THE BARRE DRUG COMPANY

Comes up smiling with a happy and prosperous greeting to all of their patrons and may-be patrons. Should fortune continue to smile in the future as in the past, it is barely possible that our appreciation may be more substantially rendered next year. However, it has been our constant watchword to supply the demand at a fair and reasonable profit that will meet the expectations of the most particular people. We have "come to stop a while," and the steady and thrifty growth of our business gives us unbounded courage and conviction that it's the right business in the right place at the right time. With the compliments of the season, we remain, very cordially, the Barre Drug Co., corner Main and Merchant streets. December 30, 1911.

Sale linens at Vaughan's.
Alex. Stephen went to Bethel on a business trip this morning.

Peter Desautels went to Burlington last night on a brief business trip.

M. W. of A. dance at Howland hall Saturday, Dec. 30. Riley's orchestra. Gents, 50c; ladies, 10c.

Arthur Miller of Waterbury is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Griggs on Summer street.

Mrs. R. E. Southgate returned to-day to her home in Boston, after visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Southgate for two weeks.

Friday arrivals at the hotel Otis were as follows: H. A. Lewis, Burlington; J. C. Hunter, Ogdensburg, N. Y.; F. G. Glasgow, Berlin, N. H.; P. D. Hinman, A. A. Swasey, Boston.

The best is poor enough of everything, especially when one is buying medicine for their own or family's use. They who think for themselves know full well that results favorable cannot be obtained by the use of cheap drugs and medicine. The right kind and the right price at Barre Drug company.

The following item, taken from a Worcester, Mass., evening paper, under date of yesterday, will be of interest to many Barre people: "Miss Cora Proster Williams, daughter of Mrs. Mary Williams, 124 Chandler street, will become the bride of Alfred Jolly Morgan, Barre, Vt., Monday. The wedding will be at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, followed by a reception at the home of the bride's mother, Rev. McLeod Harvey, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will officiate. After a honeymoon trip, the young people will make their home in Barre, Vt., where the groom-to-be is a granite cutter."

There is a mighty good program of pictures and vaudeville on at the Pavilion. Every picture shown there last night (the same as will be seen to-night) was excellent. The plot construction of each picture is such that none of the pictures resembles in any way any one of the other pictures. The Biograph picture, entitled "The Trail of Books," deals with a sweet little miss of about four years (and she is a wonderfully gifted little actress) who brings her quarreling parents together. It is entirely different from the usual child picture; it is thrilling in some places, in others it is laughable, while in other places one feels like crying. It is bound to interest every mother and father. The picture, "Lost in the Jungle," is unique, thrilling and interesting, and is also undoubtedly one of the finest dramas, in which wild animals are used, that was ever produced. The battle between the leopard and the wild bear is very exciting; the girl's fight with a leopard holds one spellbound, and the scene where the elephant carries the wounded girl on his trunk through the jungle has never been recalled in moving pictures. Both acts of vaudeville scored a hit at every show. The singing act is excellent and the comedy act kept the audience in roars of laughter. As a special feature for Monday, New Year's day, the management of the Pavilion has secured Selig's great production of "The Two Orphans." It is a three-reel picture and was produced under the personal direction of Kate Claxton. The production is said to be a masterpiece of motion pictures.

Of the PAST

of this store we will say but little. It is now history. Every one knows what we have done, of our mistakes, perhaps, of the successes we have achieved. Your satisfaction has been our unswerving aim and if we have failed you in any way, come today and tell us where, when, and how. A pleasing promptness in making you satisfied will meet you more than half way.

Of the PRESENT

of this store you can best judge for us. Are we meeting with your approval? Are we giving you satisfactory merchandise at prices that are right? Are we serving you in the best manner possible? Your satisfaction is our ambition—your approval our sincerest desire. Your opinion of our store service and merchandise values will always receive our most earnest consideration.

Of the FUTURE

you will like to hear, because it means a bigger and better store for you. We are going to be even more watchful of your needs, more fully cognizant of the fact that our continued growth depends upon you and our every effort—our entire energy will be turned toward making this store the store where your best interests are ever forward—both in value and in service. Our advertisements will in the future as in the past adhere strictly to the truth. You will be well repaid by reading every one.
