Vermont was not wearing the green yesterday, but a dirty white.

President Taft spiked several of the enemy's guns while in Boston yesterday.

Those Virginia outlaws bear a good old American name, and they are native whites—Allens and not aliens—but what Allens!

There is no need to talk about a "compromise" candidate in the Republican party, because there is no occasion to compromise.

While raising the postage rate on magazines, Secretary Hitchcock would do well to add a little to the price of carrying bombs through the mail.

With the place already crowded, Senator Borah is well-named, to try to enter the candidates' row. Besides, Senator Borah's chances are as heavy as a rainbow.

With one thousand dollars a week increase in wages of the mill workers and no saloons in Winooski for a year, the banking business in Onion-village ought to be good.

Burlington is still the biggest thing politically in the Republican state convention; but Brattleboro is important all out of proportion to its size, and all because it's almost a crime to be a Democrat in Brattleboro.

Massachusetts is a cold and haughty state, but the Taft smile warmed it up considerably yesterday. Indeed, there have been few instances in which a president has been more sincerely welcomed than President Taft was welcomed yesterday in Boston.

The Taft manager is claiming eight hundred of the 1,976 delegates in the Republican national convention, which is a few hundred or so more than will be necessary to nominate. Manager McKinley, while perhaps having reason to be optimistic, seems to be a trifle too exuberant.

One reason for welcoming the warmer weather is that it will soon afford a chance to walk on the sidewalks, instead of over heaped-up accumulations of ice and snow. Most of us have been very careless about this matter during the winter, allowing the snow to remain on the sidewalks in the business streets until it was transformed into ice packed solidly to the sidewalks. The results have been that walking was inconvenient and, sometimes, dangerous. Besides that, it gives an idea of lack of progressive spirit.

Something new in the line of investigation of railroad accidents is to be tried by the Central of Georgia railroad, as presented in the following editorial from the Springfield, Mass., Republican: "The Central of Georgia railway is to follow the lead of the Illinois Central railroad by having wrecks hereafter investigated by a board of disinterested persons, who will be invited as representatives of the public to sit with the railroad officials. Vice-President Winburn takes the right attitude when he says: 'We realize that when there is an accident which damages or endangers life or property or both, the public has the right to know the details.' If a railroad company is honestly trying to secure safety, it has no reason to fear publicity; on the contrary, an attempt at secrecy gives the worst possible impression. The Vanderbilt 'the public be damned' attitude does not fit with the spirit of the new age, and great corporations are by degrees coming to a sense of their accountability."

The plan is reasonable enough from the standpoint of getting at an unbiased opinion regarding the causes of wrecks; but it is doubtful if disinterested parties will be able to get at the most intimate knowledge of the causes, because they do not know the details of the administration.

A WORD FOR GOV. MEAD'S JUDGMENT.

If the Grand Trunk and the New Haven railroad systems do get together on the tangled proposition at Brattleboro, as recent reports seem to indicate would be the case, then Governor Mead should receive some measure of praise for endeavoring a year or more ago to have them reach an amicable settlement, without the necessity of calling a special session of the legislature. Governor Mead was loath to do the latter; and so he tried to play the part of mediator by bringing the warring parties together in conference. These conferences were held, and the situation was talked over quite thoroughly, but to no apparent good. There naturally was considerable cynicism over the efficacy of Governor Mead's methods; and his efforts were looked upon as fruitless. But Governor Mead staved off the demand for a special session of the legislature, at any rate; and his kindly offices as mediator seem now in a fair way to terminate in an amicable arrangement. In any event, the majority of the people of the state commend his stand; and they are willing to give him credit for good judgment in the case. If the tangle is finally solved by the two railroad systems, it will be all the more to his credit.

ST. PATRICK'S OBSERVANCE.

dress, Father O'Sullivan said: "Not in vain has Ireland's liberty been under the lash. Her suffering has been her greatest test of virtue, her greatest school of strength. Patriotic Irishmen should have a consciousness of her glorious history, a realization of her present duty, and a hope for her splendid future."

The speaker sat down amid rounds of applause, and after the enthusiasm had subsided, Chairman McNulty called for a rising vote of thanks, which was graciously given and accompanied by prolonged handclapping. The floor was then cleared for dancing.

Credit for the signal degree of success which attended the observance is due in a large measure to the committees appointed by the division and the ladies' auxiliary. For the latter organization, the following ladies acted: Mrs. Rose Granger, Mrs. L. F. Good, Mrs. Agnes Williams, Mrs. Samuel Gerrard. The committee of Irishmen having the particular charge of the affair was as follows: P. E. McNulty, J. E. Murphy, Dan J. Sullivan, Michael Keefe, William Skerrett, and John Murley.

MILWAUKEE ELECTION IS OF INTEREST

Because It Will Determine Whether the Socialist Administration Is to Stand or Fall.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 19.—The lines are forming for the hottest political fight in Milwaukee's municipal history. The primaries will be held to-day; on March 26, the voters will have their last opportunity to register and on April 2 the election is to be held.

The result of the election will be watched with great interest throughout the country, for it will definitely settle the question whether the citizens of Milwaukee were satisfied with their present administration, the first Socialist government of the city in its history. The Socialist administration, headed by Mayor Emil Seidel, is in the field for re-election and bases its claim to the support of the citizens upon the record of the administration during the past two years. The re-election of Mayor Seidel will mean the practical endorsement of the record of the Socialist administration and will, it is believed, greatly strengthen the Socialist party in other parts of the state.

Mayor Seidel is of the opinion that the record of his administration speaks for itself and that the citizens have every reason to be well satisfied with it. In an interview he referred to the prophecies of the calamity howlers who had predicted the most dire calamities as the result of the election of a Socialist administration; yet, he said, none of these predictions came true. The administration found the city government with a $20,000 deficit, and finishes its first term with a surplus.

He pointed to the fact that, in spite of the opposition of old party politicians in the council in the state legislature and even in the courts, his administration has built the first public lavatory in the city; is constructing an electric lighting plant; is acquiring a municipal stone quarry; building a municipal hospital; has established a consolidated fire and police alarm system; is establishing a city telephone service and is steadily demanding and working for the public ownership of all local public utilities. The mayor bases his strongest hopes upon the municipal ownership plank in his platform.

The Socialists claim on behalf of the present administration that it was thoroughly honest and made every effort to eliminate graft and corruption from every municipal department. Early in office, it is claimed, the Socialists unhesitatingly stopped a long standing paving graft. The cost of paving was thereby reduced from $2.25 and $2.40 to $1.25 and $1.46 per square yard, which alone saved the voters more than $400,000 in 1911. It is also claimed that under the present administration, wage of the common laborer in city employ has been increased from $1.75 to $2 for an eight hour day, while the regular union scale is paid all skilled workmen and, if obtainable, only materials made by union labor were purchased by the city.

The Socialists also point with pride to the city's system of factory inspection and to the inauguration of various reforms intended to protect the morals of young men and women; to combat the spread of tuberculosis; to relieve the unemployed; to bring about an improvement of the city's harbor and the establishment of public garden patches; model tenements and municipal market places.

MONTPELIER.

Incorporation papers were filed yesterday at the office of the secretary of state by the New England Hardwood company of Wilmington, with a capital stock of $300,000. The company will do a timber and log business. The papers are signed by Herbert S. Jones, Buffalo, N. Y., Gardner I. Jones, Boston, and Harold F. Whitney, Brattleboro. Papers were also filed by the Rollaway Screen company of Boston to open branch offices in Burlington. A. T. Way in charge, the stock being $49,600. Papers are also filed by the Roeder Stock Farm of Derby, organized with capital stock of $150,000. Papers are signed by Albert Roeder of Newport, J. H. Mackey, Montreal, and John R. Roeder, Brookline, Mass.

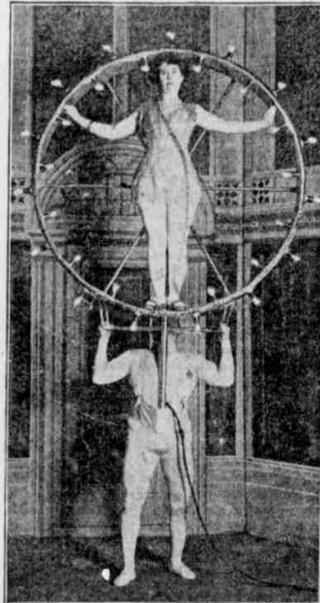

City Judge E. M. Harvey had a large morning congregation yesterday. Samuel McLeod of Worcester, Middlesex, Montpelier and Massachusetts, paid a fine of $5 and costs for intoxication. Saturday he took possession of a team belonging to Levi Alexander on one of the main streets, and addressing the horse as "Maud," was on his way somewhere when Sheriff Tracy interfered. Thomas Burns of Berlin, N. H., went to jail for ten days in lieu of a fine for intoxication. William Doherty paid costs amounting to $6.54 and was allowed to take the pledge. If the pledge is broken, he will have to pay $15 and serve 30 days in jail.

Michael Broggi died yesterday morning at the home of Giuseppe Sala of heart failure following pneumonia. He was born in Italy 44 years ago. His wife and four children are in Northfield, where the body will be taken for burial. He also has a brother, I. Broggi, and a sister, Mrs. M. Migliorini of this city. Mr. Broggi was an earnest stonecutter, but gave up work some years ago because of ill health. He conducted a boarding house in Northfield many years.

Merrill E. McCargar, who is employed as yard-clerk here by the Central Vermont, suffered a shock Sunday night, his left side being rendered helpless. Mr. McCargar, who lately returned from a visit to his home in Allburg, was at the Central Vermont freight office late Sunday afternoon and went from there to the home of E. O. Stone on Langdon street, joining his wife in making a call. While there Mr. McCargar was stricken, the effects of the shock being so rapid as to prevent his being taken to his home on East State street. The entire left side was paralyzed. Mr. McCargar was reported yesterday afternoon to be resting as well as could be expected.

THE AHEARNS.

The Ahearns, who are at the Pavilion during the first half of this week, present a very novel gymnastic act, in which they feature a sensational finish, which they call "The Human Wheel." It is without a doubt the most sensational and unique acrobatic feat ever seen in the city and one that requires great strength on part of the male member of the act. Coppinger and White, who are also appearing at the Pavilion the first half of the week, present an excellent comedy act. The big feature for to-morrow night will be the Pastime Montpelier Minstrels, composed of young men from Barre and Montpelier and under the direction of William Bartlett.
