

THE BARRE DAILY TIMES

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 20, 1912. Published every week-day afternoon. Subscriptions: One year, $3.00; one month, 25 cents; single copy, 1 cent.

Here's your hat, Winter! "Howdy; how's your vaccination?" Spring, such as you are, we welcome you. New Hampshire "insurgents" surged about Taft.

Maine Democrats want to get the lay of the land before jumping on it. Wise Dems. Vermont would do well to clean up all its epidemics before the summer vacation season begins.

There were five men visitors at Oyster Bay Monday night—but they were not Lamolite county men. "No Trouble at Barre"—newspaper heading. Certainly not, sir. Please make those headings "Barre, Mass."

Lawrence is getting off the front pages for the first time in months. And Lawrence must appreciate the change under the conditions.

The Virginia militia might get some good mountain warfare around Hillsville. And why not, since the posses fail to do their work?

The jury has found that the man who shot a Burlington policeman did shoot the policeman, which makes sort of corroborative evidence, so to speak.

Although one of the original Roosevelt governors, Gov. Bass of New Hampshire, did the graceful thing yesterday when President Taft was a guest in the state.

Bennington village yesterday voted $500 for the support of the children's playground. Some day Barre will take the burden of supporting its public playground off the shoulders of the public-spirited organization which is now supporting it.

Attention is called to a statement from Fish and Game Commissioner Titcomb, printed in another column to-day, regarding the distribution of trout fry from the state hatchery at Roxbury. The opportunity for securing the young fish should be taken advantage of, as a good stock of trout adds materially to the attractions of the state.

The following paragraph from the Boston Herald rather explains why Boston "thawed out" so on Monday: "The great reception accorded to President Taft was not prompted merely by respect for his high office. It was a spontaneous tribute to his manly character and an enthusiastic endorsement of his attitude toward great public issues which transcend partisan lines and bear directly upon the very framework of our government."

There is much the same feeling among people of other places and other parties, let it be said. Confidence in Taft is not confined merely to the Republican party.

ON SECURING GOVERNMENT DOCUMENTS. At the request of the government officials directly interested, The Times presents the following statement on how to obtain government documents with the least trouble and expense: The idea that prevails most generally, that this class of literature may be secured through the courtesy of members of Congress, is correct only in a slight degree that it had best be corrected. There are nearly five hundred senators and representatives—hence an edition of several thousand copies, if distributed pro rata, gives to each only a few copies. Some of these the senator or representative needs for reference, the few left over are soon exhausted, and those constituents who then write for them are necessarily disappointed, through no fault of the public man whom they have addressed. Now, as a general proposition, the reader who is interested in a government publication will serve himself best by addressing the official known as the superintendent of documents, government printing office, Washington, D. C., who is authorized to have reprinted any government publication for which there is a demand, and sell the same, at cost, to all applicants. He will mail price lists, divided by subjects, free upon application, and remittance can then, as required by law authorizing such sales, accompany order.

A PLAN WELL STARTED, LET'S BE THOROUGH. The action taken by the Barre board of aldermen last night looking toward the securing of an institution for the better care and isolation of persons who are fighting tuberculosis is one of the best things this or any city government in Barre has done in many years. At the same time, however, the board should go about the matter carefully with a view to doing the thing right and not have any serious blunders to look back upon with regret. There is no doubt of the need of such an institution, and there can be little doubt but that the municipality is in as good position to carry on the work as any agency that could be selected. But the initial steps cannot be well taken on a large or elaborate scale, for we have not the money at present, nor the experience to guide us in a large outlay of money. Therefore, we ought to be satisfied with a small beginning, allowing at the same time for the development of the splendid project just as much and as soon as our means and our experience will warrant.

"Profanity is not only wicked, it's vulgar." An $8.00 Slip-on or a $28 Cravenetted Spring Overcoat will often save much metal and physical gymnastics. Raincoats $10.00 to $22.50. Top Coats $12.50 to $25.00.

To this end The Times would suggest that, besides looking up possible sites (and we have fine sites on city land) and figuring out the probable cost of such a building as shall be necessary, the authorized body, the board of health and the health committee, take up correspondence with other municipalities which have undertaken this work already. For instance, there is Lynn, Mass., where the experiment of caring for the city's tuberculosis patients has reached the stage of having a special sanitarium. The directors of that institution are in a position to give Barre some very valuable suggestions which might be used in guidance of the novel experiment in Barre. Then there are probably other cities throughout New England, and surely some in other parts of the country, where municipal institutions of this sort have been established. Barre ought to build on their knowledge of the requirements, rather than to go at the matter blindly, and, without doubt, those other cities would be glad to give us the results of their experience; the kind of structure required, the cost of its construction, the expenses of maintenance, the care of the patients and the possibilities for contamination (if any) by reason of a sanitarium being established. Therefore, it would be well to have some official, like the city clerk, get into communication with as many cities as possible and acquire such information as they are able to impart. Then we can go ahead and undertake its establishment on the right basis.

SOUTH BARRE. Mrs. Porter of Marshfield is visiting her son, Fred Cutler. The village schools closed Friday for a two weeks' vacation. Nelson Vassar intends to move his family to Waterbury the first of April. Mr. Whitney of Northfield was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Howard one day last week. Mrs. Johnson wishes to thank her neighbors for the kindness they showed her during her sickness.

Anticipation of receipt of taxes up to August 10. Clerk Mackay reported that at the present time there is no need of securing a temporary loan; in fact, the city is in better financial shape than it usually is, but there are some large bills coming which must be met before the taxes come in, hence the advisability of getting ready. Whatever loans are made should be payable August 10. The resolution was passed to a second reading, and will come up at the next meeting.

Another financial resolution of considerable importance passed to a second reading was that appropriating $1,500 for permanent road work with a view toward securing the state rebate of one-half under the state law. Some discussion arose as to what amount to name in the resolution, although it was the consensus of opinion that the state aid provision should be utilized. It was finally left that the amount be $1,500. It is proposed to finish the permanent work on Washington street to the city line. Much work was done there last year; but a strip remains between the end of the permanent highway and the Barre Town line.

A resolution establishing a pound at E. A. Slayton's, 19 South Main street, was adopted.

Bonds of several city officials were reported and accepted, as follows: Alderman Brown, $1,000, signed by William D. Reid and Peter Alexander. Mayor Thurston, $1,000, signed by O. D. Shurtliff and E. L. Smith.

Second Constable C. T. Southgate, $10,000, signed by E. A. Prindle and Patrick Brown.

Overseer of the poor, W. F. Shepard, $1,000, signed by American Fidelity Co. Building Inspector George M. Rand, $500, signed by W. H. Kelley and J. D. Ossola.

Among the miscellaneous matters attended to was the approval of seven city warrants, as follows: Street department, $154.85; water department, $41.88; fire department, $77.22; police department, $77.31; janitor of city hall, $14; D. J. Boyce, setting up booths, $4.50; B. B. Jackson, use of water tub, $3.

On Building Inspector Rand's favorable report, a permit was granted to E. N. Normandeau to erect a toolhouse on Maple avenue, near Brook street, the building to be 12 feet by 24 feet and 10 feet high, with felt roofing. A permit was granted Elmer Bellville to move a henhouse from Mount street to the city line.

Charles Thompson's dog came in for more discussion. The committee reported that Mr. Thompson had agreed to chain up the dog which had been complained of, but doing so under protest and presenting a petition, signed by 22 people, to the effect that the dog is not vicious. The whole matter was referred to the police committee to give a hearing on both sides.

The application of Oscar Borgh for a lunch room license was referred to the license committee to investigate and report. O. H. Hale reported through the city clerk regarding proposed payment of paving assessment, and the council voted to give Mr. Hale until April 1 to make a payment. A letter was read by the city clerk, in reply to one written by him for the property committee, that the supervising architect of the new federal building has already made arrangements to purchase equipment for the new postoffice and that, therefore, the city's property in the present postoffice will not be wanted.

TAFT ARRAIGNED

BY A. J. BEVERIDGE

Former Senator From Indiana Declared That the Country Needs a Very Strong Man And He Doesn't Think That Taft Is.

Chicago, March 20.—At the auditorium last night, former Senator A. J. Beveridge of Indiana, declared that the most pressing need of the country is a strong man at its head, a man so strong that he could control the great corporations and their makers. He said the Sherman law had failed in its purpose because it was at war with natural law and that prosecutions under the present administration had been futile.

The speaker also arraigned the leadership of President Taft, saying in part: "What the people need at the head of their government is a strong man—the very strongest man they can find. Great business concerns have the strongest men they can find to care for their interests. Why should not the people have the strongest man they can find to care for their interests? This is a big country and it needs big business to serve it, but it ought not let big business rule it."

"It is the nature of power to want ever more power. That is why strong men in business, if unrestrained, honestly come to think that they are above the government. And that is why we need at the head of our government a man so strong that he can make these other strong men understand that they are not above but under the government. The only man who ever has done that since modern business began to absorb the strongest minds and most daring hearts of the nation is Theodore Roosevelt."

"He made the strongest men in American business, and that means the strongest men in all the world, understand that greater than their mighty power is the people's power. He taught them that the laws of the republic are for the great as well as the lowly; for the strong as well as the weak; and that over all alike, whether for punishment of the criminal or protection of the innocent, is the sword of the nation's justice. He brought them to their knees before the government which, until then, they had ignored or used as their instrument."
