Mrs. Sallie Wilson of Corinth had her first automobile ride Sunday, and she was one hundred years, one month and one day old at that time. It was also the first time she had even seen an auto.

Charles C. Jones, superintendent of the James C. Colgate estate at Old Bennington, who drowned when the Titanic sank, carried a $5,000 accident policy with double indemnity in case of fatality while traveling by public conveyance in the North American Accident company of Chicago. He also carried $3,000 endowment in the Northwestern.

Ralph C. Grout of Washington, son of Marshall D. Grout of Brattleboro, is the defendant in two suits for $7,000, brought by Charles F. COPPER PRODUCTION BREAKS RECORD
Advance Statement of the Final Figures of the United States Geological Survey for 1911.

The United States geological survey has just issued an advance statement of the production of copper in 1911. This statement, prepared by B. S. Boyd, gives the final figures of production as made up from reports from all the reduction plants. The preliminary estimate, issued by the geological survey January 2, 1912, differed from the final figures by but a fraction of one per cent.

The total smelter production from ore mined in the United States was 1,997,247,740 pounds. This is the largest production in the history of the industry and compares favorably with the output of 1,980,159,509 pounds for 1910.

Arizona again heads the list of copper-producing states with a production of 303,292,532 pounds, the largest production ever made by the state. Montana is second, with 271,814,491 pounds; Michigan third, with 218,185,236 pounds; and Utah fourth, with 142,340,215 pounds.

A large increase in Alaska. The most notable gains were made by Alaska and Utah, the production of Alaska increasing from 425,119 pounds in 1910 to 2,314,880 pounds in 1911, and that of Utah from 125,119,455 pounds in 1910 to 142,340,215 pounds in 1911.

The states showing the most marked falling off in output were California and Montana. The former decreased from 45,760,200 pounds in 1910 to 35,835,651 pounds in 1911, and the latter from 283,978,473 pounds in 1910 to 271,814,491 pounds in 1911. In California the decrease was due to difficulty in controlling smelter fumes; in Montana it was caused by voluntary curtailment due to the condition of the market.

The total production of refined copper from primary sources, both domestic and foreign, was 1,439,875,025 pounds in 1911, compared with 1,422,039,135 pounds in 1910.

In addition to the copper produced from ore a total of 214,900 pounds in 1910 to 224,400 pounds in 1911 of old copper and brass, copper and brass scraps, filings, clippings, etc.

The consumption of copper in the United States for 1911 was apparently somewhat smaller than in the previous year, but the amount exported was considerably greater, so that the stocks of refined copper held in the United States were materially reduced.
