

STRAUS NAMED IN STAMPEDE

Exciting Times Marked New York Progressive Convention.

A STIRRING SPEECH MADE

New Yorker Nominated By "Suspend Jack" and the Delegates Received Nomination With Hilarious Unanimity.

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 7.—Oscar S. Straus, former secretary of commerce and labor in the cabinet of President Roosevelt, was unanimously acclaimed the nominee for governor of the Progressive party by a stamped convention yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Straus' nomination came about under circumstances that were not only unexpected but dramatic. The former cabinet member, acting as the convention's permanent chairman, was about to entertain a motion from former Lieut.-Gov. Timothy L. Woodruff to expedite the roll call on the nomination of State Chairman William H. Hotchkiss and Comptroller William A. Prendergast of New York for governor, when a delegate from New York county leaped to his chair and demanded that he be heard.

"It's 'Suspend Jack' McGee," cried a voice from the gallery. Chairman Straus looked puzzled. McGee, who got his name in the Indian country by riding a broncho into camp with suspenders used as reins, moved resolutely toward the platform.

"They say I'm crazy, but I know what I'm doing," he cried as he swung up the platform steps.

Chairman Straus looked with surprise on the man, who with a flaming bandana swathed around his neck and his coat blazing with badges, tossed his rough rider hat on the floor and demanded the right to make a nomination.

"Who do you wish to nominate," asked Chairman Straus, but McGee gave only a meaningless shake of his head, while the delegates, irritated at what they deemed only an interruption at a moment when the convention was about to lock arms on a vote for Prendergast and Hotchkiss, cried, "Put him out." But McGee stuck to his purpose and in a husky voice insisted on speaking.

"You may have but five minutes," said Mr. Straus impatiently glancing at his watch.

"I want ten," insisted McGee. Delegates and spectators boomed and jeered as he began to speak. There was a general laugh when he cried: "I'll name a man the mention of whose name will bring tears of sympathy to the eyes of almost every man and woman in the civilized land," but "Suspend Jack" only waved his arm in defiance of the jeers.

Chairman Straus turned to Mr. Chadbourne, who thereupon placed Mr. Hotchkiss in nomination, and asked: "What does he mean to do?"

Chadbourne, too, was non-plussed and thought the speaker might be perpetrating some joke. Then came the climax when a delegate cried: "Name your man."

McGee paused but a moment and then cried: "I nominate the illustrious and Hon. Oscar S. Straus."

The delegates seemed stunned and then a few of them cheered. Mr. Straus gave an amused laugh at "Suspend Jack" bowing before him. McGee kept on with his speech and the first few faint cheers from the half a dozen or more delegates gradually grew into a pandemonium of sound the swept the convention hall from one end to the other. The standards were wrenched from their supports and delegates yelling and cheering for Chairman Straus, paraded the aisles.

All was confusion in the hall. Chairman Straus at first shook his hand deprecatingly at the growing ovation. He turned to his friends and remarked: "This must not be. I cannot accept." State Chairman Hotchkiss left his seat among the delegates and rushed to the platform, placing his hands on Mr. Straus' shoulders and said: "You must accept, you must accept. All the delegates are for you."

Meanwhile there was a press of delegates to the platform to urge Mr. Straus to make the decision. Then Mr. Hotchkiss burst from the group that surrounded Mr. Straus and held up before the crush of excited delegates in the aisle ways a sheet of yellow paper on which was written: "He accepts."

Whereupon the delegates and spectators passed back the word of Mr. Straus' acceptance and another demonstration followed.

Chairman Hotchkiss asked the privilege of the convention to act as permanent chairman in place of Mr. Straus. The nomination of Mr. Hotchkiss for governor was withdrawn by John A. Kingsbury, who moved to make Mr. Straus' assumption unanimous. But there were other delegates who demanded to be heard and Mr. Woodruff said that in the absence of Mr. Prendergast he would take it upon himself to withdraw his name and in doing so he felt that Mr. Prendergast would concur in his action. With the names of Mr. Prendergast and Mr. Hotchkiss withdrawn, there was a flood of seconding speeches of the nomination of former minister to Turkey.

"Suspend Jack" McGee was not least sight of in the enthusiasm. Delegates pressed about him on the convention floor and proclaimed him "The man of the hour." Later the convention passed a vote of thanks to McGee for nominating Mr. Straus.

"Suspend Jack" McGee came back to his hotel here last night. He and Governor Hiram Johnson of California, vice-presidential candidate on the Progressive party ticket, shook hands and Governor Johnson thanked McGee for what he had brought about.

COULDN'T PREVENT IT.

But Strauss Says He Will Do His Best To Win.

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 7.—"The nomination campaign to me is a great surprise, Oscar S. Straus said as he sat in a secluded corner of the dining room of his hotel last night after the adjournment. "I did everything I could to prevent my nomination, but it seemed that I was detailed to lead the cause. It is the same in which I am interested rather than the office and I shall do everything in my power to win in order that I may carry out the great principles which this movement represents."

"Do you think you will have the support of both the Hotchkiss and Prendergast factions?" was asked. "I do not think it," Mr. Straus replied positively. "I know it."

Mr. Straus has made no plans for his campaign. Comptroller Wm. A. Prendergast said last night that he had no statement to make regarding the events in the convention this afternoon that brought about the nomination of Oscar Straus for governor.

"All I will say," said Mr. Prendergast, "is that the nomination of Mr. Straus is a strong one."

Speaking of the nomination of Mr. Straus last night, Chairman Hotchkiss said: "Providence came into the situation and led the convention. The same thing has happened time after time since this movement began. Mr. Straus and his associates nominated last night will certainly carry New York state this fall."

SEEK MOTHER OF MRS. SZABO.

Mr. Gibson, With Letter When She Met Her Death, Asserts She Is Alive.

New York, Sept. 7.—Pending a decision from the district attorney's office here, the authorities of Orange county, N. Y., are holding in abeyance any further investigation into the death of Mrs. Rosa Szabo, an Austrian woman who was drowned in Greenwood lake, that county, while in company with Burton W. Gibson, a New York lawyer. At an inquest at the time of the death a verdict of accidental drowning was returned. W. C. DeGraw, a deputy sheriff from Orange county, came to New York yesterday and is cooperating with the Austro-Hungarian consulate which seeks to have Gibson removed from control of Mrs. Szabo's $10,000 estate. An affidavit from the consulate, together with other evidence, is now in the hands of District Attorney Whitman to take what action he may deem necessary.

One of the chief questions to be solved is whether or not Mrs. Petronella Menschnick, a mother of the victim and beneficiary under the will, is alive. Mr. Gibson contends that she is alive in this country and he has produced what purports to be a waiver of citation signed by her, placing him in control of her daughter's estate. In the affidavit submitted to the surrogate, the Austro-Hungarian consulate alleges that Mrs. Menschnick died in 1910, and that the surviving issue is a family. Detectives have traced to Brooklyn a woman alleged to have so posed, and it was hoped to identify her today with the return of a notary public who took the woman's acknowledgment. Mr. Gibson says he can explain everything satisfactorily and answer all charges at the proper time.

VERMONT SEES HOPE.

Democrats Will Win in Green Mountain State, He Says.

New York, Sept. 7.—Felix McGettrick, a candidate for governor of Vermont in 1902, who is said to know a great deal about Vermont politics, has some interesting comment to make on the recent election in that state.

"I was seized when the first returns came in," said Mr. McGettrick at the Imperial hotel yesterday, "because the results seemed to indicate that Roosevelt had drawn heavily from the Democratic ranks, but as it turned out it ever had been, which shows that the party vote had increased nearly a third. On the other hand the Republican vote was split, as I predicted it would be, and fell from 40,000 to 26,000 on the straight ticket."

"Roosevelt is drawing from his own party, not from the Democratic ranks. It is my opinion that when they see Taft's election is an impossibility many Vermont Republicans will flip to Wilson in order to crush Roosevelt under as big an avalanche as possible for being a traitor to his party. The state election in Vermont preceding the presidential election has always been a faithful index of what was to come in the national election."

TAFT LAWYERS TO APPEAL.

Federal Judge Denies Injunction Against Kansas Roosevelt Electors.

Topeka, Kas., Sept. 7.—Federal Judge Sanborn yesterday denied application for an injunction to keep the Kansas Roosevelt electors of the Republican state ticket. Judge Sanborn denied the injunction in a written decision received by the clerk of the United States circuit court here last in the day.

The case was brought three weeks ago. The Taft followers had obtained a temporary restraining order on behalf of men who had signed the petitions of the eight Taft electors, defeated in the recent primary.

Judge Sanborn, however, rules that "under a decision of the supreme court the threatened wrongful deprivation of a citizen of his rights to vote under the constitution of the United States by election officials or others, presents a cause of action in equity for an injunction to prevent it. The remedy is at law and not by an injunction in equity." The Taft attorneys announced that the case would be appealed.

LYNCHED MOB WROG MAN.

A West Virginia Mob Made an Error in Judgment.

Princeton, W. Va., Sept. 7.—That a mistake was made in choice of victims in the lynching Thursday night of Walter Johnson, negro, following the assault on 14-year-old Nina White is the belief now held by the authorities here. Governor Glasscock has ordered an investigation into the lynching and in his letter to Prosecuting Attorney J. O. Penderleton, directing it, wired: "He who lives by the sword, dies by the sword."

Travers defeated Kerr seven up and five to play. GAS STREET LIGHTING.

Arrangements Made For Demonstration on No. Main Street To-night.

The People's Lighting, Heating and Power company has completed the arrangements for a demonstration of gas street lighting. Workmen were engaged yesterday erecting three lighting posts on North Main street between Central and Cottage streets, two of which will be dispensing illumination when the first shadows commence to fall on the city this evening. This demonstration was requested by the board of alderman at the last meeting.

One of the posts has been installed at the corner of Central and North Main streets and another at the entrance of Bolster place. The third light is to be located at the corner of Cottage street. These lights are furnished by the Welch company, the largest street gas lighting company in the world. The posts and lamp stands about ten feet high and are moulded in an ornamental fashion, being of the style of lighting posts used on the boulevards in the large cities. The two lights that will be glowing to-night are 60-candle power. The lights will be burned all during the night and the demonstration will extend for a period of about two weeks.

QUARTERS REMODELED.

Joseph Merlo's Amusement Place is Larger and Better.

The doors of Joseph Merlo's new billiard and pool establishment were thrown open to the public this morning. Increased proportion of his business also compelled him to remove his cigar stand and confectionery stock from 311 to 309 North Main street. The billiard and pool parlors, which are situated in the new addition at the rear of the Merlo building, can be compared favorably with the best in the state.

The room has been finished in a Venetian design. The floor is of the best oak and waxed. Along the sides of the parlors are four mission-finished benches upholstered with leather cushions. There are three pool tables and one billiard table installed, which are of the J. E. Kane make.

At the upper end of the parlors a large shoe shining apparatus has been placed, accommodating five persons. The billiard rooms are to be in charge of Edward Milne and Archie McDonald. Mr. Merlo has transferred his elaborate soda fountain to the new store space and also has lines of stationery.

WERE AGAIN MARRIED

Because Feared Moki Indian Rites Not Sufficient.

Los Angeles, Sept. 7.—Doubting the sufficiency of a Moki Indian wedding ceremony in the eyes of their relatives, Roman Hubbell, son of the Republican state chairman of Arizona, and Miss Alma Juliette Dorr, daughter of a New York and Washington capitalist, hastened into Pasadena yesterday to be remarried by a Catholic priest before the announced nuptials. They are said to be the first white couple ever wedded under Moki rites.

Miss Dorr was visiting the Hubbell ranch at Ganado, Ariz., to witness the annual Moki dance. An aged chief, learning of her engagement to young Hubbell, suggested a Moki wedding. Hubbell rode 60 miles to procure enough corn meal to make the necessary wedding cake. When the pair had partaken of it, the chief declared them man and wife.

August of 1912 is believed to be the biggest month in the history of Burlington city court as regards the number of cases of intoxication tried. Sixty-five victims were arraigned on the stand and convicted. Of these only 18 had ever been in the court before, the remainder being first offenders, of whom more than two-thirds were from out of town. The other court business done during the month was small and consisted of one non-support case, three for open and gross lewdness, seven for breach of the peace, one for keeping liquor on hand to sell and one for intent to commit larceny.
