It so happened that one runner of the pung which rode easily at the horse's heels caught in the car track at the moment of the turn and before the sheriff could restore the little craft to equilibrium, he had been dumped unceremoniously into a neighboring snow bank. With the pung upside down, the horse continued to sprint a good eighth-mile before being stopped. The driver sustained a ruffled temper and the temporary loss of one buffalo robe, which was later picked up in the street. Two slats in the pung seat were ripped off in the shuffle and other portions of the outfit were dispossessed of red paint.

Arturo Giovannitti, the publisher of the Italian Socialist federation paper, "Il Proletario," and one of the respondents acquitted at Salem a few months ago, has been secured for the speaker of the evening at the annual masquerade ball to be held in the Socialist hall Saturday evening, Feb. 1, under the auspices of the Italian local, No. 2. Giovannitti, who is one of the foremost platform speakers of the Socialist federation, will make a tour of the state of Vermont, speaking in towns and cities where the Italian population warrant such speeches.

Royalton Cosby, a junior at Goddard seminary, will probably not appear again this season in the line-up of the seminary's hockey team owing to a broken wrist received from a spill over the pen fence of the rink during the game with Norwich university yesterday. The spill came during the latter part of the first half, but Cosby completed the period. He did not resume play in the last half. Last night he consulted a local physician, who determined that the left wrist was broken. The loss of Cosby, who was considered one of the fastest players on the hockey team, will be keenly felt by Goddard. Cosby comes from Derby Line.

Mrs. John Park of 39 Warren street is confined to the house with a badly sprained left ankle and an injured knee-cap, which she sustained in a fall at her home Tuesday afternoon. In descending the hall stairs preparatory to leaving home for a visit with the neighbors, Mrs. Park lost her balance in some way and fell half the length of the stairway. Other members of the household heard her calls for help and went to her assistance. A physician afterwards found one ankle to have been affected as well as the knee-cap. From its peculiar nature, the sprain will be extremely slow in healing and the injured woman will be confined to the house for several weeks.

Deputy Sheriff A. M. Morrison figured in a peculiar mishap this morning that included a rolling in the snow such as he had not experienced since his school days. The sheriff was driving his road horse, "Bohny," down North Main street when he suddenly essayed a turn at the Cottage street corner. It so happened that one runner of the pung which rode easily at the horse's heels caught in the car track at the moment of the turn and before the sheriff could restore the little craft to equilibrium, he had been dumped unceremoniously into a neighboring snow bank. With the pung upside down, the horse continued to sprint a good eighth-mile before being stopped. The driver sustained a ruffled temper and the temporary loss of one buffalo robe, which was later picked up in the street. Two slats in the pung seat were ripped off in the shuffle and other portions of the outfit were dispossessed of red paint.
