GREAT CROWD AT

WOOD TRIAL OPENING

President of American Woolen Company Put on Trial on the Charge of Conspiring to Plant Dynamite at Lawrence, Mass.

Boston, May 19.—William M. Wood, president of the American Woolen Company and a textile manufacturer of international reputation, Frederick E. Atteaux and Dennis Collins were placed on trial in the superior court before Judge John C. Crosby to-day, charged with conspiring to plant dynamite at Lawrence during the textile strike there in January, 1912. Atteaux is a dealer in chemicals and is a friend of Wood, while Collins is a dog fancier of Cambridge.

It is charged that the three men conspired with John J. Breen, a Lawrence undertaker, and Ernest R. Pittman, an Andover builder, to place dynamite in a house occupied by striking textile operatives for the purpose of prejudicing public opinion and making it appear that the strikers had possession of explosives intended for use in damaging mill property.

The police discovered the dynamite and arrested several strikers, who subsequently were discharged. Later Breen was arrested, convicted and fined $500. Pittman committed suicide the day that the Suffolk county grand jury commenced an investigation of the alleged conspiracy.

Admission to the court room to-day was limited to ticket-holders because of the great crowd.

The Terrors of the "Company" Idea.

In the June Woman's Home Companion, a contributor writes about the terrors of the "company" idea—showing the absurd and unnecessary preparations that most people make when they invite someone in for a meal. Following is an extract:

"We repeat in a less exaggerated way the history of the good New England housewife who always preceded the asking of anybody to tea by cleaning the house from garret to cellar. It is this 'company' idea that has often kept our young people from having their friends in with the frequency and informality that they would have desired. It is this 'company' idea that has kept many a good-tempered young husband from bringing his friends home with him; he has simply found that it is an impossibility, the whole household being so perturbed at an extra guest and the supplying of extra and unnecessary dishes at the last moment."

Tempted.

"I thought you had planned to spend a day working in the garden."
"I did. But I started to dig and the worms were so plentiful that I changed my mind and decided to go fishing."

The Shamrock A. C. baseball team, minus several of its regular players, was visited with defeat at Waterbury Saturday afternoon by a score of 7 to 3. The local players were very much dissatisfied with the decisions of the Waterbury umpire. The game was replete with spectacular catches and good hitting. Carroll, the big basketball player, essayed the role of pitcher and lasted about half the game, being succeeded by Tomass. Carroll pitched creditable ball while in the game, retiring with the score of 3 to 1 against him. Tomass was accorded wretched support, which was accountable for most of the Waterbury club's runs. Hayes, a former Montpelier seminary and Goddard pitcher, was on the slab for the winners and held the Shamrock team well in control.

A spectacular running catch by McAuley in left field for the losers featured the selling. Brown and Gordon were the prominent factors in hitting for the Barre team. Brown hit for a three bagger and a single, which scored two of the Barre team's runs. Gordon's two ply hit sent in the other runner. A return game will be played in this city.
