The incognito of the fair maiden who has been so generously inviting everybody to "Follow me to Flowerland" is discovered, and she is found to be the advance courier of Canton Vinton, No. 9, P. M., I. O. O. F., which is taking this rather pleasing method of announcing their forthcoming bazaar, Flowerland. And they furthermore promise that it will be a veritable flowerland in appearance, as well as in name; the faintest conception ever worked out for a fair, and as interesting as it will be beautiful. Flowers everywhere, each booth a bower of them, excepting the one representing winter, and that one all snow and ice. It will be something absolutely new and surprising, and well worth a visit.

All members of local 481, Carpenters and Joiners of America, are requested to be present at a special meeting Monday evening, June 2, at 7:30 o'clock for the purpose of revising the by-laws. Per order, rec. sec.

Flowerland is the pretty title of Canton Vinton's bazaar, which opens at music hall, Miles block, on Monday evening, June 9, and is something new and unique—a radical departure from the common fair, and filled with interesting and surprising features. Its name indicates its nature, but in the getting up of the various booths, methods have been employed never used before in such work, with results that are really striking. Each of the booths around the hall will represent a flower, one the wisteria, a second the sunflower, another the rose, and so on, while the center-piece will be a most elaborate and beautiful structure, typical of the four seasons. Its beauty of form and color heightened by brilliant electric decorations, decorations not of the usual temporary style seen at fairs, but part of the structure itself. People who think they have seen everything in the way of fairs, and who have tired of their sameness, will find something here decidedly new and pleasing.
