

Must Believe It

When Well-Known Barre People Tell It So Plainly.

When public endorsement is made by a representative citizen of Barre the proof is positive. You must believe it. Read this testimony. Every sufferer of kidney backache, every man, woman or child with kidney trouble will do well to read the following:

George W. Lander, 92 North Main St., Barre, Vt., says: "About ten years ago I used a box of Doan's Kidney Pills. I had frequently seen them recommended in the local papers by citizens of Barre, but had no occasion to use any until my back began to bother me. I got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills and they acted as a tonic to my kidneys. I have never needed them since, consequently I can recommend them as a reliable kidney remedy."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

"GETS-IT" for Corns, and Away They Go!

"GETS-IT," the New-Plan Corn Cure, Gets Any Corn Surely, Quickly. You'll say, "It does beat all how quick 'GETS-IT' got rid of that corn. It's almost magic!" "GETS-IT" cures every corn, every time, as sure as the sun rises. It takes about two seconds to apply it. Corn pains stop, you forget the corn, the corn shrivels up, and it's gone! Ever try anything like that? You never did. There's no more fussing with plaster that presses on the corn, no more salves that take off the surrounding flesh, no more bandages. No more knives, files or razors that make corns grow and cause danger of blood poisoning. "GETS-IT" is equally harmless to healthy or irritated flesh. It "gets" every corn, wart, callous and bunions you've got.

"Never Could Do This Before. 'GETS-IT' Made Every Corn Vanish Like Magic."

"GETS-IT" is sold at all druggists' at 25 cents a bottle, or sent on receipt of price by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago. Sold in Barre by C. H. Kendrick & Co. and E. A. Drown.

SARAH CARTER'S NOSE By M. QUAD Copyright, 1913, by Associated Literary Press.

John Carter, the village cooper, was not handsome enough to be mistaken for the hero of a dime novel, and neither was he so plain faced that the children were afraid of him.

When Lucinda Carter was born and the neighbors called to see the kid and guess at her weight there was a jolt all along the line. They were prepared to see an ordinary baby girl without claws or teeth as yet. They had their comments all ready, but they were not uttered. A gasp of surprise took the place of words.

Little Lucinda Carter had a face on her, to be sure, but it was mostly composed of nose. It began half an inch higher than any other nose. It had the Roman hump to it. It humped up and then bumped down and then took on length until it far overhung her mouth. It was a bad malformation. The father and mother felt bad about it.

The town of Charlotte had been noted for its mineral spring and its picturesque location. It now became noted for its "kid with a nose." Scores of strangers had seen Lucinda before she was a year old, and later on came the dime museum man and other exhibitors of freaks. All were turned away. It was when she was about sixteen years old that her nose made its first appearance in a court of law.

Lucinda was making a short railway journey with her mother, and while waiting at a station an express train passed them at a sixty mile clip. A bolt had worked loose, and it came whizzing through the air and the window and struck the girl in the face and smashed her nose.

The railroad company took shelter behind the plea that it was an act of God and that the girl really looked better without a nose. Her father sued for $10,000 damages and was awarded half the amount.

Two years later the girl started by stage for a village ten miles away. She was without escort, but there were five other passengers. At a certain point the driver got down to pick up a whip lost by some farmer, and as his back was turned for the moment his horse bolted. After they had run for a quarter of a mile the stage was upset. Nobody was hurt except Miss Lucinda, and, of course, she got it in the nose. Smashed flat again. The stage company offered $200 in settlement, but at the end of a lawsuit had to pay $2,000.

It was supposed that the nose was gone this time for sure, but a surgeon from the city who had come to drink mineral water made an examination and held out hopes. It cost money, but he built up a third nose for her.

For two years that nose had a rest, and the townspeople had ceased to wonder what would be the next move, when the dry goods firm of Cline & Bro. got a new sign. It was green and gold and certainly some sign. It came 6 o'clock before the carpenters had made the sign quite secure, but of course, they quit on the minute. Next morning it was raining and blowing, and the idea was to wait for better weather.

About 9 o'clock Miss Lucinda Carter discovered that she was in need of a spool of black thread No. 60. She therefore pinned on her hat, opened her umbrella and tripped down to Cline & Bro.

"Bad morning," said the clerk. "Yes, it is." "Notice our new sign?" "No." "It's a jim dandy, believe me. Look at it as you go out. Nothing else? Good morning."

W-b-w! came a gust of wind as Miss Lucinda stepped out on the platform. R-p-p, c-r-a-s-h! came the green and gold sign.

The dandy sign was broken and splintered and the girl knoeked unconscious—hit square on that nose, of course, and the clerk most faintly away at sight of it.

"That must be the finish of her nose," said all who saw its condition, and when the doctor who was called was asked about it he replied: "If she ever gets another nose it will be a wax one."

There was a lawsuit for $5,000 damages, and strangers came from a distance of fifty miles to see that nose or the remains of it. The judge was an honest judge. He ruled—That she had a right to believe the sign was secure.

That she did not cause the sudden gust of wind that tore it loose. That it wasn't a fair shake for a couple of carpenters in a hurry to get home to lay accidents to God. That even if the plaintiff's nose had been smashed three or four times before it still remained the only nose she had.

The plaintiff was awarded $2,000 damages, and the surgeon who had fixed her nose last came back after some more mineral water and to say to her: "I think there's just enough left to make a new one, but this will be the end. You'll have to begin on your ears and give your nose a rest."

They said that the new nasal organ created was the best one of all, and Miss Lucinda hadn't been wearing it but a few months when along came a windmill man who said: "Say, that nose suits me down to the ground! I'm looking for a wife with just that kind!"

Easily Explained. Elder—if you believe that everything that takes place is foreordained why did you wallop the man you caught stealing your wood? Deacon—Because I couldn't help it. I felt that it was foreordained that I should wallop him.—Boston Transcript.
