LENOX OIL

makes a brighter light, lasts longer, and does away with smoky chimneys. What is worse than poor kerosene oil in your lamps, lantern or oil heaters?

It costs one cent a gallon more than the common oil and is worth it.

Try some and see and you'll use no other.

Special price by the barrel, 10c a gallon.

GAS-O LAMP WICKS

The most useful invention of the last decade. Invented by Geo. A. Horn of Newark, N. Y. The Gas-O Lamp Wick gives the most perfect light from common coal oil. It produces a clear flame that will not smoke, does not char nor waste the wick, and will burn for months without necessitating any trimming.

The upper end of the wick is covered with a metallic protector, which is packed with asbestos. In lighting the wick it immediately generates the gas from the oil, and gives a perfect gas jet flame. Burns one-third less oil. Never burns the wick, as it burns the gas generated from the oil through the asbestos. Does not grease or corrode the burner. Does not smoke the globes. No danger of explosion. Much more convenient than the old-fashioned wick. Anyone burning coal oil and preferring a good light cannot afford to be without this wick, as the price is within the reach of all.
